

I. N. DAY WILL RUN FOR STATE SENATE

John C. McCue Decides to Be Candidate for House.

STRONG SLOGANS ADOPTED

Candidate Favors Giving Land to Service Men "From Unnecessarily Large Reserve in Oregon."

I. N. Day, who served in the 1913 and 1915 sessions of the state senate, was among those who filed a declaration of candidacy with the secretary of state yesterday. His slogan is "Develop Oregon's resources through water power, irrigation, drainage and roads. Make agriculture profitable." Of the five senators to be nominated, three of the out-going ones wish to be returned, these being Gus C. Moser, R. S. Farrell and F. C. Howell. Yesterday was the last day for filing for state offices.

Senator Day, who is given credit for originating the idea of issuing road bonds to be paid from automobile licenses, says in his platform that he will advocate the distribution to service men of land from the unnecessarily large reserves in Oregon. He is for consolidation of state departments—a policy which originated and was rejected in Oregon, but was copied by Illinois where it saved 23 per cent of the taxes; for elimination of overlapping functions now exercised by county and city in Portland; for positive supervision in Multnomah county of tax levying by a non-taxpayers authority; and for practical improvement of marketing conditions. Hamilton Corbett, who has been considering being a candidate for the senate, decided yesterday that he would not file.

Legislative Experience Gained.

John C. McCue, who has had legislative experience serving in the house in 1907 and 1909, being on judiciary, revision of laws and ways and means committees, filed for the house yesterday. He is a graduate of the state normal at Monmouth and for six years was principal of the high school at Astoria, but has been a practicing attorney in Portland for a dozen years. Mr. McCue's slogan is "Practical legislation to develop our resources. Greater port facilities. A business session." In his declaration he advocates the following principles: "Elimination of last minute legislation; adequate compensation for public school teachers; the high standards of our public schools maintained; full recognition to our soldiers and sailors of the fruits of proper legislation; the passage of proper legislation to reduce the high cost of living and to assure to the consumer and wage earner the fruits of his labor and restrain the profiteer, and a definite programme of development for Oregon's great port from Portland to the sea."

H. T. Arnest, who came to Oregon about a year ago from Virginia, decided to participate in state politics yesterday and filed as a candidate for republican nomination for representative. Mr. Arnest, who is 32 years old, has for his slogan: "Progressive, but mature, deliberate legislation; economical administration. Oregon leader of the north-west."

Lower Real Estate Tax Suggested.

Arthur K. Hill, engaged in real estate, filed for nomination as republican representative from Multnomah. In his statement he says he has no special interests to serve and will oppose any measure so designed. He promises to advocate the lowering of taxes on real estate without lowering government efficiency. Continuing his statement says: "The food profiteer must be curbed. An equitable and permanent settlement of the differences between employer and employee is imperative. Our commerce and sports must not be retarded. Our foreign population must be Americanized. I will advocate fair treatment for our war veterans, unequalled support of our schools and adequate pay for teachers."

Frank J. Loneragan wants "Less legislation and more action in Oregon." His platform promise, which he filed with his declaration of candidacy for representative for Multnomah county, says: "If I am nominated and elected I will, during my term of office, support meritorious and necessary legislation only; will demand greater economy and less waste; oppose all unnecessary duplication in the conduct of official business; favor development of the port of Portland and port facilities and work for the encouragement of foreign trade; will oppose all hurried and ill-considered legislation; and work for a short and business-like session."

Native Oregonian Aspires.

F. M. Phelps, a native Oregonian who served with the 91st division, after receiving a commission at the first officers' training camp at the Presidio, is among the aspirants for representative nomination. He advocates harbor improvements, curbing of profiteers, believes all children should attend schools where they will receive instruction in the fundamentals of government and believes in an equitable adjustment of differences between labor and capital.

We Are No Stronger Than Our Fighting Blood

Physical Fitness Our Sole Reliance.

Courage without physical fitness is absolutely worthless. That is why our great army was made up only of men who were without the slightest physical defect. But there is a constant warfare closer home, that you are vitally interested in. It is the warfare of disease against your health, a struggle that is always going on, and one for which you must always keep your system prepared. And your blood supply is the fortress upon which you must depend. If it is kept pure and free from any weakening influence, the germs of disease cannot find lodgment, but are promptly expelled, and good health is assured.
