PRISONERS HAVE FIGHT

Trouble Caused by Discovery of Cord Hanging From Window.

EUGENE, Or., April 14.—(Special.)—Three prisoners in the Lane county jail are now occupying cells day and night and are denied the privileges of the corridor, two for engaging in a fight and the third for aiding and abetting the conflict, according to George F. Croner, deputy sheriff and jailer.

Two days ago Croner discovered a stout cord hanging from an upper window of the jail, with a stick of wood on the end to weight it down. The previous day two men who had served time for larceny had been released and it is surmised they had secured the stick saw or revolver on the string for the use of the men in jail.

The two men who engaged in the fight are Robert E. Stevens and John C. Sweeney. The third man is Albert Galloway. Sweeney was accused by Stevens of informing the jailer of the existence of the cord.

CANNED BEEF CHEAPER

WAR DEPARTMENT OFFERS ITS STORES TO THE CITY.

Food Shortage Due to Railway Strike to Be Relieved by Quartermaster's Department Supplies.

Canned roast beef may be placed on the market in Portland at a price much lower than has previously been quoted by the quartermaster store here, in order to relieve food shortage due to the strike, telegram received yesterday by Mayor Baker from E. C. Morse of Washington, D. C., director of sales for the quartermaster department, indicates.

The prices quoted in the telegram are about one-half now being charged at the quartermaster store here, which is governed in its prices by regulations from Washington. At present two-pound cans are selling for 55 cents as compared with the new price of 30 cents, while six-pound cans are going for $1.15, as compared with 85 cents. One-pound cans are not on sale now, having recently been withdrawn by order from the quartermaster store here. A considerable quantity of these smaller cans are said to be in store here. The price when they were sold was 29 cents per can as compared with 15 cents per can. Even considering an overhead cost for distribution the new price is taken to mean a great decrease over any yet announced. Action will immediately be taken by the city to secure the cheaper meat. It was determined yesterday and Commissioner Pier was authorized to take the matter in charge. Mr. Pier stated that he would confer today with Mr. Fowler and Major Tingley and would take whatever steps are advised to make the canned goods available.
