FIGHT ON COSTS WANTED

Price Investigation and Co-operation of Capital and Labor in Production Advised.

NEW YORK, May 9 .- (Special.)-The average citizen who casts his vote and is not usually heard has written a platform. More than 7000 planks were submitted in the New York Tribune's republican platform contest. From them the judges have secelected a prize platform of ten planks, representing the ten issues that received the greatest number of votes. For the best plank $500 was awarded, for the second best $250. For each of the eight next best $100, and for the best letter written during the contest, $100.

Ten Pinnks in Pintform.

The following platform of ten planks was written by conestants in the Tribune's republican platform conthe Tribune's republican platform contest. The ten issues were determined by votes cast during the contest. Four additional planks were chosen, because the judges believed that the issues they represented were essential. The order in which the planks appear is according to the vote.

Capital and labor—We recognize as indisputable the right of labor is organize and to bargain collectively but not to strike when such action but not to strike when such action violates the law or menaces public welfare. To protect the nation as a whole from injury by controversies which concern directly only a small minority, we pledge the enactment of lagislation to increase the account. legislation to increase the accountability of both unions and employers and to compel the arbitration of those disputes which affect the production and distribution of the necessaries of life.—W. R. Fishre, Princeton, N. J.

Safeguards for U. S. Urged.

Foreign relations—(First prize.)—
We believe that the United States has an international duty, but we do not believe in internationalism. The republican party has favored and still favors the immediate ratification of the treaty of peace, but with such reservations as will safeguard our traditions and interests. We are not onnessed. traditions and interests. We are not opposed to a league of nations where international law may be codified and disputes arbitrated, but we are unalterably opposed to the league of nations in its present form. The interests of the world and ourselves deests of the world and ourse ves demand that we continue our policy of avoiding entangling alliances.—Ray-mond C. Ellis, 177 Montague street, Americanization-It is impossible for us to expect the automatic as-similation of a large alien population. Americans can best be made by education. Accordingly, the republican party advocates the extension of Americanization work among our aliens by the enactment of laws realiens by the enactment of laws requiring, as a condition precedent to admission to citizenship, attendance upon a school, maintained at public expense, where the alien would receive instruction in the English language and citizenship for the period between his declaration of intention and his examination for admission to citizenship.—A. A. Gross, 44 Neal street, Portland, Or.

Universal Training Favored.

National defense—The republican party, believing that the rights and privileges of citizenship carry with American flag.—William E. Ecker, the plea of Defense Attorney R. F. them duties and obligations, favors a 750 Broad street, New York city. system of universal military training modeled upon the Swiss system.—

Mabel F. Yeomans, Cornell university.
Cost of living.—The cost of living is rapidly threatening the 'national safety and is one of the chief-causes of the growing spirit of unrest. We favor a thorough investigation of the causes of high prices and pledge our party to do its utmost to reduce them party to do its utmost to reduce them. We appeal to capital and labor to work together in harmony for increased production. This is without doubt the first step that should be taken to lower the cost of living.—Ruth L. Benjamin, 46 West Eightythird street, New York city.

Power Usurpation Rapped.

The constitution—This republic is a government of checks and balances and or distributed powers, and it cannot truly function without a faithful observance of this principle. We condemn the usurpation of power exercised by the executive during the Wilson regime and piedge ourselves to restore to the different branches of government their true canstitutional power.—Richard Marlowe Ellnira Power Usurpation Rapped. ower.-Richard Marlowe, Elmira, New York.

Bolshevism. (Second prize.) — The republican party realizes that the country should not be stampeled by passion or prejudice into any too pre-cipitate action against radical forces. The right of free speech and assembly should be jealously guarded. In pros-ccuting radical agitators, the consti-tutional distinction between parties advocating revolutionary change with the use of force and those advocating evolutionary change by constitutional methods should be recognized.—Ernest M. Spaulding, 28 Richardson Hall, Dartmouth.

Education Secretary Wanted. Education—The republican party favors the establishment of a national department of education, with a sec-retary of education, who shall have a department of education, with a secretary of education, who shall have a place in the president's cabinet.—Cyrus G. Milne, 2926 Fulton street, Woodhaven, Long Island.

Conservation—We advocate co-operation between national and state governments to safeguard the supply of natural wealth for future generations and to guarantee economy in its use for present needs. Specifically, we tavor more extensive irrigation and reclamation, instruction in the rotation of crops and in efficient agricultural methods, regulations to insure less waste in the extraction of minerals, more adequate prevention of forest fires, utilization of water power for fuel, and improvement of waterways to render them navigable. The federal government should also exercise greater care in the disposition of lands, so that only legitimate sottlers may be accommodated.—J. W. Friedman, 26 New York avenue, Brooklyn, New York.

Taxation—The republican party advocates the repeal of all war taxes that kill initiative, as well as the spreading of our war debt over a long term of years, and we pledge the party to the development and execuspreading of our war debt over a long term of years, and we piedge the party to the development and execution of a plan for the reduction of taxation. We further advocate such a reduction in the cost of administration as will make possible the reduction of taxation which we promise.—

C. A. Lemmers, budget and efficiency commissioner, State House, Denver.

The four additional planks are as follows:

Tariff—We urge the return to the policy of a protective tariff. We be-

Mexican question-To secure from infringement the rights of Americans in Mexico and to render our southern border safe from attack are among the first duties of the government. To this end we believe a definite policy uniformly asserted far more effectual than neglect alternated with unsup-ported threats. If armed intervenported threats. If armed intervention seems the only method certain to maintain American rights, then intervention should be thorough and complete.—A. T. Otis, White Plains, N. Y. Budget—Expenditures of the government should be determined upon and made in accordance with a regulated system, and not haphazard, as they have been heretofore. We, therefore, pledge ourselves to establish a budget syste mof expenditures, so that the finances of the government may be administered in accordance with recognized business principles.—H. G.
