

HELMON AND GORMAN RESISTS DRAW

Four Other Fights at Armory Called Equal.

GORMAN BEATS LANGFORD

Murphy-Willis, Gordon-Coy and Trambitas-Burns Contests End With Divided Laurels.

Attending to the popularity of the new regime of the Portland boxing commission, a much larger crowd than usual attended the bouts last night at the armory. Four of the sessions were draws. The results were as follows:

Tiny Herman boxed a draw with Frank Farmer, ten rounds.

Frankie Murphy boxed a draw with Stanley Willis, ten rounds.

Joe Gorman defeated Young Sam Langford, ten rounds.

Able Gordon boxed a draw with Johnny Coy, four rounds.

Johnny Trambitas boxed a draw with George Burns, four rounds.

Referee Francis' decision of a draw in the headline bout between Farmer and Herman seemed to meet favor with the fans.

Farmer Forces Boxing.
Farmer forced the boxing during the early rounds and proved much quicker than his heavier opponent. During the last two or three rounds Herman roughed things a bit and took advantage of his weight and probably had a shade the better of the argument at the finish.

Draw was all anybody could have called the bout.

In the semi-windup, Referee Francis missed the decision several times. Murphy outpointed Willis in nearly every round and clearly was entitled to the decision.

The Denver star showed several bundles of class from start to finish and had Willis in a bad way on more than one occasion. Stanley's ability to take a lacing won him the plaudits of the fans when the battle was over.

Gorman Punches Steadily.
Joe Gorman struck a tartar in his ten-round session with Young Sam Langford, the negro 130-pounder from San Francisco. Sam was there when Joe went after him, and again he was not. He stood up and held his own from round to round, but Gorman kept up his attack, punching and whacking his way to a decision, but knew that he had been in a fight.

Able Gordon, a new comer here, put up a fast four-round scrap, stepping toe to toe at times with a steady exchange of wallops from round to round. Coy shaped up as a clever little battler with a snappy punch, but Able was too smart for him and as the fight progressed took the lead. The bout was called a draw.

The Burns-Trambitas go over the four-round route was a regular rough and tumble affair, with the boxers on the floor plying business and opportunities to increase and improve the business that the owner would receive.

"The Fortune Hunter" is an adaptation of the famous stage play by Winchell Smith. The title role is Nathaniel Dunham, the youth who leaves the city to go to a small town and hunt up an heiress.

His old roommate, who has mapped out the scheme, has instructed Dunham to first locate the town gossip, get all the facts about the town, then get a job where he won't have to soil his hands. After that, he argues, it will be easy to win the heiress.

Dunham gets a job as clerk in the town's poorest drugstore. Before long he is still looking plenty, covers a dozen ways to make the store better and more successful. His friends view him as a success story, but the old drugstore would have been blind against, because of having been near them too long.

Dunham wins the heiress, but a lot of things happen to change his scheme.

Screen Gossip.
Three pictures were passed upon at the first meeting of the new board of censors held the first of this week. They were "Dr. Jekyll and Mr. Hyde," "Columbus," "Thomas a Meligan" and "Gloria Swanson, 'Why Change Your Life?'"

ONE of the scientific rules developed in late years by efficiency experts provides much of the dramatic-comedy element in the latest feature, "The Fortune Hunter," which will open at the Peoples' theater. The picture shows that often an outsider can step into a store or other place of business and see opportunities to increase and improve the business that the owner would receive.

Getting back to main number, there was no whirlwind for action but there was plenty of hard fighting crammed in the ten rounds and had that McKinstry's likely looking protégé got in and roughed it the first seven rounds like he did the last three the result might have been different. The longer the bout, the better Herman got and along in the ninth he hit McKinstry's chin.

Herman made an exceptionally good showing for a green youngster as he is still looking plenty. Burns and the more experienced all went down to defeat before Frank's crushers and Hugh Walker, a real boxer, took a good lacing recently.

LEONARD TO FIGHT HERE
ABOUT SET FOR JUNE 21 DURING SHRINE WEEK.

Opponent Not Yet Selected; Ten-Round Go to Be Held Under No-Decision Class.

Billy Gibson, manager of Benny Leonard, lightweight champion of the world, came to an agreement yesterday with the Portland boxing commission and Mattie O'Brien, promoter for the appearance here of the champion against the best opponent available on June 21 during Shrine week convention. A formal contract will be mailed to Gibson, who returned to Los Angeles last night.

The only remaining questions are as to an opponent and a referee. The bout will go ten rounds to no-decision, as Leonard's contract with the moving picture corporation, with which he is appearing stipulates that he shall not take part in a decision contest until six months after the film is completed.

Charley White, Irish Patry Cline, Lew Tendler, Harvey Thorpe, Willie Jackson or any other man in the game is acceptable to Leonard and Gibson. Leonard won the world's title in a ten-round no-decision match with Freddie Welsh, won the American championship in a no-decision battle with Richie Mitchell and knocked out Johnny Kilbane in a scheduled no-decision affair.

MULTNOMAH PLAYS DENTISTS
East Northern Pacific College Nine to Be Met Today.

The Multnomah Amateur Athletic club nine will play its first game of the season this afternoon on the Winged M diamond when Coach Alex. Donaldson's men meet the fast North Pacific Dental college team. Most of the players on the Winged M team have been selected from the Sunday morning baseball league to train and have had several weeks of pre-season training. Billy Williams will start on the mound for the clubmen, while Joe De Boest will be behind the bat. Billy Steppe and Tom Loutitt will also be on the club line-up.

State Committeemen and Proxies Meet Today.

Between proxies and committeemen there was a busy working quorum of the democratic state committee at the Multnomah at 2 o'clock today. The order of business is to ask Harvey G. Starkweather for his resignation from the executive committee, declare the chairmanship vacant and elect a new committee head.

Chagrin invaded the editorial offices of Sunset magazine, down in San Francisco, when it was discovered that an advertisement regarding "The Making of Herbert Hoover," an article now appearing serially, had stated that the friends of all the Belgians received his education in Portland. As a matter of fact the youthful Herbert went to school in Newburg and Salem. Charles K. Field, editor of Sunset, collaborated with Rose Wilder Lane in the production of the Hoover biography, and the instalments are

HOUSECLEANING EXPECTED.

Apparently the object of the special meeting of the state committee is to do a little housecleaning. Some committeemen consider it rather unethical for Mr. Starkweather, as state chairman, to be a candidate against Senator Chamberlain without resigning. The position taken by Mr. Starkweather is that he has already resigned and that the committee should ratify the resignation.

Where Walter M. Pierce stands in the controversy is not known, as he had a brief talk with Mr. Myers yesterday afternoon and later announced that it is imperative for him to be on his farm, but that he would take the train last night for home. Mr. Pierce, by the way, is a candidate for the state central committee. He is also a candidate for the party nomination. Mr. Myers, who is a candidate for the party nomination, is also a candidate for the party nomination.

ROW REPORTED SPREADING.

The row in the democratic party is spreading. Report comes that W. T. Vaughn, who is a candidate for the party nomination, is also a candidate for the party nomination.

PAPER FORCED TO RAISE PRICE.

HOQUIAM, Wash., April 30.—After standing out as one of the last 8-to-12-page daily papers of the west to sell for 60 cents a month, the Daily Washingtonian has yielded to high paper and production cost, in announcing a raise to 75 cents a month.

TWO MEN WHO WERE DROWNED WHILE FISHING AT OREGON CITY.

The two men left Portland at an early hour Thursday morning and drove by automobile to a boathouse operated by H. C. Frisbie, located on the east side of the river at Oregon City.

Mr. Frisbie reported renting a boat to a man named Thomas at about 5 A. M. The description of the man and his companion as given by Mr. Frisbie when found and one oarlock was torn away.

Auto Found in Search.

The search which was started by friends yesterday revealed the automobile near the boathouse, where it had been left.

Although not related, the two men had been friends since boyhood. David B. Thomas lived with his widowed mother at 320 East Twentieth street, North and his companion, Evan R. Thomas, lived at 1346 East Nineteenth street, South. He was married and, besides his widow, is survived by a daughter, 18 years old.

GENERAL WILLISTON DEAD

Retired Army Officer Passes Away at San Diego.

Edward B. Williston, brigadier-general, U. S. A., retired, of 560 East Fifty-seventh street, died in San Diego, Calif., where he had been spending the winter, on Saturday, April 24, according to word received yesterday. He was 84 years of age and had been a resident of this city for the past 12 years.

JOE LOMBARDI RELEASED

White Slavery Charge Dropped When Witness Disappears.

On motion of Defense Attorney Goldstein, Federal Judge Bean Friday dismissed the criminal indictment against Joe Lombardi, alleged white slaver, and ordered the defendant released from custody. The sudden termination of the white slavery charge came at the opening of court yesterday afternoon when the case against Lombardi was called for trial.

With the jurors ready to be selected, it was found that the prosecuting witness, Miss Helen Spencer, was not in the city and the prosecuting officials did not know of her whereabouts. It was impossible to proceed without her, as she was the only material witness against the defendant.

FISHING NOT ALL FUN

Members of Portland Police Force Have Narrow Escape.

Police Lieutenant Thatcher and Officers Bales and Clements of an auto theft bureau reported yesterday that the salmon could stay in the river instead of being taken to the table. The officers had an experience they had bucking the rapids in the vicinity of Rock Island Thursday night, in which their boat was twice carried down the river and narrowly escaped crashing on the rocks. They returned to Portland yesterday morning without fish and sadder and wiser men.

REALTY MEN AID PHILPOT

CONFIDENCE IS EXPRESSED IN INTEGRITY OF ACCUSED.

Life Here for Six Years Upright and Services Will Be Retained by Present Employers.

Members of the Portland Realty board, at the regular weekly luncheon yesterday, expressed their belief in the integrity of Everett Philpot, who was recently arrested on warrant from Nashville, Tenn., and now is out on $1000 bail. A resolution was adopted praising the honesty and upright character of Philpot during his six years' residence here, and suggesting that every effort be made to allow him to pay back the money which it is assumed he secured wrongfully in Nashville.

Philpot has been living here with his family under the name of E. M. Padden. He was employed for a time by the Simon Salvage company and as salesman for the Frank McGuire company. Several months ago he joined the Metzger-Parker-Perguson company as manager of the house sales department.

The resolution adopted by the realty board was accompanied by a strong letter from the Simon company, endorsed by both McGuire and the Metzger-Parker-Perguson company. Mr. Philpot will retain his present position with the firm, said Mr. Ferguson.
