his explanation was not considered a good one. It was when the two Japanese racers came before him that the judge's lingual talents were taxed, and he had to resort to pidgin English in an attempt to get the information he sought.

Why you go so fast? he asked the two. They only replied by broad Oriental smiles and the declaration that they were going to a picnic. I lead once, he lead once, declared Makino when asked who won the race.

Tony Sinay, farmer living near Cornelius, was told to check his automobile at the city limits in the future and walk into town when he appeared before the judge to answer to a charge of reckless driving. To make certain that he would not drive again inside the limits of Portland the judge assessed a fine of $50 and suspended payment on condition that he would not bring his automobile inside the city.

Driver Chased by Police. Sinay was arrested by Patrolman Stone after the driver had struck W. O. Maddox, 1045 Grand avenue, and an automobile in the attempt to avoid running into a street car at Twelfth and Washington streets. Mr. Maddox was badly bruised.

Patrolman Stone said that he ordered Sinay to report to the police station, but that the man instead continued on up the street and he had to chase him in a commandeered automobile to place him under arrest. On the way to the police station, the policeman said, Sinay narrowly escaped having another collision.

Sinay explained that he intended to report to the police station after he had left some passengers at a certain address. Other traffic violators fined included: G. H. Blackman, speeding, $10; O. WILLAMETTE ALUMNI DINE

$1,000,000 ENDOWMENT HINTED WITHIN TWO YEARS. Success of Present Campaign for $100,000 Said to Mean Future Generous Donations.

That Willamette university will have at least $1,000,000 in endowment within two years if its friends in the northwest show their interest and faith in the institution now by pledging for it during the present campaign the $100,000 for which subscriptions are to be taken probably next week, was the declaration made by A. F. Fiegel, chairman of the executive committee, at the annual meeting and dinner of the alumni last night in the First Methodist Episcopal church.

"I am not at liberty to make public facts appertaining to the Mr. Fiegel, but I can tell you, without going into details, that if the friends of Willamette university give us this $100,000 within two years this school is going to be so big that it will be able to do its work in a way that will be perfectly won."

"All that is needed is for us to show to the world that we are interested in the future of our university. If this is done, others, Methodists among them, but some not Methodists, will be ready to help out the school on a very large basis, with new and fully modern buildings."

James Crawford was toastmaster of the dinner. The programme was under direction of the Portland chapter of Willamette alumni and the number present taxed the capacities of the church to the limit. Others who spoke included Dr. Carl Gregg, secretary of the board of trustees; Edward L. Wells, president of the Layman's association, and Fred Lockley. The quartet rendered selections during the evening.

Fisher's BLEND BRAND FLOUR

for every purpose

Costs More Per Sack Costs Less Per Loaf

This trade phrase which we have adopted tells, in a nutshell, why the housewife should buy Fisher's BLEND FLOUR.

It may cost you a few cents more per sack because it costs us just that much more to produce.

It costs you less per loaf because actual baking tests, scientifically made, demonstrate that it bakes more and larger loaves of better bread to the given amount than other flours.

Made of choicest Eastern Hard Wheat and the choicest of Western Wheats Fisher's BLEND is a perfect flour for every purpose—as good for cakes and pastry as for bread.
