

COMMISSIONERS MIX OVER MACADAM BID

Muck Wins Argument That $4.10 Is Reasonable.

ST. JOHNS ROAD AFFECTED

County Official Accused by League of Working in Interest of Star Sand Company.

County Commissioners Muck and Holman engaged in a wordy clash at the courthouse yesterday when Holman sought to have the county board re-advertise bids for the macadamizing of the St. Johns river road on the ground that the only bid submitted, that of the Star Sand Company, was too high.

Charges and counter-charges were hurled by the two commissioners, but Commissioner Muck won his point when he showed that the bid of the Star Sand company was a reasonable one which would permit the work to be done cheaper than if the county undertook it by day labor.

Trouble started when Commissioner Holman moved that bids for macadamizing the St. Johns river road be re-advertised. This motion drew fire from Commissioner Muck who insisted that the bid of the Star Sand company was reasonable and should be awarded in order that work might proceed without further delay.

Holman earlier had presented estimates which he said he had procured from the office of Roadmaster Eatchel which purported to show the county could macadamize the road in question for $2.50 a cubic yard, as against a bid of $4.10 per cubic yard from the Star Sand company.

County Clerk, $453. Roadmaster Eatchel, however, was present with his estimate, which showed it would cost the county $4.53 a yard should the work be done by the county.

It was at this juncture that Commissioner Holman charged Mr. Muck with working in the interests of the contractor against the county.

"That is not so; I defy you to prove a word of it," retorted Commissioner Muck.

Representatives of Peninsula district industrial interests were present at the meeting and supported Commissioner Muck in his efforts to award the contract to the Star Sand company. E. L. Thompson, one of the delegation, took exception to charges which Commissioner Holman had made against Mr. Muck.

Delegation Recites Charge. "We are here for the same purpose as Mr. Muck, in that we want this road improved," he said, "and when you accuse him of working in the interests of the contractor, you are casting reflections against us."

Others who were present to urge immediate macadamizing of the road were F. C. Knapp, John B. Yeon, Charles Minsinger and others.

After the verbal battle had quieted down, it was voted to award the contract to the Star Sand company, Chairman Hoyt, voting with Commissioner Muck. The formal contract probably will be awarded at the next meeting.

It was further decided to re-open the Kelly Rutte rock pile in order to procure rock and gravel for county road purposes.

HILL STUDENTS ELECT

Lively Contest Staged for Seats in Academy Body.

The student council election at Hill Military academy caused considerable interest in the academy yesterday among the academy cadets. The "Hill" club, the athletic organization of the school, elected by ballot, a representative. The student body had a keen contest among its candidates, but Wilton Goodrich of Fresno, Cal., was the lucky winner and the faculty named Thomas Pollard of Red Lodge, Mont., as its representative. From the intermediate department "Tom" Forrest of Tacoma was elected. The council will have a voice in all matters affecting the student body.

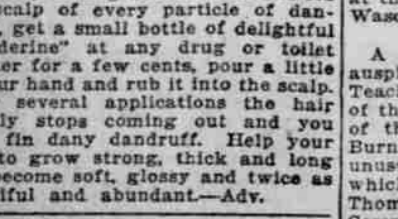

Captain George P. Clark of the recruiting office, will insure the quietest drill Friday afternoon at 2:15 o'clock. Three companies will compete.

VETERANS ARE HESITANT

Multnomah County Has Five Senators and 13 Representatives to Be Nominated in Primaries.

With 18 members of the legislature to elect from Multnomah county; with the primaries barely two months distant, and with the final time for becoming candidates scarcely a week away, to date but one candidate has been announced. Five state senators are to be nominated in the primaries and 13 representatives in the primaries for representative on the republican ticket.

From what can be gathered in political circles, the veterans of the legislature are each waiting for one of the others to start. Men who have never served are a bit timid about making the plunge, but within a couple of weeks the stampede to get into the primaries will be under way, and the last two or three days of grace will find an avalanche of candidates, if the present campaign is to be judged by the past.

Special Representation Customary. Here and there groups are planning to run a candidate of their own, someone familiar with their particular line of business, profession or ideas. The druggists want a representative and are talking of placing a cents druggist in the field. This matter of special representation has been customary in the past.

Members of the senate will be elected for four years, serving two regular sessions. With the exception of Senator John Gill and Senator W. W. Banks, who is a joint senator for Multnomah, the Multnomah delegation is swept clear. Some of the old members may become candidates, but none has reached the point of making a formal announcement. Half a dozen well-known citizens have been under discussion as prospective candidates for senator, but they have not felt the urge to start.

Senate Needs Strength Opinion. A feeling is rather general in the state that the senate needs strengthening, and veteran house members make the claim that the house has been the balance wheel and repository of conservatism in the past two sessions, while the senate has contained the disturbers and radicals. This sentiment is shared even by certain members of the senate.

Regarding the house, Herbert Gordon, John B. Coffey, K. K. Kubli and O. W. Hosford are expected to be candidates against the first three having several terms of experience back of them in the legislature, and Captain Hosford went through the last regular session as a candidate. None of these, however, will admit being certain that he will run. Both Mr. Coffey and Mr. Gordon have been urged to run for the senate. Neither has decided even on being a candidate. Mr. Kubli, while receiving suggestions that he go to the senate, frankly prefers the house and will head in that direction if he goes anywhere. Harvey Wells is anxious to go to the legislature and is wavering between the house and senate.

Hamilton Corbett is expected to announce himself for the senate within a few days and John H. Burgard will probably be in the senate primaries if he yields to the pressure being brought on him.

Usual Rush at Last Expected. If a number of substantial citizens, who have been waiting for some announcement themselves early this act would prevent an overplus of aspirants at the last minute. The cluttering of the ballot by candidates and legislative nominations in Multnomah is generally the result of the last few days of the filing period. Men hesitate about entering the lists, thinking others will run, and then, at the last, when the ticket looks short, they declare themselves, only to discover that a score of other citizens have been doing the same thing.

The first of a series of addresses designed to attract young voters to the principles of the republican party will be delivered at Saturday's luncheon of the Roosevelt republican club by Guy O. Corbett. The luncheon will be held at the Benson. Judge Corbett will choose for his topic "Party Principles and Policies" and will trace the history of the growth of the republican party.

Decision to bring facts bearing on the party more strongly to the attention of the voters has been reached after an investigation which indicates that many young men and women do not thoroughly understand what the various parties stand for and are also unacquainted with their histories and records.

of applications have been filed for such cannon with the war department, but no steps have yet been taken to bring any cannon to the United States from Germany.

Baker Company to Expand. BAKER, Or., March 17.—(Special.)—With the capitalization of the J. E. O'Bryant Grain company increased from $50,000 to $100,000, the large eastern Oregon corporation will double its business also, according to J. P. O'Bryant, who revealed the fact that the total business transacted last year was $775,000, an average of $24 a day, at the Baker office. More warehouses will be erected and an increased staff of experienced salesmen, as well as many other employees, will add to the Baker payroll.
