

REGARDS OF OREGON CAUCUSES REVEALED

Individuals Put Under Lens by C. C. Chapman.

SOME LIKED, OTHERS NOT

Work and Merits of Various Legislative Candidates Discussed by Close Observer.

Not through a glass darkly, but as though he had each individual candidate under the lens, does C. C. Chapman, in the current issue of the Oregon Voter, discuss the records and merits of the various legislative candidates for re-election...

To Multnomah county, regardless of whether the individual agrees or disagrees with Mr. Chapman's deductions and conclusions, his lively, logical presentation of legislative candidates for re-election, will create interest and reflection.

Robert S. Farrell Approved. Of Robert S. Farrell, who seeks return to the state senate, the Voter concludes his summary with the following: "On the whole, he made an exceptionally good record, having presented him as progressively inclined, with an active sympathy to break legislation."

"Introduced practically all the child welfare legislation that has been enacted in Oregon in recent years," comments the Voter, in discussing Mr. Farrell. "He has been a factor in obtaining enactment."

"Lukewarm for good roads; voted for all bonding bills," the Voter says of Mr. Farrell. "He has supported legislation intended to cripple state highway commission."

Herbert Gordon Appraised. Here is the first paragraph of Chapman's appraisal of Herbert Gordon, representative, who seeks re-election: "Gordon is the recognized leader of those forces of the legislature who were favorable to protection of honest business."

Continuing, the Voter says that Representative Gordon, as chairman of the ways and means committee, "demonstrated his business grasp of the financial problems of the state."

Also portrayed as a positive figure in the legislature, the Voter says that Representative O. W. Hofstad, candidate for re-election, "was respected by his colleagues as a reasonable man of sound judgment and firm convictions on fundamentals."

Concerning R. Howell, state senator, candidate for re-election, the Voter says that he "was respected by his colleagues as a high-minded, fair-minded, quiet and modest; not regarded as aggressive or especially forceful."

Mr. E. Kubli is Praised. The character of the anti-syndicalism bill, modestly declining personal renown in order that principles might go forward, altogether a worthy legislative cavalier, is Representative E. Kubli, by the Voter's estimate. "No man in the legislature, not even exciting Gordon, has better supported or used better judgment."

Two Out for Treasurer. ABERDEEN, Wash., May 4.—(Special.)—Harold Jones, employed in the office of the county treasurer, has announced that he is resigning to accept the position of treasurer of the county. Mr. Jones is the second one of the employees of the treasurer's office to resign.

Drainage District Formed. ABERDEEN, Wash., May 4.—(Special.)—Drainage district No. 2 was formed Saturday by a vote of the property owners interested in the Andrew Smith dairy farm. The vote was unanimous in favor of the project, which will drain about 995 acres of Montano. All of the land is suited to farming and some to berry growing.

The vote was unanimous in favor of the project, which will drain about 995 acres of Montano. All of the land is suited to farming and some to berry growing.

election as representative, was "active in reformation of county court and probate court procedure," but "did not exert much influence except on the few measures in which he was especially interested."

McFarland Against Freck Laws. C. C. McFarland, candidate for re-election as representative, is presented as having "demonstrated extraordinary courage in working and voting for bill prohibiting exclusively foreign liquor in apartment houses."

DAY ON DESERT LEADS TO VAUDEVILLE SKETCH. Sand, sagebrush and sunshine faced Kathryn LaVelle. "What a scene for comedy sketch," she writes to Jack Housh, Miss LaVelle's partner in the comedy.

Information to be Asked. Just to determine if the apartment house operators will force the passage of the ordinance, the committee will probe the data submitted and determine if any profiteering exists among those who refused to allow the special committee of eight to investigate the relation of the building code with the rent situation and recommend any revision of the ordinance.

Committee Is Named. A committee composed of D. E. Nickerson, president of the Central Labor council, Mrs. L. Othus, president of the Housewives' league, and A. L. Veazie, appointed by the circuit judges of Multnomah county, was named to investigate the relation of the present building code with the rent situation and recommend any revision of the ordinance.

Old-Time Politics Played. "Is on record as believing in playing the old-fashioned political game of rewarding his friends and punishing his enemies, and this concept of public service runs through his legislative career."

Moser devoted himself meticulously to perfecting a voting record which would assist him politically. The result is that he voted for many measures which he did not support by his influence and which lacking his powerful support failed of passage.

On labor legislation, Moser has taken an active part and in no small measure is responsible for passage of the principle constructive legislation on labor.

Capability is Recognized. "Except when there was some political object to attain he has opposed freck legislation. At that, he voted for the vicious Thomas anti-business bill and also for the municipal bill which usually he can defend any of his votes with knowledge and plausibility, but he has never defended these votes on any ground of alleged merit."

An extraordinarily capable man, yet not a politician, he has been a forceful and effective supporter of all good roads legislation. Missed few roll calls; never dodged; a fearless voter.

When to legislature with reputation as bold, daring knight-errant; on top of this won reputation for keen, quick judgment and for effective floor tactics and debating ability.

D. C. Lewis Clever Debater. The character of Representative D. C. Lewis, candidate for election as state senator, is an exact portrayal of the "damning with faint praise," for Mr. Lewis is depicted as a clever debater and active dodger, so mercenary and evanescent that while he entertained his colleagues, none knew where he stood. He enters the Voter's hall of fame of acting as "a safe dodger," and "author of freck measures and joke bills."

Ex-Speakers Seek Election. Two former speakers of the house are candidates for nomination to the legislature. Frank Davey of Salem, who presided over the house in 1917, is seeking a nomination at the hands of the voters of Marion county, and E. Y. Carter, who also has been a speaker, is a candidate for the house in Jackson county.

FORGER FOUND GUILTY. William McKay Said to Have Committed Crime During Parole. William McKay was found guilty by a jury in the court of Circuit Judge Gatens yesterday afternoon on a charge of forgery.

RESPONSE TO FIX COURSE

Committee of Eight, Named for Investigation of Need of Ordinance, Holds Meeting.

Fate of Mayor Baker's anti-rent profiteering ordinance, now pending investigation into the rent situation of Portland, depends entirely upon the attitude of apartment house owners and lessees.

Although at least two of the members stood opposed to any legislation to control rents, claiming that other methods would be more effective and satisfactory, as quickly as the report made by the special investigating committee had been read, refusing to disclose their books to the committee, it became evident that legal authority to force such disclosure was favored by the majority of the committee of eight.

Use Cocoanut Oil for Washing Hair If you want to keep your hair in good condition be careful what you wash it with. The soap and prepared shampoos contain too much alkali. This dries the scalp, makes the hair brittle, and is very harmful. Multisud cocoanut oil shampoo, which is pure and entirely greaseless, is much better than anything else you can use for shampooing, as this can't possibly injure the hair.
