

WILLIAM GALLOWAY, OREGON JUDGE, DIES

Pioneer of 1851 Succumbs on Visit to The Dalles.

DEATH NOT UNEXPECTED

Early Resident One of Best-Known Jurists in State—Other Public Offices Held.

Judge William Galloway, one of the best-known jurists of the state and a resident of Oregon for 63 years, died yesterday at The Dalles while visiting a son, Francis V. Galloway, district attorney of Wasco county. Mr. Galloway was 73 years of age.

Judge Galloway had been in failing health since the death of his wife a year ago, and his passing was not entirely unexpected. He had gone to The Dalles last Monday.

Born in Wisconsin in June, 1845, Judge Galloway came west across the plains by ox team with his father and mother at the age of 7 years. He was the youngest in a family of nine. The family settled in Yamhill county, where the father engaged in farming.

Yamhill School Taught. At the age of 16 Mr. Galloway was a bellboy for pack trains which blazed the rugged trails through Oregon, Idaho and Montana, taking supplies to the mining camps of the mountain districts.

He entered Willamette university at the age of 19 and was graduated with the class of 1868. Following his schooling he returned to Yamhill county, where he taught school for several years and engaged in farming with an older brother, Francis V. Galloway.

In 1874 he married Miss Emma Baker in Yamhill county, and in 1876 he was elected to the lower branch of the state legislature, serving for three consecutive sessions as a representative from Yamhill county.

He quit farming in 1885 and in 1890 was elected county judge of Yamhill county. He did not run for reelection, but was the democratic candidate for governor of Oregon in 1894, being defeated by William P. Lord, republican.

Land Receiver Office Held. In 1896 he was appointed receiver of the land office at Oregon City and served under the government until 1904, when he returned to Yamhill county.

In 1904 Judge Galloway was elected circuit judge of the old third judicial district and was re-elected in 1910. He retired from the bench in 1914 in public life after the completion of his second term as circuit judge.

During his early days in Yamhill county Judge Galloway owned several houses at McMinnville and was one of the largest grain operators in that section of the state at that time.

Following the death of his wife a year ago last January Judge Galloway went to Salem to live with his son, Charles V. Galloway, who was state tax commissioner until he resigned last October.

Judge Comes to Portland. When he moved to Portland, where he is now engaged in the banking business, Judge Galloway came here and had been living at his son's home until he went to The Dalles to visit his other son last week.

Judge Galloway is survived by three children, Charles V. Galloway, Portland; Miss Zilpha V. Galloway, a medical student at Portland; and Francis V. Galloway, district attorney of Wasco county. Charles V. Galloway left for The Dalles last night.

Although funeral arrangements have not been completed, it is probable that the body will be sent to McMinnville, where services will be held near the early family home of the pioneer jurist.

GOMPERS FAVORS LEGION

NO REASON WHY LABOR MEN SHOULD NOT JOIN.

Letter Sent in Reply to Question as to Federation's Attitude Toward Organization.

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind., March 16.—Personal endorsement of the American Legion by Samuel Gompers, president of the American Federation of Labor is contained in a letter from Mr. Gompers to P. H. Wilkin, secretary of the union labor council of Needles, Cal., according to an article printed recently in the Needles Nugget, a copy of which has been received here. The letter, it is stated, was written in answer to a question from Mr. Wilkin, as to the attitude of Mr. Gompers and the American Federation of Labor toward the legion.

Mr. Gompers' letter is quoted as follows: "The American Federation of Labor has not made any declaration regarding the American Legion, but speaking for myself I cannot see any reason why ex-service men, whether members of organized labor, or not, should not join the American Legion."

"When I was in New York city recently, Mr. Franklin D. Oiler, national commander of the American Legion, asked for a conference with me, which I, of course, readily granted, at which we discussed the general subject-matter of the legion. He very greatly appreciated that acts and declarations of a few men, members of the legion, should be accepted or credited with representing the American Legion and that for which it stands, any more than the organized labor movement should be held responsible for any overt act of any one of its members. His declaration to me during the conference as regards the attitude of the American Legion toward organized labor was practically the same as the statement which he gave to the press on January 7."

HOUSTON URGES THRIFT

CO-OPERATION OF BANKERS ASKED IN APPEAL

Whole-Hearted Support of Treasury Savings Movement Is Sought by Secretary.

WASHINGTON, March 16.—In a personal appeal sent to the heads of 50-000 financial institutions, Secretary Houston today sought the co-operation of the banks in the treasury savings movement. The prosperity and welfare of the nation, he said, was dependent on thrift, economy and saving. Bank officials were asked to give whole-hearted support to distribution of thrift and saving stamps and certificates as "an effective and patriotic service."

Secretary Houston said the movement was on a "firm and permanent basis."

"Aside from the fact that the proceeds from the sales of securities will assist in serving the cash requirements of the treasury," he continued, "the movement is of the very essence of fundamental economics, affording a tangible means of combating high prices and extravagance and the ills that follow in their train."

"Unconscious Conspiracy of 1918" Is Explanation of Charges of Election Fraud.

GRAND RAPIDS, Mich., March 16.—Only patriotic motives, according to arguments of the defense, impelled the 85 Newberry election conspiracy trial defendants to enter into what James O. Murfin, chief counsel, today told the jury was "the unconscious conspiracy of 1918."

Mr. Murfin said that "as a thought for overnight" he would let the jury ponder "whether a man can unconsciously become a party to a criminal conspiracy." Previously he had said: "I am here fighting for the vindication of Truman H. Newberry. If he were charged with spending or causing to be spent more money than the law allows, I would not waste my breath or your time. But he and the other men are charged not with that offense, but with being conspirators,

SURGEON STITCHES HEART

REMARKABLE OPERATION IS PROVEN SUCCESS.

X-Ray Plates Show Manner of Sewing Wound That Normally Would Cause Death.

PITTSBURGH, March 16.—(Special.)—The story of what is conceded to have been one of the most remarkable surgical operations on record was told in criminal court today by Dr. J. X. Berg, a staff surgeon of St. Johns hospital, in the trial of John Hoza, accused of attempting to kill Steve Belonik in a fight last April. Dr. Berg, called to the witness stand by the commonwealth, exhibited several X-ray plates which provided a startling record of Belonik's case. He testified that Belonik was suffering from a stab wound in the back which has cut the left ventricle of the heart.

"I opened the chest, removing several ribs, and after ascertaining that the heart was lacerated, sewed it up, placing six stitches in it," said the surgeon. "The man was in the hospital three months owing to infection that set in, but he was out of danger on April 21." The photos showing the heart and the sutured incision were studied by the jury. Hoza testified that he stabbed Belonik in self-defense.

TOWNLEY'S LEAGUE APPROACHES FINISH

North Dakota Visitor Says Non-Partisans Decaying.

STATE FINANCE DISRUPTED

Oregon Warned That Expert Organizers Are Actively Canvassing Rural Communities.

"Finis" will soon be written for the Non-partisan league in North Dakota and its four-year period of mismanagement and dreams will come to an end at the forthcoming primary election in June and the general election in December, in the belief of F. L. Irish, prominent banker of Fargo, a tireless worker in the fight against Townley and the Non-partisan league.

Mr. Irish, who was at the Benson hotel yesterday on a visit to Portland and other Pacific coast cities, expressed the belief that the voters of North Dakota have at last awakened to a realization of the damage wrought by the Non-partisan league, and are now ready to repudiate it and its leader by use of the ballot.

"They have brought shame and disgrace to our state," he said. "They have increased our taxes to a point where their easiest dupe—the farmer—can stand it no longer; they have tried to make their socialistic dreams come true by way of legislation which has done nothing but harm to the state. They have taken about enough rope to hang themselves, and their end is near."

Promises Not Fulfilled. Mr. Irish explained that the Non-partisan league is fast losing strength with the men who made it possible. Its leaders made many alluring promises to the farmers three and four years ago to gain their support, but these, he said, have all failed of fulfillment.

"I honestly believe that the sentiment in North Dakota at the present time is so strong against the league that a reunited republican party can sweep the state," he said. "The people generally have come to a realization that unless a new deal can be given, this organization may bankrupt the state. They have done their best in this respect, but through suits in the United States supreme court we have temporarily blocked some of their outrageous bond issues and other methods of putting the state in actual bondage."

In tracing the history of the Non-partisan movement, Mr. Irish said the growth and strength of the organization was due, in part, to the shortsighted policy of the legislature a few years ago.

"The farmers came down to the legislature and asked for an appropriation for a terminal elevator," he said. The legislature told them to go on back to the farm and mind the hogs and crops and they would take care of the state. Naturally, the farmer went back with his neck bowed, and was just ripe for the plucking when Townley came into the state and bought up all the Fords he could find for his organizers and soap-box orators. Townley's crowd told the farmers the only way they could expect to get anything was to organize and elect themselves to all the offices in the state. Then he proceeded to line up organized labor with the disgruntled farmers, and the ascendancy of the Non-partisan league was the result.

"But after getting into power, they went altogether too strong. It isn't the farmers so much as the long-haired agitators from outside who are responsible for the present sorry condition of affairs. These long-haired boys have been waxing fat with their big salaries and easy jobs, and the farmers, with their excessive taxes, have been helping to pay the bill.

Admission Fee Charged. "Townley charged each farmer $16 for membership in his league, and Berg, a staff surgeon of St. Johns hospital, in the trial of John Hoza, accused of attempting to kill Steve Belonik in a fight last April. Dr. Berg, called to the witness stand by the commonwealth, exhibited several X-ray plates which provided a startling record of Belonik's case. He testified that Belonik was suffering from a stab wound in the back which has cut the left ventricle of the heart.

"I opened the chest, removing several ribs, and after ascertaining that the heart was lacerated, sewed it up, placing six stitches in it," said the surgeon. "The man was in the hospital three months owing to infection that set in, but he was out of danger on April 21." The photos showing the heart and the sutured incision were studied by the jury. Hoza testified that he stabbed Belonik in self-defense.
