BONUS LEGISLATION PROSPECTS BRIGHT

Delegate Returns to City Much Encouraged.

FOUR METHODS PROPOSED

Expectation Now Is Bill May Pass dially invited to be present.

G. P. EISMAN, Recorder. able Next Winter.

Passage of bonus legislation by Passage of bonus legislation by congress before next winter is predicted by James O. Convill, representative of Oregon at a meeting of American Legion men from every state in the union at Washington, D. C., recently, while beneficial legislation for world war veterans was before the ways and means committee of the house. Mr. Convill returned yesterday from his mission and included this prediction in a report included this prediction in a report to William B. Foliett of Portland, commander of the American Legion, department of Oregon.

The American Legion bill has been passed upon favorably by the house committee and Mr. Committee.

committee, and Mr. Convill expects action by the house before the national conventions and passage by the senate in time to meet needs of ex-service men next winter. ex-service men next winter. Con-gress is overwhelmingly in favor of some soldier legislation along the lines of adjusted compensation, he reported.

The bill prepared by the beneficial The bill prepared by the beneficial legislative committee of the American Legion and presented to the house committee March 24, 1919, provides compensation based throughout on length of service between the dates of April 5, 1917, and November 11 April 5, 1917, and November 11, 1919-one year after the signing of the armistice-inclusive.

Four Plans Offered. In the first summary of the bill to be received in Portland, Mr. Con-vill points out the following features of four compensation plans to be of-fered veterans of the world war if congress follows out suggestions of American Legion, as appears

First-Land projects-To be located by the government in all states of the union where proper land is avail-able; ex-service persons to be credited on account of their purchases of project lands at the rate of $1.50 per day for each day of service in the military or naval forces between April 5, 1917, and November 11, 1919, inclusive; loans of 4½ per cent in-terest for improvements, stock and equipment.

"Second—Home aid—Designed to assist ex-service men in acquiring homes in city and country by the government contributing to the purchase of such homes at the rate of $2 per day for each day of service.

"Third—Vocational training—To be a the posted of the equipment.

given without charge under the board of vocational training for a length of time equivalent to service in the army or navy and assistance while such courses of vocational training are befor such days of service.

"Fourth—Adjusted compensation—in the event ex-service men do not exercise the option to secure participation in land projects, home aid or vocational training then they are to receive adjusted compensation in cash at the rate.

"Ex-service men or women to have REPORTER.

Ex-service men or women to have to take one and not more than one of the four options."

All Time of Service Counts.

A special feature of particular in-terest to Oregon ex-service men point-ed out by Mr. Convill in his report is the provision that the time of service in the case of national guardsmen shall be reckoned from the date they were called into service by their respective state officers, without regard to the date on which they were actually federalized. This will mean several months difference to 3d Oregon and coast artillerymen.

The attitude of congress and Ore-gon's representatives on the question of soldier legislation is indicated in the concluding paragraphs of Mr. Convill's report to Commander Foliett,

"Immediately following the presen-tation and final arguments on this bill before the house ways and means present at this meeting. Representaof his brother, and Representative McArthur being ab-sent on other business. It was statsent on other business. It was stat-ed at this meeting by the Oregon delegation that they would use their influence in every manner to help ex-pedite the passage of the remedial oldier legislation and all expressed themselves as favorably inclined.

"While the representative from Oregon was attending this meeting members of the legion from other states were likewise walting on their congressmen and the poll of the opinions there gained show that congress is overwhelmingly in favor of some soldier legislation along the lines of djusted compensation. Considerable difference of opinion exists, however, as to the proper means of financing It seems certain at this time, how-aver, that the matter will be adjusted before next winter, when a large num-
