The troops, all infantry, under command of Colonel Cox, it was announced tonight, will leave tomorrow morning at 8 o'clock for the Mexican Northwestern railroad for Casas Grandes, 144 miles southwest of here. From Casas Grandes they will march overland to Sonora, their objective being Agua Prieta, opposite Douglas, Ariz.

SHERIFF UNDER FIRE

OUTRAGE PROCEEDINGS STARTED AGAINST KANSAS OFFICER.

Man Who Permitted Union Leader to Call Governor Allen "Skunk" Is Object of Attack.

TOPEKA, Kan., April 13.—Outrage proceedings against G. Clint Webb, sheriff of Crawford county, were filed in the supreme court tonight by J. K. Rankin, assistant attorney-general of Kansas. Sheriff Webb was charged with willful misconduct in office and willful neglect of duty in connection with the speech made by Alexander Howat, president of the miners' union, and other union officials to a crowd before the Crawford county jail yesterday.

The charges set forth that Howat referred to Governor Allen as "skunk" and made an attack upon the industrial court law, in the presence of the sheriff, who "made no attempt to stop any of them, but approved the entire proceeding."

"We are going to put that sheriff out of office," declared Governor Allen tonight. "He vetoed the law by permitting Howat to speak in his behalf and Howat in that speech violated two laws, the industrial court law and the anti-sectarian law. I will prosecute him under both laws. Howat says he is looking for a finish fight. He will get it. Kansas isn't ready to burn by Howat, and he's going to find it out. The rest of radical leaders who are making trouble are going to get in this show."

"I don't believe the state will have to take over the mines, because I think the miners will return to work. Something will have to be done. There will be no hesitation."

Governor Allen only grinned when asked what he thought about the attack made on him personally. "Howat's in jail, isn't he?" the governor said. The governor had reports that 20 mine fields were working today.

LOWDEN DEFEATS WOOD

Wood were the only candidates who made speaking campaigns.

Women cast a courtesy vote, but it was not enough to elect Wood.

Only the votes cast by men were official. Women received the privilege of voting unofficially after it became evident that the 19th amendment would not be ratified in time to give the women the vote.

The general now is on a two-months' leave, which was granted him by the war department March 29.

The railroad men's strike was discussed by General Wood in an address at the city club in connection with his announcement of his return to Chicago.

One Big Union Opposed. "You are confronted now by a new opposition; you cannot pussyfoot it or sidestep it much longer," he continued. "You find that organized labor has been stable, conservative and far as we can see, organized labor is now undergoing an attack from the radical element within itself. It is a pretty well-organized attack."

"It looks like the one big union idea. There is no one big union idea going to go over in this country. This country is going to be run by Americans, cost what it may."

General Wood spoke for an "absolute square deal" for labor and capital, urging co-operation rather than litigation as a solution of the problem.

Canadian Plan Approved. General Wood, referring to the Canadian plan having an investigation before a strike is permitted, said:

"In this way Canada has built up a sound public opinion. We have not built up any public opinion here. We do not get the facts concerning strikes."

CHICAGO, April 13.—General Leonard Wood's campaign for the presidential nomination will not be affected by his return to army duties here, according to his public statement this morning. The general will make such short speaking tours as he can without interfering with his duties at the central department headquarters.

Army officers here have been watching the strike developments closely for several days. Colonel Humphreys, chief of staff, left Monday on a tour of the eastern section of the department.

HOOVER'S ENTRANCE DECLINED TOO LATE

Chance for Presidency Now Held Forfeited.

FEW DELEGATES PLEDGED

Alignment With Republicans Said Also to Have Cost Possible Nomination by Democrats.

line, I went back through my recollections and recalled that during the preceding week I had talked for hours at a time with four of the republican candidates for the presidency and with 12 of the most powerful national and state republican leaders, and as I searched my memory it occurred to me that not one of these men had ever mentioned Hoover. The conversation in each case consisted of careful and minute review of the whole presidential situation on the basis of delegates elected and to be elected, and Hoover never figured in the calculations. Far from being worried by Hoover the bosses don't even think about him.

It may be that the Hoover papers think it desirable to do this sort of thing in order to stimulate a following. To stimulate the Hoover following is desirable for the Hoover movement is one of the most wholesome aspects of contemporary politics. But it is always unwise to stimulate enthusiasm by holding out doubtful hopes. That tends to disillusionment later. And that the Hoover movement most needs is staying power, staying power for four years if necessary. The Hoover movement should be permanent if it is to achieve anything substantial.

HOOPER FORFEITS CHANCE.

Most of whatever chance Hoover had of being the next president he forfeited when he announced that he would only consider the republican nomination. That act did two things: First, it made him practically unavailable for the democratic nomination. A good many of the democratic leaders had it in their minds to nominate Mr. Hoover, if he had remained in his neutral position they might have been able to do so. But now that Mr. Hoover has aligned himself with the republicans, the democratic leaders, even if they should continue to think it good strategy to nominate Mr. Hoover, would find it difficult to do so.

The democratic leaders would now find it hard to put Hoover over on the convention. The great bulk of the delegates in the democratic convention will be strong party democrats, little local precinct and county leaders. They have party pride; they have self-interest for the party and for themselves personally. They might take Hoover as a neutral, but they will rebel against taking him as a republican leftover.

No More Fear Felt. Second, by aligning himself with the republicans, Mr. Hoover eliminated one chief reason the republicans might have had for nominating him. They had been nominating him through fear; they never will through affection. (I say "never," but I confess that I say to the present year of 1930; 1934 may present a very different situation.) The republican leaders might have nominated Mr. Hoover through fear that if they didn't the democrats would. From the standpoint of political strategy, that is the chief reason the republican leaders ever had for considering Mr. Hoover, and that reason Mr. Hoover has now thrown away.

Of the 984 delegates who will make up the republican convention 283 are now chosen. That is to say, more than a third of them are now known. If among those delegates there is one who is instructed to vote, or who may be expected to vote, for Mr. Hoover, I don't know it—and I think I know if anybody does. Next week 58 more delegates will be chosen in Illinois. Not one of them will be for Hoover. On April 20 Nebraska will choose 16 delegates. Hoover's name is not on the ballots in Nebraska and it is too late for him to get it on. On April 23 eight delegates will be chosen from Montana. Hoover is on the ballots there, but I don't think he will get the delegates.

More Primaries Coming. On April 27 48 delegates will be elected in Ohio. Hoover's name is not on the ballots there and it is too late for his friends to put it on. On the same day New Jersey will elect 28 delegates. Hoover's name is not on the ballot and it is too late to get it on. On this same day, April 27, Massachusetts will choose 28 delegates. In Massachusetts one candidate for delegate-at-large is for Hoover. This candidate is an able and deservedly respected man, ex-Governor McCall. Between his own inherent strength and Hoover's popularity McCall may win. If he does he will be the first Hoover delegate. Hoover's first voice in the convention. Hoover might even get a few other scattering delegates from Massachusetts, but not enough to amount to anything. On May 4 50 delegates will be elected and instructed by Indiana. Hoover's name is not on the ballots and it is too late for his name to get on. On May 18 Pennsylvania will choose 76 delegates. Hoover's name is not on the ballots and it is too late to get it on.

Here are 629 delegates accounted for, omitting Massachusetts, and not a Hoover delegate among them. The announced chance, and so is the only chance, that Hoover has to get any real delegates is in California on May 4. His friends claim he has a good chance to take the 26 delegates of that state away from Johnson. If California yet, and I don't know. But at best it is only a chance.

The only possible chance that Hoover has in the republican convention is as a dark horse. His name will never have a toe hold in the republican convention until after it has been demonstrated that neither Wood, Lowden, Harding nor Johnson can get the nomination.

INTERVENTION IS BARRED

COURT ACTS IN SUIT OF CHRISTIAN SCIENCE SOCIETY.

Massachusetts Attorney-General May Bring Independent Action, but Cannot Proceed Otherwise.

BOSTON, April 13.—The supreme court today refused to allow Attorney-General Allen to intervene in the suit of the trustees of the Christian Science Publishing society, the directors of the mother church.

Judge Pierce sent the case to the full bench, which meets in October. The trustees of the Christian Science Publishing society, the directors of the mother church.

The court said it would be permissible for the attorney-general, who is authorized under the law which makes him the defender of public charitable funds, to bring an independent suit to prevent the republicans from intervening in the case.

The court today dismissed a motion by Edwin A. Krauthoff of Washington to compel the Christian Science Publishing society to print a full account of all court proceedings in the case.

CENTRALIA, Wash., April 13.—(Special.)—At caucuses held Saturday night and last night in the 12 Centralia precincts, 11 delegates were elected to the Lewis county republican convention to be held in Winlock next Saturday. The sixth and eleventh precincts each elected six delegates with a half vote each.

The sixth precinct delegates were instructed to vote for sending Mr. W. E. Brown of Vader to the state and national conventions; to support Guy Kelly of Tacoma for delegate-at-large to the national convention, and to favor Mark Reed of Shelton for national delegate from the south-western Washington districts.

390 REDS REPORTED, DEPARTMENT'S REPLY

Figures Given in Answer to Attack on Methods.

933 WARRANTS VOIDED

House Committee Chairman Says Labor and Justice Officers Are Working Against Each Other.

WASHINGTON, April 13.—(Special.)—Deportation of 390 reds was ordered by the department of labor in the period from December 29, 1919, to April 8, 1920. Warrants were issued during that time for 571 members of the communist and communist labor parties. Approximately 3000 were deported. This department of labor held hearings in 1923 of the cases and canceled 933 warrants.

These figures were given out by the department today, following charges in the house by Chairman Clegg of the subcommittee on naturalization committee that Assistant Secretary of Labor Post has been favoring the reds.

Labor Department Rapped. Mr. Johnson criticized the department of labor severely for its conduct of the alien cases.

"Here is the department of justice," he said, "making a number of arrests, 2700 or more, for deportation and the cases are turned over to the department of labor. The commissioner of immigration recommends deportation. The assistant secretary of labor cancels the warrant. The department of justice cannot make a charge against another department of the government, nor does it want to do so."

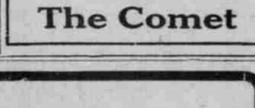

Money is Declared Wasted. "Here is the department of labor, through the assistant secretary, Mr. Post, resolving in favor of the alien, wherever he can. The net result is that the large amount of money authorized by congress to be placed in the hands of the department of labor for deportation of such undesirable aliens has likewise gone for little."

The answer to this criticism was the figures made public today. Some of these reds have already gone to their respective homes and others will be sent away as soon as possible.

Deschutes Ranchers to Meet. BEND, Or., April 13.—(Special.)—Project leaders of the Deschutes county farm bureau will meet here Saturday for an all-day session to plan work for the coming year. Another farmers' meeting is scheduled for Wednesday night, when ranchers will be guests of the Bend Commercial club at a livestock movie show here. O. M. Plummer of the Pacific International Livestock exposition will be one of the speakers.

It actually vanishes from sight and the most basest atmosphere will not produce the least shininess or greasiness of the skin.
