DR. W. A. WALDO SAYS CASON DEATH NOT ACCIDENTAL. Speaker at Funeral Declares Impossible for Revolver to Have Gone Off as Described.

Confident belief that it was a literal impossibility for the bullet which killed 19-year-old Wayne Cason in the lobby of the police station early Sunday night to have been fired through accidental discharge when the gun fell to the floor, was expressed yesterday by Dr. William A. Waldo, pastor of White Temple, who preached the funeral service over the body of the dead youth yesterday afternoon.

"Somebody had something to do with it," insisted the preacher after he had explained that two expert medical examinations had shown that the bullet had come from the floor and entered the boy's body in the position and manner in which it did. That the bullet did not pierce the coat which young Cason was wearing at the time was revealed by Dr. Waldo during the services. He said the bullet had entered through the armpit opening in the vest, a fact which he insisted further strengthened his belief that the gun was not discharged when it hit the floor.

Dr. Waldo censured the arresting officers and the police patrol for not using handcuffs if they really thought it necessary, although he reiterated time and again that there was no need for arresting the young man. Miss Lulu Shirley Barkham this week and stole the watch of the best man during the ceremony, was found sane by Dr. E. E. Joseph yesterday at the courthouse. The young man is declared to have no hallucinations or symptoms of insanity, though weak-willed, spoke feebly, and had stolen a suitcase from his father-in-law.

CASE AGAINST DENTIST DISMISSED.—Dr. Paul Yates, dentist, was held not to have been responsible for the condition of Miss Belle C. Borland, at the coroner's inquest yesterday. The circuit court yesterday, for lack of testimony corroborating the story of the complaining witness in a statutory case. She is said to have been improving for several days now. H. E. Rostad, the girl's father, arrived from Los Angeles yesterday. He had covered two set nets in the Willamette river just below the falls and confiscated them. They had apparently not been in the water long, as only two fish had been caught. The river is not open to net fishing above the Centerville dam.

BIGELOW MADE DEER SERGEANT.—A. L. Bigelow, one of the officers in charge of the police information desk, was yesterday transferred to a newly created auto theft bureau as desk sergeant.
