

PRANKISH WEATHER VISITOR TO STATE

Periods of Sunshine, Rain and Snow Experienced.

SHIPPING GIVEN WARNING

Bureau Says Gales Are to Be Expected Along Northern Oregon and Washington Shores.

Portland was treated to a diversity of weather yesterday that ranged in seasonal nature from January to June.

On the heights the snowfall was sufficient to remind the residents of winter and the fleecy blanket came near covering the green grass while the storm was at its best.

Storm conditions were reported as quite general over the state and the weather bureau last night gave warning that gales were to be expected during the night and today along northern Oregon and Washington Pacific shores.

BISBEE SHERIFF ON STAND

MAJORITY OF DEPORTED MEN DECLARED DISLOYAL.

Warning Received that I. W. W. Then Forming Plans to Pour Into District in Numbers.

TOMBSTONE, Ariz., March 30.—Admission that he "trusted to luck" as to whether the military authorities at Columbus, N. M., would accept the men deported under his orders from Bisbee July 12, 1917, was made today by Captain Harry C. Wheeler, former sheriff of Cochise county, during cross-examination in the trial of Harry E. Wootton, charged with kidnaping in connection with the deportations.

In answer to questions by County Attorney Robert N. French, Captain Wheeler also admitted that he took no record of the names of the men who were deported; that he did not know their marital or other legal status, and that he did not know who paid the expenses of the deportations.

"Did you know that 62 of the men shipped out were soldiers and sailors; that 473 were registered for the draft; that 295 of them had bought liberty bonds; that 520 were subscribers for liberty bonds, and that 266 were property owners or Bisbee?" Mr. French asked.

"I did not," Captain Wheeler replied. "Did you know that 900 of the 1156 men deported were not I. W. W.?" Mr. French persisted.

The witness replied in the negative. As a matter of fact Captain Wheeler was not the only question asked of the men who were rounded up in the Warren baseball park before the deportations. "Are you willing to go to work?" the county attorney queried.

"So far as I was concerned, it was not," Captain Wheeler answered. "The word 'work' was not mentioned by me. I do not know what any deputies might have done," the witness added.

The "vast majority" of the men deported were "disloyal," he said. Asked what were his instructions to his deputies of whom he said he had sworn in about 1200, the witness said:

"I told them we were facing great danger. I informed them that I had made my will and advised them to wind up their affairs. I instructed them to wear white handkerchiefs around their arms so as to be able to distinguish each other from the followers of the other side in case there should be shooting in the streets."

Regarding his reasons for not keeping the arrested men in the ball park instead of shipping them out of the state, the witness explained that he could not keep his deputies on guard over the men indefinitely, and that he had been warned that the I. W. W. were planning to pour into the district in great numbers to aid their fellows who had been singled out for detention.

Tentative plans provide for the storage of the spring overflow at Crane Prairie. Bend May Get Field Cheap.

Bend May Get Field Cheap.

BEND, Or., March 30.—(Special.)—Compared with other cities in the state are spending, Bend can obtain an aviation landing field at relatively small expense, according to N. E. Evans, aviation expert, after a survey of prospective landing sites in this vicinity. It is believed that the 160-acre tract selected by Mr. Evans can be purchased for $5000, and that $1000 would be sufficient to put the field in proper shape for the landing and starting of airplanes. The tract is within five miles of Bend.
