

BIGLOW AT TRENCH ROGS WAITS ON BIGELOW

Commissioner Asks for Time to Study Measure Further.

COUNCIL HEARS DRAFT

Best Features of Other Ordinances
Are Incorporated in That Proposed for Portland.

Consideration of the anti-rent profiteering ordinance, introduced to the city council, by Mayor Baker, was postponed yesterday until tomorrow morning at 10 o'clock. Commissioner Bigelow was responsible for the delay, asking for time to study the ordinance. He first sought a week's delay but needed the mother lode, the family together. Mrs. Deppen died in 1910.

Three of the children still survive. Jacob is vice-president of the Central Door Lumber company. E. J. is employed as pressman for the Metropolitan Printing company, and Hugo is engaged in the commercial printing business in Seattle. The other three children passed away during the last eight years.

The ordinance which authorizes the mayor to appoint a fair rental commission, composed of three persons, not interested in any way in the hotel, apartment house or rental business, and which gives the commission unlimited authority to investigate and fix fair rental prices, was read.

Powers Held Ample.
Deputy City Attorney Mackay, its author, in response to a question from Commissioner Bigelow, said that he believed that the city possessed police power to regulate rents, when conditions made such regulation a matter of public interest.

The ordinance, which he admitted was drastic in many particulars, he said was taken from similar ordinances enacted in other cities, and from the congressional rent regulation imposed on the "District of Columbia." Obnoxious features of all such ordinances were omitted from the Portland draft, he explained.

Mayor Baker made it clear that he would not stop until an unfair rent law was enacted. Investigation, he said, proved that many cases of unfair rentals exist, and the public is entitled to relief.

Ordinance Stirs Wrath.
"The time has arrived when someone must move in," said Mayor Baker, "I instructed the city attorney to draft an ordinance covering the unfair rental subject and to make it constitutional. I have no doubt that persons will have nothing to fear from the ordinance. Others should be shown up. The ordinance is not a popular one. I have never called on and damned more in the last week than any similar period during my administration."

"But the complaints which have been coming to the city attorney's office plainly and unambiguously and unjustly prevail among some of our landlords. All landlords are entitled to a fair return on their investment. There is no at-all in this fact. But take a case where two small unfurnished rooms and a bath, which brought $20 a month two years ago, are now held for $55 a month; it is criminal."

Only One to Be Paid.
The ordinance read yesterday provides for the appointment of three persons on the commission, one of whom shall be a public accountant, who alone will receive compensation for his services.

The commission would have to utilize legal service from the city attorney's office and clerical help from the civil service bureau of the city. Power to examine books, papers and other similar property of landlords is granted to the commission, as is the power to place witnesses on oath.

The ordinance would be effective for two years, and is declared to be temporary legislation, brought about by the influx of workers to Portland during the war period.

SON CONSULTS OLD FILE

Pressman Reads Story of Father's Death 50 Years Ago.

E. J. Deppen, pressman at the Metropolitan Printing company, yesterday consulted the files of the Oregonian of 50 years ago to read in detail the account of the death of his father, which occurred as the result of an slide of the earth wall of a shaft in which he was working in a brickyard on Yamhill street, near Fifteenth.

The account of that date, referred to in another column today, related that the deceased was survived by his widow and six children. The eldest was 12 years of age. They had no relatives here, but found many friends in the then thriving town that was growing on the edge of the forest, and by dint of hard work and careful management the mother kept the family together. Mrs. Deppen died in 1910.

"I wouldn't take all the money you could pile up around me for the good Tanlac has done me. In my opinion it's the greatest medicine on earth, and I'm giving this testimony because I think that every person who suffers as I did ought to know about it," said Mr. W. E. Truitt, former deputy sheriff at Portland, Oregon, a member of the I. O. O. F. at Salem, Oregon, and who now resides at the Bostonian apartments, 1509 Golden Gate avenue, San Francisco, Cal.

"I suffered from indigestion for 20 years and of late years it has got much worse. My food would sour on my stomach, form gas and bloat me up so that I could hardly breathe, causing me intense pain. I was badly constipated, and subject to severe headaches and spells of dizziness. I got so nervous that any unusual noise made me jump like I had been shot at, and this nervousness also prevented me from sleeping at night. I had no appetite, went down in weight from a hundred and thirty-eight to a hundred and twenty-five pounds, and finally got into a weak and run-down condition."

"I had tried so many medicines without getting any benefit, that when I read the statement about what Tanlac was doing, I was very skeptical. But one day I saw in the papers a statement of an old friend of mine in Portland, Oregon, and that decided me to give it a trial. I'm mighty glad I did, because within five weeks that medicine rid me of my bad meals, and today I'm a well man. My appetite is keen and I can eat anything I wish and not suffer any distress afterwards. In fact, my digestion is in perfect working order, and I've almost forgotten what headaches are like. My nerves are now good, I sleep fine, and I'm back at my normal weight. From the top of my head to the sole of my feet, I feel like a new man."

"Tanlac is sold in Portland by the Owl Drug Co.—Adv.

FINE BANQUETS PROMISED

SHRINERS ARRANGING SERIES OF ROYAL FEASTS.

Greater Splendor Expected on Present Occasion Than Ever Before Attempted at Session.

"Of banquets there will be many," said Julius L. Meier, chairman of the Shrine banquet committee, yesterday, "and as I have now lined up all my committee I am sending out notices to them and holding meetings so that we may be able to put over the banquet in greater splendor than ever before was attempted at an imperial council session." Mr. Meier made the following announcements:

Luncheon for wives of representatives to the imperial council at Multnomah hotel Tuesday, June 22; the Oaks, Wednesday, June 23, and again at the Multnomah on Thursday, June 24—C. Darnall, W. J. Roope and Jerry Bronaugh.

DEMOCRATS TO GATHER

MASS CONVENTION CALLED AT CHEHALIS MAY 1.

Delegates to State Meeting to Be Named—Interest in County Ticket Is Small.

CHEHALIS, Wash., April 21.—(Special.)—Lewis county democrats are to meet in mass convention in Chehalis at the city hall May 1. At that time will be selected a delegation to the democratic state convention, which in turn will select delegates to the democratic national convention to be held in San Francisco. There is not a great deal of interest as yet among democrats as to the personnel of their county ticket.

By way of contrast, since Lewis county is republican, there is the usual coronation ceremony of the republican county ticket. Several candidates are out to succeed themselves as follows: James Stewart, county treasurer, Miss Eva Knight for county superintendent, E. C. Bechly for county engineer, H. J. Hendershott for assessor. There will be candidates for other offices as follows: Miss Mary Grimm for county clerk; F. M. Roberts, deputy sheriff, for the office of sheriff; R. R. Somerville to succeed himself as commissioner from the first (Centralia) district; Joe Moorcroft and possibly A. H. Birey for commissioner from the third of eastern counties district; H. H. Swofford, representative, for state senator; A. S. Kresky of Centralia and E. J. Elvis for representatives; O. J. Abers will probably run for county attorney.

COLLEGE ELECTS QUEEN

May Day Festivities Planned and Athletic Meet Arranged.

McMINNVILLE, Or., April 21.—(Special.)—McMinnville college will hold its annual May-day festivities this year on Friday, May 7. Miss Lulu E. Coe, daughter of Curtis P. Coe, registrar, has been elected queen of May and Miss Emma Louise Bueermann, daughter of Rev. Fred B. Bueermann of Portland, as maid of honor. Irl S. McSherry has been selected as herald and Campbell has been chosen chairman of general arrangements for the associated student body.

The coronation ceremony will take place in the forenoon under the old oak on the campus. After the queen is crowned a Maypole dance will be given by girls of the schools and folk dances by the college girls. The afternoon will be given over to athletic contests, in which teams from McMinnville college and Pacific University will be pitted against each other.

How I Cured My Rheumatism

BY PETER SAVALA

I have found a new, safe way to get rid of rheumatism. It is simple, easy—results are astonishing. It eases the pain almost instantly. It banishes the terrible aches from my nerves and muscles. In seven days I became free of my crutches. In ten months I was a well man—free from the awful pain and aches—and I have not had even a twinge from rheumatism since.

This is an ancient Greek prescription. Every doctor in Greece knows its wonderful value and prescribes it for the most obstinate case of rheumatism. I will tell you all about it FREE. I will tell you how I became crippled with rheumatism and how I got the remedy that drove this terrible agonizing affliction right out of my body.

It makes no difference how swollen or distorted your joints may be; how severe the pain, or how discouraged you are. Just write me personally. I will tell you how to find relief in a few days and a lasting release in just a few weeks.

Just write me personally. Say: "Tell me how you cured your rheumatism and how I may cure mine."

Address your letter or post card to: PETER SAVALA, 228 Craig St. West, S. 146, Montreal, Que.
