SAULITS ARE RELEASED

BAIL POSTED FOR TWO RADICAL RUSSIAN ALIENS.

Bonds of $1000 Each Furnished Following Order of Assistant Secretary of Labor Post.

Victor Saulit and his wife, Julia, radical Russian aliens, were released yesterday from the county jail under $1000 bonds each, pending final determination of proceedings brought against them by Chief Immigration Inspector Bonham for their deportation to Russia as unduly aliens.

Liberty bonds in the amount of $2000 were posted by Philip Miller with the local immigration office and Saulit and his wife were released by them for the first time since their arrest on the night department of justice operatives made their sweeping citywide raid on homes and headquarters of the members of the communist labor party.

Although Mr. Bonham had placed the bonds of the Saulits at $10,000 each because he considered them dangerous to be at large, Assistant Secretary of Labor Post several days ago ordered the Saulits and all other communist labor aliens released on $1000 bonds.

In addition to being one of the leaders in the organization of the communist labor party in Oregon, Saulit became notorious during the war because he refused to stand when the national anthem was being played at the Hellig theater, and again when he returned his citizenship papers for cancellation with the statement that he did not care to become an American citizen.

For several years he has been one of the leaders of the radical group in Portland. Mrs. Saulit was for a time secretary of the communist labor party and a strong supporter of her husband in his radical teachings and practices.

PROTEST PROVES COSTLY

FATHER OBJECTS TO PAYING $10 MONTH FOR CHILD.

Judge Promptly Raises Required Payment to $15 and Wife Also Gets Divorce.

Ten dollars a month was more than Henry R. Mann cared to pay for the care of his child, in custody of Mrs. Arlie Mann, so he went to Circuit Judge McCord yesterday.

"All right, you will pay $15 a month," ruled the judge, raising the limit.

Mann sought a divorce on the ground of desertion. After hearing his story in the morning, Judge McCord subpoenaed the wife in the afternoon. Mrs. Mann said she was willing to care for the child if Mann would pay $10 a month. The husband protested that he was willing to take the child himself, but objected to paying the mother $10 a month if she kept the 3-year-old boy.

The divorce was granted and the mother received the child.

Though he gained much experience in home life through management of the "Own Home" campaign demonstration, burglar at Fourth and Stark streets last year, O. H. Skotheim has failed to keep harmony in his own home.

Mrs. Skotheim filed suit for divorce yesterday, charging cruel treatment. She asks a one-third interest in property valued at $35,000 and $200 a month alimony.

Other divorce suits filed yesterday were: Beda Everett against W. H. Everett, Grace V. Davis against William F. Davis, Audrey M. Whiteside against Oscar W. Whiteside, George W. Le Febvre against Marie Le Febvre and Anne E. Larson against Andrew Larson.

BERRIES WILL GO EAST Hood River Crop Promises to Bring Record Prices.

HOOD RIVER, Or., April 21.—(Special).—The Apple Growers' association, from present indications, will be the sole concern shipping packed strawberries from here this season. Independent growers and ranchers formerly affiliated with other shipping agencies, all of which have discontinued the berry business, will probably ship the fruit without grading to canneries.

Cannery makers are making eager bids for field run fruit at 16 cents a pound, furnishing crates, thus netting growers about $2.88 per crate. The association will continue to ship berries to the Dakota and Rocky mountain points, and indications point to record prices.

Many victims of the influenza epidemics are still suffering from the effects of the disease. Vital energies were consumed in overcoming the disease germ and as a result the return to health has been slow. Head-aches, dizzy spells, weakness, indigestion and nervousness are experienced, for the blood, weakened by influenza, has not yet regained the richness and strength needed to build up the body.

Those who still complain that they haven't felt well since they had influenza will be interested to learn how Mrs. M. W. Smith, of No. 2930 Walnut street, Everett, Wash., regained her health.

"I had a severe attack of influenza," says Mrs. Smith, "and I got up too soon, in order to help care for others of my family who were ill. It seemed as though I should never regain my strength. My complexion was poor and I was forced to rest frequently when I tried to do my work about my home. I was nervous and had such headaches that they almost drove me wild. My sleep did not rest me and I suffered a great deal from indigestion.
