sabotage in accomplishing the revolution which was to establish the dictatorship of the proletariat. The party aimed chiefly to "educate the workers to their class interest," to make them "class conscious."

"Class consciousness," explained Hurst on cross-examination, was to put workers in a position where they understood "that under the present system they were selling their product for a mere wage."

"Antagonism" is disclaimed. The suggestive language contained in "antagonism" aroused the witness.

"What do you mean by 'mass action'?" "Action of a majority."

"Are you certain you are not thinking of what your comrades term 'dictatorship of the proletariat' in speaking of majority?" "The mass action is meant the action of the majority of the people, the masses."

"What kind of action is mass action?" "The kind of action depends on what it is acting on. It may mean political action by the majority of the people."

"Then what is your definition for the 'dictatorship of the proletariat'?" "Dictatorship" means management. "That means management in the interest of working people."

Officers of the local party were instructed by a resolution adopted at a regular business meeting to keep the records of members by numbers instead of names, said Hurst.

"We were afraid the members would lose their jobs," he explained. "Who would make them lose their jobs?" asked O'Brien.

"Those interested in driving us out of town." "Who were they?" "I said, who?"

"Well, the bosses seemed to use the workers for that," was the ambiguous and only reply.

On several occasions meetings of the branch had voted to refuse the request of I. W. W. organizers to scatter "wobbly" literature in the communist labor party hall, testified Hurst.

Actions Not Recorded. On cross-examination by District Attorney Evans Hurst could find no meeting minutes or records in the books of the party seized at its hall recording their action referred to in the decision as to secrecy in keeping of members' accounts nor the resolution barring I. W. W. propaganda from the hall.

Hurst was raised in Oregon and has a wife and eight children, the eldest 17. He has farmed considerably, but for the past two years has been in Portland in the building trade. He is a charter member of the Communist labor party in Oregon and was financial secretary and literary agent for the Portland branch when the raid occurred.

Fry, the third of the defendants to be placed on the witness stand, has sat through two weeks of the trial hearing little of what was going on but devouring literature avidly. He is very deaf and questions were put to him in tones approaching shouts.

He seldom attended meetings of the communist labor party because of his deafness but was a constant patron of the reading room maintained in headquarters at 131 1/2 Second street.

Because he had voted on his first papers, had served as color sergeant in the national guard of Minnesota, and had taken up a homestead, Fry considered he had performed all duties of citizenship and was a full-fledged citizen without the formality of final papers, he testified. He was a photographer and building electrician by trade, had been a member of the union labor party, had been an

CLATSOP PROPERTY SOLD

CHARLES S. HOWARD BECOMES OWNER OF HOLDINGS.

Several Thousand Dollars Will Be Spent Immediately Enlarging and Improving Plant.

ASTORIA, Or., March 17.—(Special).—Charles S. Howard of San Francisco, by acquiring the interest of Clem W. Rogers in the Clatsop County Lumber company's holdings, becomes the sole owner of the mill and yards consisting of 13 1/2 acres near the foot of Twenty-third street in this city as well as of approximately 1900 acres of timber in the Lewis and Clark river district.

The plant will continue under the superintendence of L. O. Waldo, with R. C. Phillips in charge of the office. The mill now cuts 30,000 feet of lumber a day and employs about 150 men, but improvements which are to be made in the immediate future will increase that capacity to approximately 120,000 feet daily.

In speaking today of the transfer of the property, C. A. McGee, Mr. Howard's personal representative, said: "While it is no generally known in Astoria, Mr. Howard has been financially interested in the Clatsop County Lumber company for some time."

COUNCIL NAMES TWO OF 3 FIRM CENSORS

Mrs. Alexander Thompson and C. S. Jensen Chosen.

TWO TO CHOOSE THIRD

Opposition Develops to Suggestion That C. M. Hill Be Selected Because He Quit Once.

Mrs. Alexander Thompson, representing the federation of women's clubs, and C. S. Jensen, president of Jensen & Von Herberg, motion picture house owners, yesterday were appointed by the city council motion picture censors. The third member of the board will be selected by the two.

Mrs. Thompson will serve on the board as the city's representative. She received the unanimous vote of the council. Under the terms of the ordinance the city council was required to select a member of the board.

The appointment of Mr. Jensen was opposed by Commissioner Bigelow, who favors C. M. Hill, a former member of the present board, who resigned following an argument with other members of the board over a film owned by the firm he represents in Portland.

"I have made a careful investigation," said Mr. Bigelow, "and I find that Mr. Hill is a splendid man, well qualified to serve on the board." "I don't like a man who quits," said Commissioner Barbur, "and I refuse to vote for Mr. Hill because he might become dissatisfied with his colleagues on the new board and quit. I favor Mr. Jensen for the appointment."

Mr. Jensen was nominated by Commissioner Pier and received the votes of all members of the council with the exception of Commissioner Bigelow.

Mayor Baker announced that he had plans to nominate Norman F. Coleman, president of the Loyal Legion of Loggers and Lumbermen, and president of the Social Betterment league, as the city's representative, but that this became impossible when the council gave its pledge to select a woman.

A letter from Mr. Coleman offering six names as possible nominees was read. Mr. Coleman suggested C. F. Johnson, J. J. Sayer, W. G. Elliot Jr., N. C. Phillips, Eugene E. M. Strong. This list will probably be referred to the two members of the new board.

The new ordinance will become operative as quickly as the third member of the board is selected.

FISH FIRM MAY BE PAID

Bill Provides Reimbursement for Van Vlack & Co., Olympia.

OREGONIAN NEWS BUREAU, Washington, March 17.—Representative Johnson introduced a bill Tuesday to compensate Van Vlack & Co. of Olympia, Wash., in the sum of $5000 for damages and losses suffered in the canning of a quantity of dogfish, renamed "grayfish," according to a formula furnished by the United States bureau of fisheries.

When the government was making a drive for greater food production the Pacific coast dogfish was suddenly declared to be a food product and the more palatable name of grayfish adopted. The Olympia concern answered the call of the government and put up a very large quantity of the fish with excellent results. The bureau of fisheries shouldered the blame and indorsed the claim for damages.

Flaming, Itching Skin Diseases

Cause untold suffering that could be avoided

It is now pretty generally conceded that a great majority of the suffering that the human family undergoes, comes through ignorance and hence could be avoided.

This sounds like a broad statement, and yet it is only too true. So many people are dragging through life the victim of some chronic ailment that is either misunderstood or mistreated, when intelligent, rational treatment would restore them to their normal healthy condition.

condition of your skin depends entirely upon the condition of your blood. Hence when you are afflicted with what is commonly called a skin disease, you may be sure that the real trouble is with your blood, and must be treated through the blood, if you expect real rational relief.

S. S. S. is the most satisfactory remedy for diseases of the skin because it is the most thorough blood remedy ever discovered. It searches out and removes all impurities from the blood.

Mr. Joe Katorkin, a leading furniture dealer of San Antonio, Tex., writes: "After six weeks of continued use of S. S. S., and bathing the affected parts as directed by you, I wish to advise that I am wholly relieved of the miserable disease which has afflicted me for more than 12 years. I can highly recommend S. S. S. to anyone, and I wish to thank you for the personal advice given me in my case, which was positively beneficial."

If you are afflicted with eczema, tetter, erysipelas, ringworms, pimples, acne, scaly eruptions, boils, irritations of the skin, or other similar disorders you need not expect any real relief from local applications, and the sooner you discontinue their use, the sooner you will be on the road to recovery, provided you will rely upon the use of S. S. S.

This fine old blood remedy goes direct to the seat of the trouble, and by cleansing the blood of all impurities and disease germs, it keeps the skin free from infection, and restores it to its normal, healthy condition.
