

GIRL FIGHTS TO BE FREED FROM MOTHER

Flossie Orchard Alleges Insults by Step-Father.

HABEAS WRIT IS SOUGHT

Mother Asserts Legal Charge of Child by Virtue of Divorce Granted at Yakima.

Sensational charges marked the bitter flight of 15-year-old Flossie Orchard yesterday to prevent being sent back, through habeas corpus proceedings instituted in the court of Circuit Judge Taxwell, to the home of her mother from which she ran away last November.

That she was compelled to accept the attentions and caresses of soldiers, that she was insulted by her stepfather and uncle in her mother's home and that her life was unhappy before she fled to the home of her paternal grandmother in Portland, where her father is paying for her care, was the story told by the girl, an unusually attractive child, on the witness stand.

On the stand the girl said that her mother received the attentions of soldiers continually and compelled her to stay up until 2 and 3 o'clock in the morning and accept caresses of these "soldier boys, particularly one favored youth by name of Francis Keasinger, who bought her shoes, a coat and other clothing without protest from her mother. She said she voluntarily ran away to stay with her grandmother, Mrs. Josephine Orchard of Portland, after her mother had locked doors, nailed down windows, and thrown her to bed with the admonition to "stay there."

"Don't you think I would go back to your mother and be happy, Flossie?" Judge Taxwell asked. "No, sir, I don't think I would like to live with my mother," was the prompt reply. She added quickly, "But I would like to go to the college at this time, particularly Glenn; he's crippled. It was funny the way my mother used to whip him. I'd like to see him again."

A. C. Allen is attorney for the girl and her father; G. A. Johnson for the mother.

SCHOOL FETE GALA EVENT

MOUNT TABOR CHILDREN HOLD MAY DAY FESTIVAL.

Preceded by Trumpeters, Fairy Queen Installed on Throne to View Play of Subjects.

May-day festivities at the Mount Tabor schools yesterday were a resumption of a pre-war annual event, put aside during the period of war activities because neither pupils nor teachers felt the festival spirit necessary to the perfect enjoyment of celebrations. Over 600 children, all the enrolled pupils in the Mount Tabor school, participated in the May day party. Preceded by six small trumpeters, the fairy queen led a lengthy procession composed of all the school children. Then she seated herself on a flowerly throne, her attendants grouped around her, and reviewed the games, dances and May pole dance intoned in by her subjects. The queen was pretty little Mary Pick, chosen from the graduating class. Her maid of honor was Lillian Hood and four cunning little boys from the primary grades were pages, while fair we maid were the queen's flower girls.

school provided spacious room for the various events, and the throne commanded a view of the entire field of busy children, clapped all about the place were the members of the audience, made up of parents and other relatives and friends of the school children.

The program consisted of folk dances, "The Little Blackbird," by children in the primary grade, another series of folk dances, "Danish Dance of Greeting," and the "Peter Pan Gavotte" by children of the intermediate grades, and the May day pole dance, admirably presented by girls from the older grades. Their hair bows matched in color the ribbons they wore in pretty design as they danced around three May poles.

RADICAL OUTBREAK NOT EXPECTED HERE

Federal and City Officials Ready for Emergency.

ALL ASKED TO MEETING

Americanism Programme to Be Staged in Public Auditorium. Aliens Invited.

So far as Portland is concerned, federal authorities do not anticipate radical demonstrations today—when the advent of May is presumed to bring a day of direct action to the pacifist bolshevik and the alien "red."

"I have learned of no plan to make tomorrow a day of radicalist demonstration in Portland," said United States District Attorney Humphreys, "and am certain that nothing of the sort is afoot—whatever the situation may be in other cities. At any rate, we are always prepared for trouble."

Tonight at the public auditorium the day will be rechristened as American day—and be dedicated to quite different purposes than those for which the alien propagandists intend it. The meeting of citizens from Portland Heights to St. Johns is to express some sentiments that are still prevalent—concerning the transformation of aliens into Americans and the meaning of patriotic principles. It is sponsored by the Portland Service league and all are asked to attend.

Mayor Ready for Outbreak. Radical demonstrations and meetings will not be countenanced in Portland today, according to Mayor Baker.

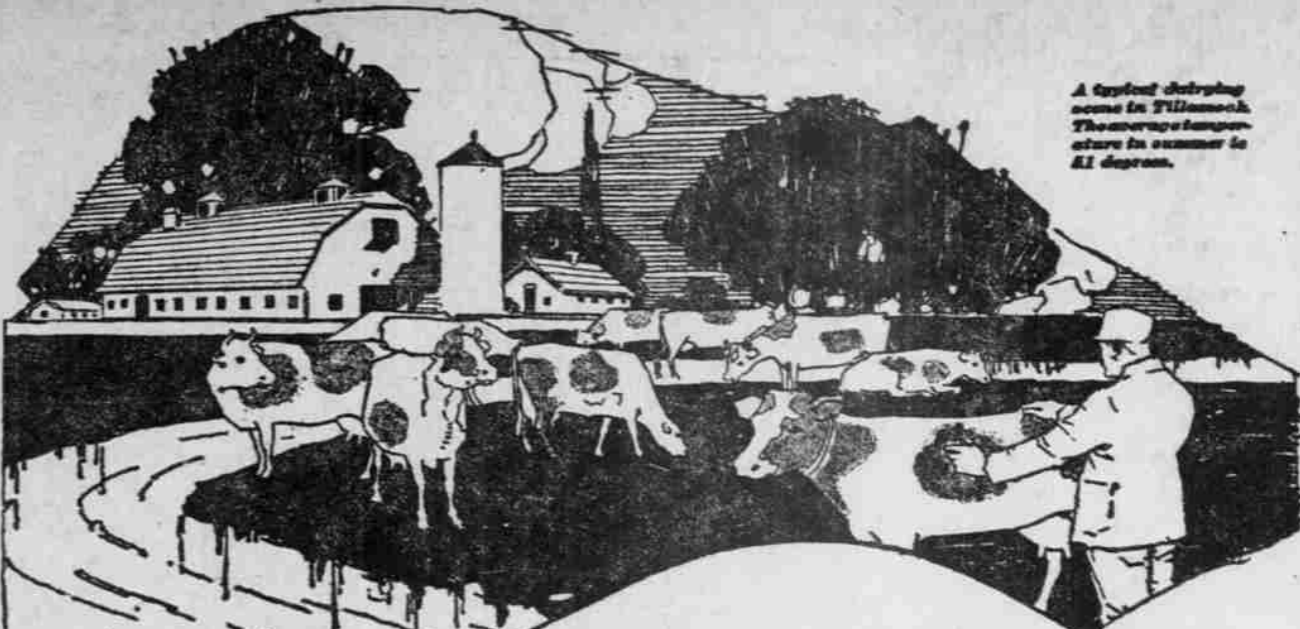

Yesterday officers of the Portland Service league, the organization which is conducting the American day programs in Portland, circulated invitations among the shipyard, the northern part of the city and placed such invitations in the hands of all the radicals who could be found.

"If there is any radical or any person, particularly one who has not been naturalized as an American citizen, who has not received a personal invitation," said Ira L. Riggs, president of the league, "let him consider himself invited."

The meeting at the Auditorium tonight is arranged for the particular benefit of radicals and of foreigners. Our speaker, Dr. Pence, is ready to talk Americanism right from the shoulder.

Post to Provide Amusement.

A typical dairy scene in Tillamook. The average temperature in summer is 61 degrees.

An ideal dairy country

Evergreen pastures, pure mountain water, temperate climate make Tillamook ideal for dairying. The summers—when most of the cheese is produced—are pleasantly cool, of a temperature about the same as the old spring house on the farm where grandmother kept her butter and milk.

Tillamook dairymen are constantly improving their herds. They asked to have a special law enacted for Tillamook County, which makes necessary the regular, rigid testing of every cow for health.

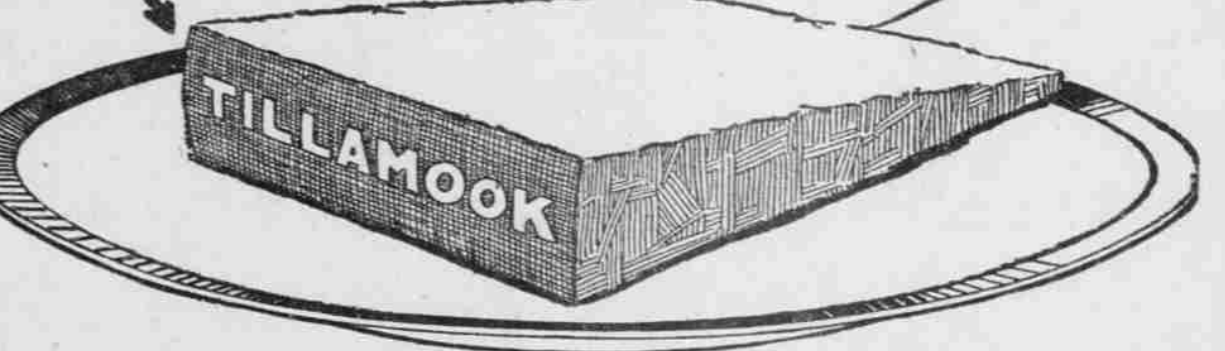

When you see Tillamook on the rind, it means that the quality goes back to the very source of supply.
