

MONTESANO BECOMES NORMAL AFTER TRIAL

Acquitted Pair Accused of Killing McElfresh.

VERDICT IS CONDEMNED

Charges in Second Trial to Be Pressed, Declares Prosecutor in Discussing Plans.

BY BEN HUR LAMPFMAN.

MONTESANO, Wash., March 15.—(Special).—Back to normal, with her hundreds of transient guests scattered to their distant homes, is the county seat of Grays Harbor county—where the trial of the Centralia Armistice day murder case came to a close Saturday night.

And yet, not exactly normal—for the prison wherein the seven convicted L. W. W.'s were held is still under heavy guard. Elmer Smith, Centralia attorney, and Mike Sheahan, the two radicals who were acquitted and who were immediately re-arrested for the murder of Arthur McElfresh, one of the four Centralia victims, are now in the Lewis county jail at Chehalis, awaiting arraignment on the new charge.

Prosecuting Attorney Herman Allen was busied yesterday at the cases in court at Chehalis and the date of the arraignment of the two radicals has not yet been announced. State counsel is positive in his assertion that the charge will be pressed, not alone against these two, but against the "wobblers" who are now under conviction for the murder of Grim.

Dissatisfaction Is General. Conviction of these seven in the second degree has raised such a widespread dissatisfaction that it is almost certain that public protest will hasten and impel the trial of all ten defendants on the McElfresh charge.

Frank R. Van Gilder, Centralia legislator, and Warren O. Grimm when Grimm received his death wound, together with Carl Henpe and other Centralia ex-service men, went to Chehalis late today to confer with the county commissioners of Lewis county relative to the expense of a new trial.

Prosecuting Attorney Herman Allen is insistent that the McElfresh charge be pressed, declaring the conviction of second degree murder to be utterly inadequate to meet the enormity of the Armistice day crime, the evidence of the law.

"I am ready to take up the work again," was the positive assertion of W. H. Abel, special prosecutor, of Montesano.

Prosecutor Ready for Trial.

Try them for the murder of McElfresh, repeated O. D. Cunningham, special prosecutor of Centralia. "You may be certain they will be tried Centralia will insist upon it. And back of Centralia stands the good citizenry of Washington and of the country at large. These men shall not escape a just punishment."

The names of the three jurors who are said to have held the jury six hours for acquittal, later winning a compromise and conviction in the second degree for seven, acquittal for two, and an insane return for one, are currently rumored in Grays Harbor county.

WEDDINGS BY SHIP CAPTAIN HELD ILLEGAL.

Ceremonies Performed Off Yaquina Bay Now Questioned.

LOS ANGELES, Cal., March 15.—

(Special).—The plight of Mrs. Louise L. Anderson, wife of Matthew C. Anderson, a San Pedro merchant, who was wedded illegally five years ago, may be duplicated many times in Oregon.

Mrs. Anderson was married on the high seas by Captain Bell of the launch Nellie, between Long Beach and Catalina Island, in September, 1914. Such marriages are declared to be illegal. Divorces are therefore unnecessary, annulments being all that are required.

This brings up similar marriage ceremonies performed by Captain L. Carner on the launch Olla S., beyond the three-mile limit off Newport, Or., in 1915. The marriages were entered into in good faith by the parties concerned and performed as such by Captain Carner, the most successful bar navigator who ever operated out of Yaquina bay.

One couple who hailed from Eugene, Or., where the prospective bridegroom was a hotel man and the bride a chambermaid, were in Waldport on Alsea bay for about six weeks before they were able to get across the bar to have the ceremony performed. The bridegroom had been divorced a short time before.

Another case was that of Cressy Warnock Hughes, a Toledo belle, who had received a divorce from her husband, Allen Hughes, of Astoria, and who wished to marry a Toledo dentist before six months had passed, to accompany her husband to China. After waiting unsuccessfully several days, both proceeded to China and were married at the American consulate in Shanghai. Other couples finding weather conditions more clement, were married by Captain Carner, the bridegroom on one occasion sailing in Shanghai. ### BOISE GETS HEARINGS

Great Lakes to Tidewater Project to Be Discussed.

BOISE, Idaho, March 15.—(Special).—Public hearings by the international joint commission of the United States and Canada on the Great Lakes to Tidewater project will be held in Boise May 2 and 9. Governor Davis and the Boise chamber of commerce received word today that their requests for the hearings had been granted.

Drudging operations, of which the Welland canal works is one link, are projected to link the Great Lakes with the Atlantic through the St. Lawrence river, so that trans-Atlantic freight may be put on shipboard at Duluth, Chicago and other lake ports on an equal footing with ports on the Atlantic seaboard. All the northern western states are vitally interested in the project because it will lessen freight rates to the seaboard materially. New England states hotly oppose it.

BOISE LUMBER IS HIGH

Centers of Industry Said to Pay More Than Distant Towns.

BOISE, Idaho, March 15.—(Special).—Although Boise and Emmett are the centers of the lumber manufacturing business in the southwestern part of the state they pay more for their lumber than other places. This is the charge made by Miles Cannon, commissioner of agriculture, who has issued a statement attacking the lumber interests on the ground that they are making unreasonable and unfair charges for their mill products. He asserts that the price of common dimension lumber in Boise and Emmett is from $10 to $12 a hundred feet and although the freight must be added the same lumber is being laid down by the same manufacturing companies at Weiser for $45 a thousand; Gooding, $44; Pocatello, Blackfoot and Idaho Falls, $41 to $42.

Marshfield's Hopes Dashed.

MARSHFIELD, Or., March 15.—(Special).—Southern Pacific officials who recently covered this district in an inspection tour, declared there is no probability of any move toward constructing a depot for Marshfield within six months. It was stated the disposition among all railroad administrations for the present will be to avoid extras so far as possible. Marshfield's depot is a small downtown affair, with but one room, and there has been a general feeling that a structure suitable for the big business the city furnishes the railroad company.

FLOUR PROFITEERING IN IDAHO CHARGED

Agriculture Commissioner Asks Grand Jury Probe.

MILLERS ARE ACCUSED

Earnings of 12 Per Cent on Investment for Four Years Despite War Demands Is Alleged.

BOISE, Idaho, March 15.—(Special).

Miles G. Cannon, state commissioner of agriculture, today issued a statement declaring for a grand jury investigation of flour mill operators in Idaho. He asserted they were profiteering.

He said: "Before the government interfered with prices, flour sold in 1917 with an average profit of 25 cents a barrel of flour, but after the fixing of the price of wheat and a maximum profit of 25 cents a barrel, the millers have contrived to make an actual profit in the state of Idaho in many cases reaching the unprecedented amount of $2.64."

"Information collected by the commission shows that for the four years, ending June 30, 1916, a profit of 13 1/2 cents on each barrel of flour and 12 per cent on the capital invested was earned by the flour millers in spite of the fact that the war demand in 1916 and 1917 would lead one to expect them to show at abnormal high profit."

"During the year 1917, these same mills made an average of 52 cents on every barrel of flour sold and nearly 25 per cent on their investment profits that are indefensible, considering that an average of the profit of 1 mill for six months of the year shows as high as $2 a barrel."

"Not satisfied with the abnormal profits of 1917, these patriotic millers have contrived to increase their profits for the years 1918 and 1919 to such an extent that this department is of the opinion that there is a great work for a grand jury in the state of Idaho."

GIRL, 3, ACCUSES COOK

Child's Revelations Result in Charges Against Men.

G. L. Parsons, aged 30, a cook, last night was in the city jail facing a serious criminal charge involving a 3-year-old girl, and Deputy District Attorney Deich issued a warrant for Wilbur Fied, a married man, on a similar charge, as a result of revelations made to the women's protective division of the police department by little Edith Fied.

The girl, whose mother is dead and who lives at a downtown hotel with her father, is alleged to have been lured to a room in another hotel at Fifth and Washington streets yesterday by Parsons. Attaches of the hotel, sensing something was wrong, telephoned for the police and Miss Moorad responded and arrested Parsons, who had the girl in his room at this hotel.

Mr. Deich said the matter would be thoroughly investigated and the charges against both Parsons and the girl's brother probably would be laid before the county grand jury.

TEACHERS AIR GRIEVANCES

Bridge Party Projected.

THE DALLES, Or., March 15.—(Special).—A mammoth benefit bridge party to recruit funds with which to assist with the patriotic work of the organization will be staged by The Dalles chapter of the Daughters of the American Revolution in Hotel Dalles Wednesday afternoon. The party will be in the nature of a St. Patrick's day celebration and the profits therefrom will be used by the Daughters to carry on their patriotic work in this city and county. There will be 24 tables.

Mount Angel Gains Population. MOUNT ANGEL, Or., March 15.—(Special).—The population of the city of Mount Angel is 837, a gain of 292 since last official census, which is a little better than 53 per cent gain. Not so bad for a steady non-booming marketing point and home city.
