

ZONING ORDINANCE PASSED BY 3 VOTES

Measure to Be Referred to Fall Election.

LEGALITY IS QUESTIONED

Both Sides Score Partial Victory. Vote of Commissioner Pler, Big Surprise.

Both the opponents and proponents of the zoning plan embodied in the ordinance drafted by the city planning commission scored partial victories yesterday when the city council passed the ordinance with three votes, and agreed to the adoption of a resolution referring the measure to the voters at the November election for repeal or confirmation.

Under this plan the ordinance becomes effective April 15, 30 days following its passage. The resolution agreed to by the council will be introduced to the council next Wednesday by City Commissioner Barber.

On the final vote Mayor Baker and Commissioners Barber and Bigelow voted in favor of the ordinance. Commissioners Pler and Mann voted against it. No explanation accompanied the negative votes, although Commissioner Mann has long opposed passage of the ordinance by the council, favoring its submission for ratification to the people.

The vote of Commissioner Pler was the surprise of the session, he having previously announced that although favoring submission of the ordinance to the people, he would vote in its favor. His vote yesterday was cast against both the ordinance and a report submitted by the planning commission recommending the adoption of the ordinance to the people on repeal.

Opponents Urge Referendum. Opponents of the measure urged referring the ordinance to the people for ratification—a plan which was fought vigorously by the proponents who did not desire the measure to reach the people under any consideration.

Doubt as to the legality of the ordinance if not ratified by the people was expressed by C. H. Bristol, attorney, who opposed the passage of the ordinance by the council. This doubt, Mr. Bristol contended, was brought out when the city council obtained the passage of the ordinance by the state legislature some months after the city council had created the planning commission in Portland.

R. C. Lewis Makes Charge. Charges that false promises were made to members of the state legislature by proponents of the zoning act were made yesterday by R. C. Lewis, who spoke against the zoning ordinance. Mr. Lewis claimed that members of the legislature were assured that if the zoning act was passed the taxpayers would not be called upon to expend any money.

Mayor Baker took a fling at his colleagues who are opposed to the ordinance when he said that he took it for granted that all members of the council favored the ordinance, for they were not in favor of it.

CATTLE LIKE SUNFLOWERS

SILAGE AVERAGES HIGH IN FAT AND MILK PRODUCING.

Subject Receiving Careful Investigation by Progressive Farmers in Many Parts of State. The residents of central Oregon are much interested in the value of sunflower silage for stock feeding purposes. Progressive farmers have built test silos and filled them with the wild sunflowers that thrive where moisture is scarce, and lift their flaming blossoms to the sun when cultivated crops are high during years of slight rainfall. It has been found that the forage when cut at the proper season makes a desirable silage that is relished by the livestock and averages high in fat and milk producing qualities.

The state chamber of commerce has been receiving reports from different sections of the state and the matter is regarded as worthy of trial and careful investigation by stockmen. Great haste has been carried out by some of the county agents and by the plant experts of the agricultural college. Secretary George Quayle is giving the subject attention and believes that it has a great deal of merit.

George T. Baldwin, senator from the district comprising Klamath, Lake, Jefferson, Deschutes and Crook counties, calls attention of the state chamber to the results secured by farmers in Klamath and Deschutes counties. He cites the fact that hardy varieties of corn can be grown successfully throughout the central Oregon region and that the combination of corn and sunflower silage cannot be surpassed in feeding value for livestock.

Information has been received at the state chamber that southern and central Oregon had soaking rains and a welcome fall of snow March 12 and 13, breaking a long period of drought. The snowfall followed the rain and the moisture was all taken into the ground, as the snow melted slowly with very little runoff. There has been less than normal snowfall in the mountains and the addition that may be recorded during this month will aid materially the streams and lakes that are the sources of supply for many irrigation districts. Up to the present time the water supply in the Cascades was reported less than in previous winters through a long period of years.

SPEED MADE IN HEARING

SECOND TRIAL OF MILLER CASE NEARLY FINISHED. Alleged Murderer of R. C. Nelson in Portland November 23 Last, Claims Self-Defense.

Record-breaking speed was made by both state and defense yesterday in the trial of Thomas Miller, charged with murder as a result of the killing of R. C. Nelson in Miller's home at First and Hall streets, November 23, 1919.

When court adjourned last evening both the prosecution and defense had completed their cases and arguments to the jury will start at 2:30 o'clock this morning before Circuit Judge Stapleton, who is hearing the case. Miller was tried on the same indictment as the jury failed to reach an agreement at that time. The prosecution attempted to show that Nelson was vitally slain by Miller when he went to the defendant's home on the night of November 19, to rescue a sister-in-law, May Daly, chief witness for the prosecution.

Plans were mapped out for launching a drive to raise nearly $300,000 to cover budget needs at the Salvation Army convention held yesterday at the Portland hotel. Due to the plan to purchase the Bishop Scott school and farm in Yamhill county, the amount of the budget has been increased to approximately $284,000, which will give the city of Portland and Multnomah county a quota of approximately $12,000. This amount is to be raised from May 1 to 19, inclusive.

The Bishop Scott school and farm contain 100 acres of land and are located four miles northwest of Yamhill, Or. The buildings and land, which are now owned by the Episcopal diocese of Oregon, cost $63,421, including equipment. The school was used only one year, and as it never paid, the church has decided to sell the property complete for $30,000. John L. Etheridge is director-general of the home service programme for 1920, and the advisory board comprises Governor Olcott, honorary chairman; Mayor Baker, chairman; Judge George W. Stapleton, vice-chairman; Henry E. Reed, secretary, and A. L. Mills, treasurer.

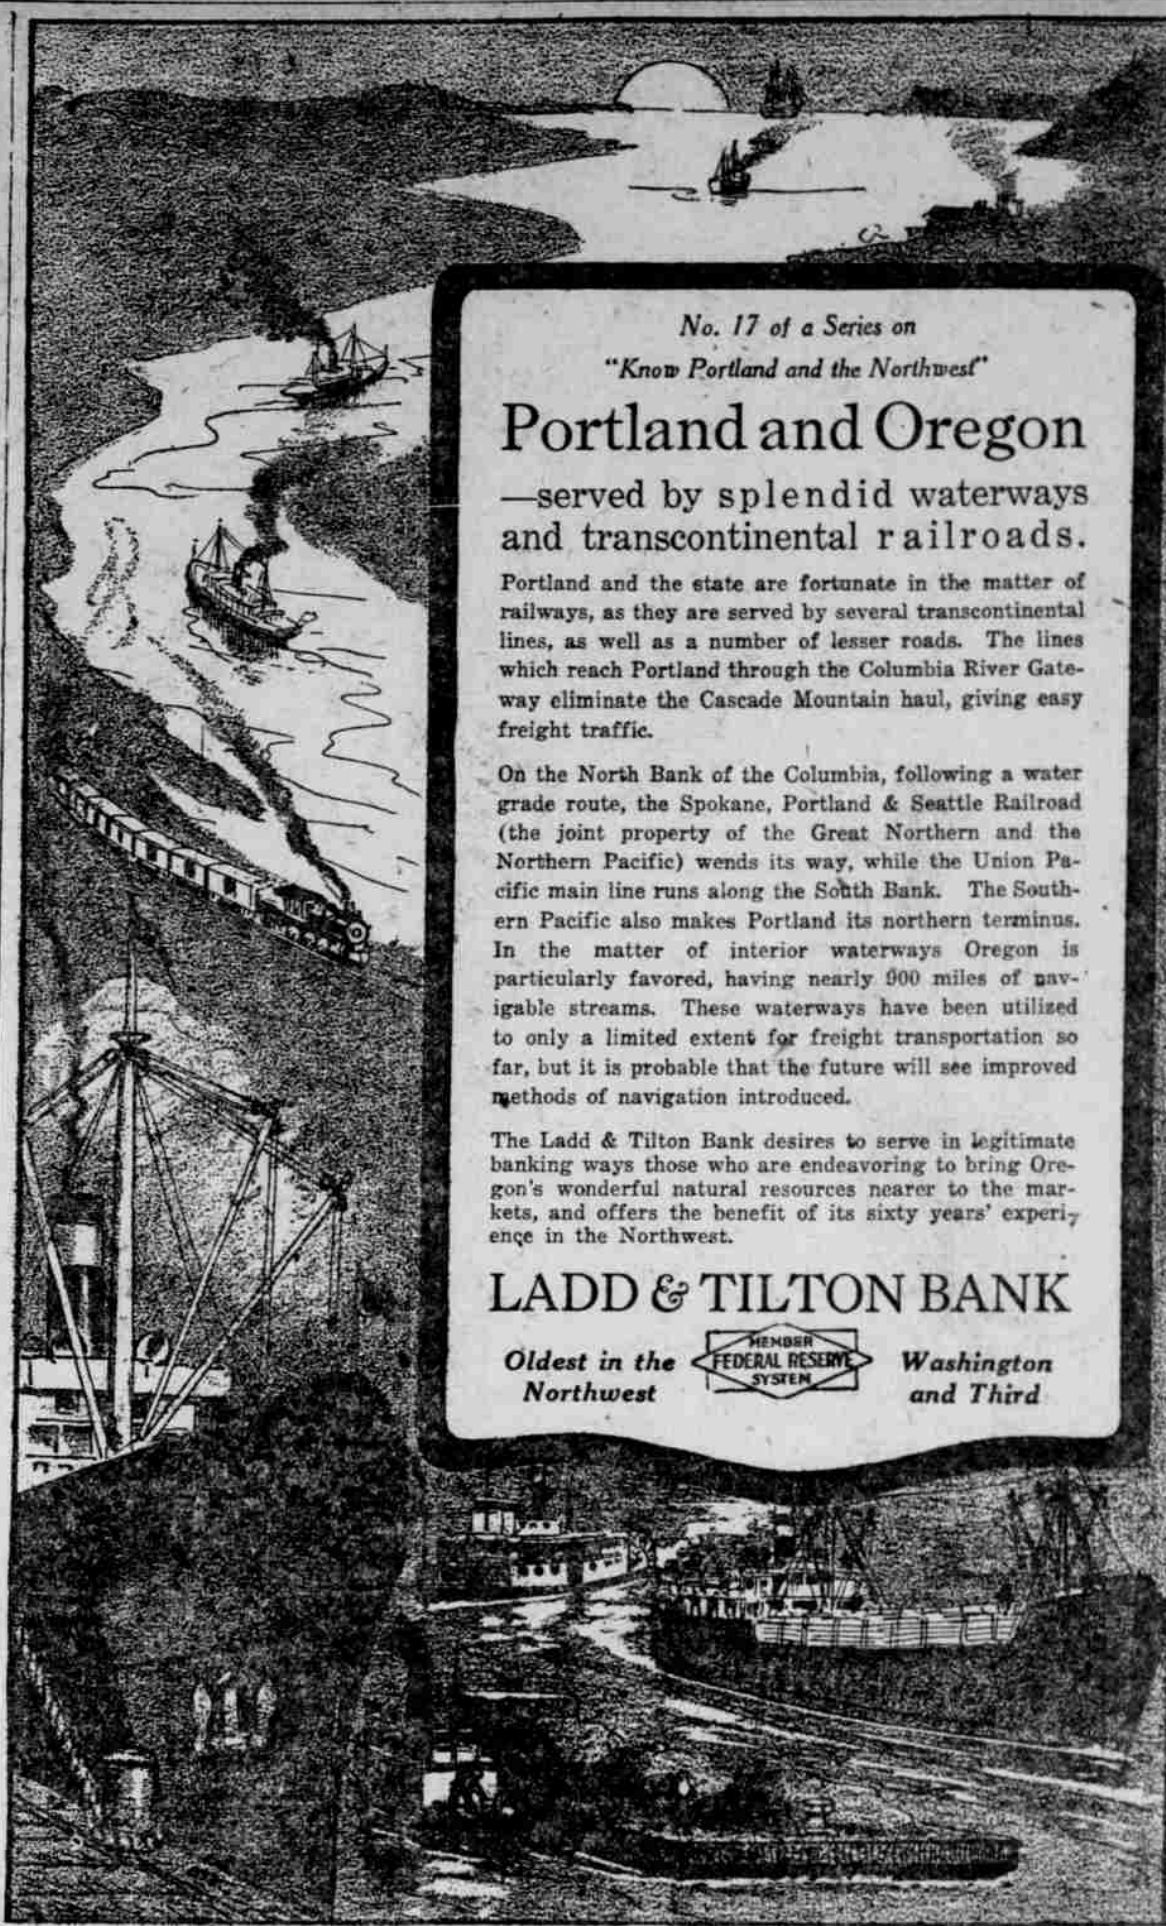

The speakers at yesterday's meetings included Mrs. A. E. Clement, state programme director; Charles T. Wheeler, field lecturer, and Judge Stapleton. The delegates, while here, are taking occasion to visit the White Shield home. Director-General Etheridge of the coming campaign has appointed Milton Klepper director of the bureau of speakers.

STRIKING STUDENTS WIN

CHEHALIS, WASH., DIRECTORS RESTORE ACTIVITIES. Children Directly Blamed for Frank Sign Apology and Trouble is Adjusted. TACOMA, March 17.—The 150 striking students of the high school at Chehalis this afternoon won their contention and will return to school tomorrow morning.

The school authorities, after a conference with the strikers and their parents, agreed that school activities, including athletics, publication of the school paper and giving a school play, should be resumed as before the strike.

The strike began Tuesday, when school activities were suspended because 18 students had engaged in a dance in the high school building following rehearsal for a play. CHEHALIS, Wash., March 17.—(Special.)—Last night at the Chehalis

No. 17 of a Series on "Know Portland and the Northwest" Portland and Oregon—served by splendid waterways and transcontinental railroads.

Portland and the state are fortunate in the matter of railroads, as they are served by several transcontinental lines, as well as a number of lesser roads. The lines which reach Portland through the Columbia River Gateway eliminate the Cascade Mountain haul, giving easy freight traffic.

On the North Bank of the Columbia, following a water grade route, the Spokane, Portland & Seattle Railroad (the joint property of the Great Northern and the Northern Pacific) wends its way, while the Union Pacific main line runs along the South Bank. The Southern Pacific also makes Portland its northern terminus.

In the matter of interior waterways Oregon is particularly favored, having nearly 900 miles of navigable streams. These waterways have been utilized to only a limited extent for freight transportation so far, but it is probable that the future will see improved methods of navigation introduced.

school, following a four-hour session of the school board, which was attended by an audience of patrons that two-thirds filled the room, a committee composed of Mrs. E. M. Power, Mrs. J. E. McCracken, Joseph DeLoach, Dr. G. W. Overmeyer and E. McBroome went into conference with the school board and agreed on a programme to cause the return of the striking students of the high school.

The committee with the board finally agreed on an apology to be signed by the 18 students directly blamed for the prank, which caused the action of the school board. It is stated the opera members have signed this statement. This morning there were about 50 students in attendance at the high school, the others being yet out with a meeting on at 10 o'clock to determine their policy. Included in the list of yesterday's strikers were children of each of the three members of the school board.

Rainy Days Brighten Up -says Bobby after I've had a dish or two of POST TOASTIES

Germ life cannot live with Disinfection. The day you start to practice regular disinfection will be the day that disease germs cease to menace your health and that of those around you. Proper disinfection is not a fad—it's just common sense and good business. If it is cheaper and more desirable to be healthy than sick, intelligent and continual disinfection is worth while. Disinfection, proper sanitation and cleanliness mean death to disease germs—and the end of epidemics. Lysol Disinfectant at the moment of application kills all germ life, or prevents its creation. At the office: Order Lysol Disinfectant used regularly in cuspidors, toilet-rooms, dark corners, on floors, rugs, and all surfaces. In the home: Have a solution of Lysol Disinfectant sprinkled regularly in sinks, drains, toilets, garbage cans. A 50c bottle makes five gallons of powerful disinfectant; a 25c bottle makes two gallons. Remember, there is but one genuine Lysol Disinfectant—made, bottled, signed, and sealed by Lehn & Fink, Inc. Lysol Toilet Soap 25c a Cake Lysol Shaving Cream in Tubes Contains the necessary proportion of the antiseptic ingredients of Lysol Disinfectant to kill germs on razor and shaving brush (where germs multiply) and to keep the skin free from infection and give an antiseptic shave. If your dealer hasn't it, ask him to order it for you.
