SEATTLE, Wash., May 4 -- (Special.) -Paddy Siglin, just returned from a brief sojcurn in the majors, beat Scattle in the opening game of the Portland series today. The score, four runs to nil. Wait McCredie's energetic second sacker was not con-tent with smacking out three twotent with smacking out three two-base hits and driving in three of the Beaver's scores. He had to race back of second base 15 yards and drag down Hartford's Texas leaguer at a time when the hit would have scored one of the two Seattle runners then on the paths, and possibly led to furter run getting by the clan of Siglin further distinguished himself by handling nine chances without a slip, and some of the raps which the hitters bounced his way were exceedingly hard balls to handle. The opening day crowd didn't get much of an opportunity to size up Nephew Walter's ball club, because everybody

They did get a look at Mac's best pitcher, Suds Sutherland, who let the Rainier's down with two hits and a scratch. But Suds didn't have as easy an afternoon workout as the score would indicate, as he waxed wild toward the close, and during the last four innings Manager Walter was pacing the dugout in a nervous man-ner. But, thanks to Siglin's circus stuff, Sutherland pulled through without any runs counting, turning in the first win the Portland club has succeeded in coralling in seven games. Seattle Shy on Hits.

Aside from the pernicious activities of Siglin, it was the batting slump of the home club which beat them. Ware's boys have not been getting their base blows often enough for a team that has tagged for a first division berth. The score
