

BEAVERS ON GRASS
Mixture of Semi-Pros and Throp Collegians Beaten.

FINAL SCORE IS 9 TO 1

Kingdon's Home Run and Pitching of Durning, Schroeder and Polson Are Features of Day.

BY ROSCOE FAWCETT. PASADENA, Cal., April 2.—(Special.)—The fourth of the league games played on a grass infield today for the first time this season and defeated a Pasadena mixture of semi-pro and Throp collegians, 9 to 1.

The second game of the fourth and final of the season was played at the home of the Chicago Cubs trained and within a space of throw where the Harvard-Oregon football classic was played last New Year's day.

Yes Kingdon's homerun, Downs' left field drive and the pitching of Southpaw Durning, Schroeder and right-hander Polson were the only features of special interest.

Durning and Polson are new twirlers and the fourth of the season worked between them the Pasadenans annexed only two hits. The other two were registered off Schroeder's delivery. Schroeder looked mighty sweet.

In one inning he whiffed three batters and in the next he whiffed two. He whiffed the first Portland tally in the second inning. Wistler and Schaller added another in the third.

Kingdon Scores Two. Kingdon's screaming homerun in the second inning was the fourth and three others clattered across before the end of the fireworks on hits by Blue, Wistler and Maisei.

During the forenoon McCredie received a telegram from Detroit, advising that infielder Dyer would be turned over to the Beavers. Dyer is holding out on Detroit and it is doubtful if he can be induced to sign with the Beavers.

Beating Second Sacker Needed. What the Beavers need is a strong batting second sacker located next to Kingdon. Kingdon has been doing very well with his bat, but of course he isn't going to be a Maisei or a Schaller this season. Dick Cox is another who has not been hitting of late.

It is a question if McCredie would have started him in right away had not the cadet Barnabe torn a ligament in his ankle.

Low Blue did not return with the team from Pasadena. He has an engagement with a woman to whom he pulled ligament in his throwing arm. He may play in Sunday's game against Ontario.

The Beavers are scheduled to depart for Salt Lake on Sunday night. McCredie will start Roy Kallio in the opener, April 6.

The score:

Maisei 4 1 3 0
Durning 4 1 3 0
Polson 4 1 3 0
Schroeder 4 1 3 0

VERNON TO PLAY IN OLD SUITS. Dell, Fromme or Mitchell to Open Against Seals Tuesday.

LOS ANGELES, Cal., April 2.—(Special.)—An embargo on express shipments out of St. Louis may prevent some of the Coast league clubs from opening the season in new uniforms, according to an announcement made by George Cline, manager of a local sporting goods house here, today.

Bill Eskel and his Vernon Tigers left tonight for Madras, where they play exhibition games tomorrow and Sunday before proceeding to San Francisco to open with the Seals on Tuesday.

Eskel expected the new uniforms before he departed and unless they can be hurried to San Francisco, his club will have to start the season in suits which are far from clean. The Seals are in the same boat. Their suits are in the same plight as are those of Vernon.

Eskel said today that the opening day pitcher will be either Wheeler Dell, Art Fromme or Wee Willie Mitchell. Al De Vormer will catch.

SEALS TRIM CHICAGO CUBS 2-1

Jim Scott Allows Big League Boys Only Two Hits.

SAN FRANCISCO, April 2.—(Special.)—Big Jim Scott showed today that he is ready to pitch the opening game of the season next Tuesday by beating the Chicago Cubs 2 to 1. Jim allowed the big leaguers only two hits. They bunched those two blows in the second inning for the only run they got. Lear opening with a double and counting on Hendricks' single.

Twice Hendricks had the bases filled with only one down, but his mates reeled off double plays that wiped out the side, and he left the game after the sixth inning, with the score 2 to 1 against him.

Nick Carter pitched the next two innings and did not allow a hit or a run.

Johnny Couch will probably pitch for the Seals tomorrow and may be opposed by either Speed Martin or Lefty Tyler. Tom Seaton and Alexander will back up in the next duel Sunday. The score:

PORTLAND CLUB BOASTS MOST YOUTHFUL SQUAD OF ATHLETES

Manager McCredie Has More Major League Prospects in Leash Than Year Than Other Seven Coast League Clubs Combined.

ONTARIO, Cal., March 2.—(Special.)—The vicissitudes of the late war proved that the young men between the ages of 18 and 24 makes the best fighter. But in baseball some managers would rather hire with Methusalem than take a chance on a juvenile. Just at present it impresses us that Walter McCredie is traveling the middle course with a slight leaning toward the youthful team.

Without question the Portland club boasts the most youthful squad of athletes in the Pacific Coast league. McCredie has only three "old-timers" on his payroll—"Burr" Schaller, whose memory failed when he reached 50; Tom Howell, the battle-scarred trainer who is a veteran of three wars, and McCredie himself. Howell fought in three Indian campaigns and topped it off with stunts at the Spaniards in Cuba. He has been speared, blooded, tomahawked, hand-grenaded, bathed in liquid fire and shot at by a machine gun.

Jack Baker, at 27, still has a ball club and hearty at the ripe young age of 65.

The Pacific Coast League player limit this year will be 13 men after May 15. Up to that date the clubs have reported where they have many athletes as they desire. This will enable the managers to carry two or three youngsters for a few weeks of observation under fire. Last year the league player limit was 16.

Reddy Kallio was bemoaning the lack of a pool and billiard hall in Ontario.

"The long-hairs carry their reforms to the extreme," vociferated the former Detroit pitcher.

"Come down to my state, Texas," broke in Tex Wistler. "There isn't a pool or billiard hall in the entire state—well has been voted out."

"Well, I'll be—," replied Kallio.

Although several clubs are bidding for his services, Outfielder Walker of the Southern Pacific Rocky Mount, in a dinky little league in the Carolinas, Walker wants to play there and his report elsewhere may force the McCredies to let him have his own way. Walker desires to stick close to his tobacco plantation and one can hardly blame him if there is a ball club located close by, judging from the rapid disappearance of the oranges in some of the groves adjacent to Ontario.

Walter McCredie used to spend his spare time reading highbrow stuff like the "Police Gazette." "The Black Kitten" and the "Time Schedule of the Southern Pacific Railroad." Since taking to country life the Portland manager has suffered a remarkable change. Nowadays you can find Mack in his room almost anytime of night with his book buried in "The History of the Red Buller," "Country Gentleman" and a lot of other reading material that has to do with chickens and kale and cabbages and carrots and how to kill potato bugs.

McCredie can tell you by looking at its comb whether a cockerel will crow basso or mezzo-soprano.

games tryout meet to be held June 26 at Pasadena, near here, were made today by A. L. Glassman, president of the Oregon Athletic club, who by letter, notified Robert Weaver, in charge of Amateur Athletic Union activities in southern California, that eight men would compete. Weaver said he expected every city and important town on the Pacific coast to be represented by from one to 20 athletes.

Lead Bowler Out of Singles. PEORIA, Ill., April 2.—W. Anderson of the Vermont team, Chicago, had a 1301 score and an excellent chance to take the lead in the all-events in the American bowling congress when he finished his team and doubles game today. Then he discovered he had overlooked the individuals in filling his entry list. Officials refused to allow him to go on in the singles. He had scored 679 in the team play and 622 in the doubles and 619 in the individuals to take first place.

Millionaire Slacker ex-Racer. TACOMA, Wash., April 2.—(Special.)—Grover Cleveland Bergdall, Philadelphia millionaire, sentenced to five years in a military prison for being a slacker, was one of the automobile race drivers who appeared in the first Tacoma speedway races in 1912. The speedway at that time was a dirt track. Bergdall drove a Big Benz, a car of German make. He did not get in the money. Teddy Tetlar, in a Fiat, won the Montmaria trophy in the main event.

Howard Voshell, New York, won their places in the final round of the national indoor tennis championship doubles here today. The pair defeated W. C. Graeg and G. C. BOXERS TRAIN HARD
FOUR NIGHT FIGHTS
Gunboat Smith Finds Few Real Sparring Partners.

WALKER IN SAME FIX
But Both, However, Are Busy Each Day Keeping in Shape; Fred Fulton Uses Negro.

BY RICHARD R. SHARP. A scarcity of heavyweight sparring mates has got Portland and Hugh Walker and Gunboat Smith are bemoaning their inability to line up men with beef enough to give them a real combat.

Fred Fulton, the Minnesota man, mounted his first fight with Smith in the main hall of ten cantos at the Milwaukee arena next Wednesday night, was a wise man and broke his opponent's ego out from New York with him, said party being a tough negro, named Mexican Joe Lawson. Fred is a big fellow, a willing mixer and is on top of Big Fred every minute. Fulton has been traveling about the country with Lawson every afternoon and then going a couple of sessions with a local "white hope" named Henry White.

The runner is working hard, getting in shape for his mill with Fulton, but is up against it for partners to work with. Frank Kendall helped him out for two days until Kendall's manager, Joe Mandot, who will meet Joe Mandot in one of the six-round specials next Wednesday night, worked out with Smith yesterday but failed to materialize yesterday. Kid Taylor, a colored boy, who is a glutton for punishment, was dug up yesterday to work with Smith and did his best for three rounds. Taylor is not a fighter by profession but likes to stand the gas and he has been to go another round but Gunboat let him down with three.

Hugh Walker, the Kansas City heavyweight, will meet Frank Farmer in the semi-windup of ten rounds, battled four fast rounds with Knockout Farmer, a 155-pounder, yesterday. Curran is a novice at the boxing game and is out to make his mark. He is not afraid of Walker but is hardly enough to waste in and make Hush extend himself. Besides, Walker is forced to pull his punches. He gets a good workout at the gymnasium with the other heavyweights in the country and with three cast of Connolly's work of preliminaries on the bill it is no wonder that the rush for tickets is on.

The lineup will be: Heavyweights—Fred Fulton versus Gunboat Smith, ten rounds; Hugh Walker versus Frank Farmer, ten rounds; Lightweights—Joe Mandot versus Muff Brown, six rounds; Bantamweights—Billy Mascott versus Danny Edwards, six rounds; Flyweights—Lough versus Carl Martin, four rounds.

Many fans believe Smith will not linger long against Fulton and are looking for this day how he turned out to supply them with the rarest bit of flint fodder on the bill.

The lanky Tacoma veteran, who has broken many of the best men in the country, has had a long rest and will come out of his shell to battle Walker, Farmer has his reversal in mind. He is not a novice at the boxing game and is out to make his mark. He is not afraid of Walker but is hardly enough to waste in and make Hush extend himself. Besides, Walker is forced to pull his punches. He gets a good workout at the gymnasium with the other heavyweights in the country and with three cast of Connolly's work of preliminaries on the bill it is no wonder that the rush for tickets is on.

There will be at least 120 college teams in action on the two days of the annual relay carnival of the University of Pennsylvania, which will be held April 30 and May 1, has attracted a record list of entries. Invitations have been accepted by 217 institutions, including 92 colleges, 44 preparatory schools, 58 grammar schools, 18 parochial schools and 113 high schools.

The list of colleges embraces all the big institutions of the east and mid-west and four from the far west, in addition to Oxford and Cambridge, England, whose entry in the two-mile relay has aroused great interest and given the meet an international aspect.

Players Object to Rules. Pastimers Training in South Say New Code Too Strict.

Players of the major league ball teams now training down south are finding fault with the new rules. They insist that the penalties for freak pitching are too severe. If a pitcher "rubs the ball on his glove or on any part of his uniform he can be removed from the game, whereupon he is automatically suspended for 10 days. The objectors to the new rules say that thoughtless pitchers are being removed from the game and that the suspension of one or more star boxmen at a critical point in the season will deprive a team of the championship.

Players invariably find fault with the rules, but in the case of unportsmanlike deliveries the penalties seem just. The fans clamored all winter for the elimination of the "spitter," "finger" and "saw" ball. Under the rule makers, it would seem, acted wisely.

Charles Cochran, the English promoter, has cabled to this side in an effort to secure Patsy Herman for a 20-round fight with Willie in London. In the wire he specified that Herman could come into the ring at 138 pounds. Pennsylvania crews complete training today for their annual eight-oared shell races on the Schuylkill river late tomorrow afternoon. Coach Nickale of Yale and Coach Wright of Pennsylvania expressed satisfaction with the condition of their crews.

Baseball on the Inside. BY BILLY EVANS. THE retort courteous or sarcastic, as you will have it, is a valuable asset for an umpire to help smooth out his troubles. Daily, for six months during the baseball campaign, he must match wits with the players.

Tommy Connolly, famous American league umpire, has a fund of good, Irish humor and sarcasm, that never fails him when he is called upon to make his remarks. Several seasons back, when I was in Philadelphia, I saw a telegram from present Johnson to jump to Philadelphia for a Wednesday game, and leave that city Wednesday evening for Boston. This peculiar shift was the means of my working with Connolly for the first time in six years.

Members of the Philadelphia club were much concerned about their pennant chances. Instead of striking a big winning streak at home and clinching the pennant, as had been predicted, the club was scarcely breaking even. The Athletics were naturally a bit peevish because of the tough break in luck they were getting, as well as the inferior brand of ball they were playing. In such circumstances the umpire is usually the "goat." Philadelphia won from Cleveland that afternoon in one of the wierdest games I ever saw, something like 12 to 11, or possibly worse.

It was a tough game to umpire. I looked on this day how he turned out to supply them with the rarest bit of flint fodder on the bill.

Joe Mandot, the famous New Orleans lightweight, came out to the Pacific coast to try and register a real comeback. He has been in the ring in several months and made his return to the ring last night in Seattle against Bobby Harper. Harper is one of the best pounders in the northwest, but up to date has never showed any hard hitting qualities. As a boxer he rates par excellence. On the other hand, Mandot is an excellent boxer and hits like a middleweight when he lands.

Billy Mascott, leading claimant for the Pacific coast bantamweight title, will have it out over the six-round distance with Danny Edwards, the Oakland colored flash. Danny and Bill fought two hard, four-round bouts last month in Seattle. The two men settled their differences in six rounds for once and all.

"How do you know what he is doing?" asked Connolly. "From the way you acted at the plate I doubt if you can see that far." The argument subsided.
