DAMAGES AWARDED BY COURT.—In a decree signed yesterday by Circuit Judge Kavanaugh, Bertha Thompson was awarded $1770 in her suit against H. R. Dewey, a chiropractic physician, as a result of alleged false representations made by him in selling her a half interest in eight acres of land in Texas. The trial brought out evidence showing that Dr. Dewey had told her the land was worth $8000 when in fact, Judge Kavanaugh found, it is not worth more than $300. He also told her it was valuable as oil land. He sold her the half interest for $3000, and after she had paid $1770, she learned the land was almost valueless.

The man had two $500 checks in his pocket. One was drawn to his order and the other to that of his brother, Ernest Smythe, 70 East Ninth street south.
