

BIBLE IS DECLARED GOOD FOR LIFE'S NEED

"Hills That Help" Discussed by Dr. Stansfield.

AID TO MANKIND URGED

First Methodist Pastor Views Religious Importance of Sinai, Calvary and Olivet.

"The Bible religion gives the finest philosophy of human life and is the best help to good life and living," declared Dr. Stansfield yesterday morning in his sermon at the First Methodist church on "Hills That Help."

"It recognizes the fact that the best and surest help for the greatest of human needs is from above," continued the pastor.

"Only the highest help can meet the deepest needs of mankind. 'What wonderful revelations of God there have been on the mountains and hills of the Bible. I will name only three this morning—Sinai, Calvary and Olivet. What experiences were there; what wonderful hills they are, and what light they show on the severest problems of human life.'"

"Sinai, where God gave, through Moses, the moral code for human conduct for all time. There were many things in the Mosaic economy that were completely outlived and became obsolete after Christ, but the moral law of God—the ten great words—abide forever."

"Sinai brings man under the moral law of God and is the stern protest and protection against anarchy, lawlessness and sin. As a safe and best security for the individual and the state is Sinai, and the imperishable moral law and code of conduct. I will lift up mine eyes to the hill Sinai, from whence cometh help."

"But, far better than Sinai is the hill Calvary. If Sinai stands for law Calvary stands for divine love. Man's deepest need is when the laws of Sinai have been broken—then nothing but divine love, forgiveness, redemption and help. I will lift up mine eyes unto Calvary, whence cometh help."

"Lawlessness, sin and death are man's greatest enemies and where he most sorely needs help and deliverance. Sinai and Calvary are the hills that meet these deepest human needs. Help may be found in these holy hills."

"Olivet is where Christ ascended from earth to heaven and shows that the destiny of man is not death, but immortality. The man, Christ Jesus, our lord, our savior, and leader, and 'way-shower,' has gone through death as conqueror. Man's last enemy is death. The man, Christ Jesus, has overcome death and from Olivet ascended to heaven, clearly showing that man's destiny is not dust and death, but immortality and heaven. He ascended for us, and where he is, there, we shall be also."

CHURCH HELD FACING TEST Rev. W. A. Waldo Declares Real Men Are Needed Now.

"We are facing a great crisis. The church is under a great test today," said Rev. W. A. Waldo, pastor of the White Temple, in his sermon yesterday morning on "The Call for Laymen."

"Not only the world but the church is calling for men, real masculine men, men who will serve, men who will sacrifice," continued Dr. Waldo. "There is a tremendous responsibility on men today and it is growing greater every day."

"The great demand for men today is not only strong men, but men of promoting ability, men of organizing ability and men of financial ability. I might here tell you of the birth of Chicago university. John D. Rockefeller once telegraphed Dr. Harper to meet him in Chicago as he had something very important to speak to him about. When they met Mr. Rockefeller said: 'Mr. Harper, don't you think the west should have a great university?' 'Yes,' was the reply. 'Then don't you think we ought to have a great man at the head of it?' asked Mr. Rockefeller. 'Yes, I do,' said Mr. Harper. 'Then, you are the man and I will give you $1,000,000 to start it,' said the rich man. Mr. Harper stepped back and said, 'No, Mr. Rockefeller, I wouldn't start the kind of a university the west ought to have on $1,000,000. I'd have to have $20,000,000 and he got it.'"

"In this great New World movement we will have to have big men, men of promoting ability, organizing and financial ability."

MORAL CULTURE IS URGED Rev. G. H. Bennett Discusses Needs of Civilized Mankind.

"Power of Christian Education," was the subject on which Rev. George H. Bennett of the Patton Methodist church, spoke yesterday morning. "The standing of a man among men is determined by his excellent knowledge, his high moral principles, and his power to impress his ideas upon others," said Rev. Bennett. "The difference between the barbarous and the civilized is a difference in ideas, a difference in mental and moral culture. As the eye has been created for light, the ear for sound, so the mind has been created for knowledge and the soul for moral truth."

"Mankind has made mighty strides in knowledge and invention. Every child is entitled to full mental development, making his powers available for efficient service in life's struggle. Knowledge is conquering disease, and ignorance and poverty. Miracles of invention, art and discovery are many, and all are trophies of scholarship. But unless moral culture keeps pace with mental culture, civilization is in danger of wrecking on the rocks of folly. Christian education is the balance wheel of the highest civilization. A barbarous nation cultured in modern science and art, but still imbued with their primitive, low moral ideals, is a menace to the world, a firebrand in a powder mill."

The blame for high priced shoes cannot be placed on the hide dealer, according to men in this line of business. It is true that hides are still high in price, but there appears to be a very wide margin of profit for some one between the cost of an animal's skin and what a man has to pay for a pair of shoes. At the same time the bottom has not dropped out of the hide market, according to George M. Sullivan, a Portland hide dealer, who points out that hides today are worth double the normal price.

"It has been shown that the cost of manufacturing a good pair of shoes in 1914 was made up as follows: Material, $1.21; labor, 61 cents, and overhead, 22 cents, a total of $2.04. At present it is hard to say what the cost is but the figures for 1919 were: Material, $6.46; labor, $1.15, and overhead, 53 cents, a total of $8.14.

"It is well for everyone to bear in mind the fact that some considerable time elapses before a raw hide or skin is developed into a finished shoe. A Chicago trade paper, Hide and Leather, which is devoted entirely to this industry, said in a recent issue: 'Many feel that we have about reached the bottom of leather prices for some time at least. The domestic trade in good, with shoe retailers expecting lively spring business at high prices, and they must get high prices to clear, as they paid the highest cost in years for the goods. The public, therefore, can hardly expect lower prices on the stocks now in retailers' hands. They forget that shoes now on the market were made from the most costly hides and leather that this country has ever known, and they forget that some time elapses before the raw hide or skin is developed into a finished shoe, often long enough for the animal to be a year or more older if it had lived.'"

"We are of the opinion, however, the writer of this article overlooked the unreasonable prices charged by the hide dealers and the large profits they are making on their sales. Everybody seems to think that shoes are not good unless they cost around $18 to $20. The same shoes marked $10 are harder to sell than at $20. Any shoe salesman will tell you this."
