Generalissimo Forces Teutons to Ask for Armistice.

SIGNING IS RECOUNTED

French Biographer Tells of Laconic Reply Given to Erzberger and Other Plenipotentiaries.

appeal for an armistice on November 7, 1918, met with the laconic reply, "I bave no terms," from Marshal Foch to Erzberger and the other plenipotentiaries, according to Raymond Re-couly (Captain X), French blographer of foch and Joffre, in an article en-titled "What Foch Really Sald," which l be published in the May issue Scribner's Magazine, out tomor-

Captain Recouly, describing the historic scene of the morning of Novem-ber 11, when the generalissimo of the allied forces, attended by a few mem-bers of his staff, signed the document in a railway dining car in a forest near Rethonds, a town between Complegne and Soissons, declared "the sight of butter seemed to fill the German envoys with jey."
The radio from the Germans asking for "a cessation of hostilities in the name of humanity." was received by Foch shortly after midnight on the 7th and at 1:25 A. M. on the 8th Foch sent back his answer: "The Gorman plenipotentiaries will have to go to the outpost on the main road from Maubeuge - la - Capelle - Guise." From this point they were brought by relayed stages to Hethonde, which they reached about 7 o'clock in the morning. Two hours later they were in the presence of the commander of the conquering allied armies.

"There was a cold salute," says Captain Recouly, "a bow in return; no presentations. The Germans took their places at the table in the dining car, where their names were written, and remained standing. The officers seemed embarrassed and upset. civilians did not seem to care at all. They talked familiarly together; it was impossible to believe that their intry's fate was hanging in the balance, and that they were there tion the world had ever seen Foch's piercing eyes, gruff voice and curt manner were impressive. "To whom have I the honor of speakhe asked. The Germans re-"What is the object of your disit?" he asked. Then followed this

"Erzberger: We have come to in-quire into the terms of an armistice, o be concluded on land, on sea and Count Oberndorf, the diplomatist in the German party, interceded: "If the marshal prefers, we may say that we are here to learn the conditions on which the allies would be willing to grant us an armistice." "Foch: I have no terms."

Erzherger, drawing forth a greasy paper: "President Wilson has in-formed our government that Marshal Foch has been invested with the power of submitting the allies' conditions to the German plenipotentiaries." Foch: I will let you know the allies' conditions when you have asked for all armistics. Do you ask for all armistics. for an armistice. Do you ask for an exclaimed Oberndorf and Erzberger together.

"Foch: In that case I will read you the terms drawn up by the allied governments." He sal-down and the reading began. It lasted an hour, for he document had to be translated The Germans pleaded for an imme-diate suspension of hostilities and for time to permit the Berlin government to examine the terms. Again am but the mouthpiece of the allied governments. It is those governments that have drawn up the conditions of the armistice limiting the delay to 72 hours' duration. I have, therefore, no power to suspend hostilities without their authori-messenger to Spa, with credentials and the request that his journey to Berlin be "facilitated." When the messenger reached the German outposts, it is related, the troops were so demoralized that they fired upon his white flag. Promiscuous volley firing continued and the emissary was unable to reach his destination until the next day. Meanwhile the German envoys had notified Foch of their difficulty and Foch agreed to permit them to send a German officer to Berlin by air. A plane was equipped and ready for the flight when word was received that the messenger had reached Berlin.

Captain Recouly declared the armis-

Captain Recouly declared the armis-tice was signed because Foch and his staff were convinced Germany was already in the throes of a revoiution. The armistice envoys painted a "black picture" of conditions. While the German government was analyz ing the terms the plenipotentiaries remained near Foch in the forest at Rethonde. They were permitted to leave their train, and, guarded by armed soldiers, exercise in the open air. On the afternoon of the 10th Foch informed Erzberger, the head of the delegation, that heatilities of the delegation, that hostilities would be resumed at 11 A. M. the next day. At 7 o'clock on the night of November 10 the following radio message was intercepted by the plenipotentiaries: The plenipotentiaries are authorized to sign the armis-tice. (Signed) The Chancellor of the Three ciphered figures at the end of the message proved its authenticity. More than 12 hours of deliberation and debate over the "harsh" terms followed. Foch granted some concessions and refused the others.

PHONE TRYOUTS RELATED Revolution in Communication Predicted by Army Man. WASHINGTON, April 27. - Tele-phone, telegraph and cable communication methods may be revolutionized as a result of experiments conducted by the army signal corps and de-scribed today before the National Academy of Scientists by Major-Gen-Academy of Scientists by Major-Gen-cral G. A. Squier, chief of the corps. Explaining how one army had ob-tained well-nigh perfect results, both in telegraphing and telephoning over-bare wires laid in the water and on and under the ground, General Squier predicted expensive heavy insulated innd and submarine cables would be replaced by single bare wires over which several telephone and telegraph messages would be sent at the same
