

J. C. SHILLOCK OUT ON WET PLATFORM

Candidate for Senator Would Favor Wines and Beer.

MANY ARE HOLDING BACK

Stampede of Aspirants May Be Expected About Last Day for Filing, April 16.

With "light wines and beer, whiskey for medicine and not medicine for whiskey," as his slogan, John C. Shillock, attorney, is the first candidate to take an anti-dry platform to the voters for approval or rejection.

Mr. Shillock, who seeks the republican nomination for state senator, says in his platform: "If nominated and elected I will during my term of office start propaganda declaring an open season on the dregs to the end that the national and state prohibition laws be amended, that light wines and beer, whiskey for medicine and not medicine for whiskey, can be obtainable.

Stampede Expected April 16.

Interest in the legislative ticket is becoming more keen and, while many names are being mentioned as possibilities, there is still a holding back. It is predicted that there will develop a grand stampede to get on the legislative ticket before the last day for filing, April 16.

ers having the courage of his convictions. During his legislative career probably the most important measure which Mr. Kubli sponsored was the criminal-syndicalism bill, aimed to curb the "reds" and under the provisions of which a number of convictions have been obtained.

"If nominated and elected again," said Mr. Kubli yesterday, "I will use my best efforts to see that no money is appropriated for experiments. If the millage measures on the ballot are approved by the people they will become a direct tax and the money heretofore used for these institutions will be in the treasury. I do not think that the necessities of the state require this money and the taxpayers can be saved considerable money if experiments are not indulged in."

For his slogan Mr. Kubli has selected: "Strict economy; home industry; just treatment to soldiers; true Americanism."

"I will conscientiously endeavor to represent the entire people, favoring no faction, and with a due regard for the rights and welfare of all."

"Labor is worthy of its hire, and proper working conditions should be insisted upon. I will support legislation to bring about mutual co-operation and friendly relations between employer and employee."

Fighting Hunger

Hunger is never more than a few days away from the American people. The coal strike showed us what a narrow margin the country goes on, even in a non-perishable necessity which can be stored. Swift & Company is engaged in the business of fighting hunger.

From coast to coast, from the Great Lakes to the Gulf, the lines of defense are drawn—packing plants at strategic points; branch houses in four hundred towns and cities; hundreds of car routes; thousands of refrigerator cars; tens of thousands of loyal men and women expert in their work.

Day by day, hour by hour ceaselessly, this fight, your fight, goes on. Yet so smoothly, surely and victoriously that you, unaware how close hunger always is, are as certain each night of tomorrow's meat as you are of tomorrow's sun.

And so economically is this done that the cost to you for this service is less than three cents a pound of meat sold. The profit shared in by more than 30,000 shareholders whose money makes the victory possible is only a fraction of a cent a pound on all products.

Swift & Company, U. S. A. If hunger did not make it necessary for us to fight this fight in the best possible way for all concerned, the competition of hundreds of other packers, large and small, would compel us.
