Clerks and Bellboys Aid "Injured" Guest on Arrival at Philadelphia Hotel.

PHILADELPHIA, May 11.—(Special.)—A whole appearance indicating that he had been the victim of a serious automobile accident and hobbling painfully on a pair of crutches, with his face criss-crossed with courtplaster and his feet in bandages, a young man entered the Bellevue-Stratford hotel at 10 o'clock Monday morning.

Clerks, bellboys and every one within reach of the stranger did their best to assist him. He signed the name of the Bellevue-Stratford, N. J., on the register and was assigned to room 738. He explained that his wife would arrive on a later train.

Before he entered the elevator and as if with an afterthought, he turned back to the hotel clerk, Richard Jones, and asked if he knew of a good jewelry establishment in the city.

The clerk, assisted by several of the hotel employees, was orderly escorted to his room.

Shortly after 10 o'clock in the afternoon Bailey, Banks & Biddle reported to the police that they had broken into a hotel room at 738 on Broadway and had stolen a large quantity of jewelry.

The police, who were alerted by the report, immediately proceeded to the hotel and searched for the jewelry.

Mr. Wilson Signs Amendment Affecting Interned Germans.

WASHINGTON, May 11.—President Wilson today signed a bill amending the deportation laws so as to make it possible to deport a larger number of other aliens who were interned during the war as enemy aliens.

The bill amends the law so that emergency laws and those merely held on presidential warrants of arrest are not to be held on deportation on the order of the secretary of labor after hearings. Aliens so deported would be barred from re-admission to the United States.

Enactment of this law was asked of congress by Attorney-General Palmer nearly a year ago.

DEPORTATION RULING LETS REDS ESCAPE

Syndicalism Fugitives Flee Outside of State.

FEDERAL CHARGE DROPPED

Bonds for Appearance for 11 Arrangements Likely to Be Canceled Automatically at Washington.

That six leaders in the communist labor party fled from the state to avoid prosecution under the Oregon omnibus law following the failure of deportation proceedings through the interference of Secretary of Labor Wilson is the belief of Walter H. Evans, district attorney, who yesterday learned that all efforts to locate alien radicals for whom state warrants had been issued May 6, 1920, have been fruitless.

Only one of the alien leaders, Herman Schuler, has been taken into custody, and police investigators reported to Mr. Evans yesterday that the others wanted had not been seen about their homes or customary haunts since state authorities began to act.

Victor Saulit, Julia Saulit, Max Schmidt, Augustus Uney, George Haylock and Frank Cusack are others for whom warrants were issued under the state law at the direction of the district attorney as soon as it became evident that federal deportation proceedings would not be successful, due to the ruling of Secretary Wilson that membership in the communist labor party was not sufficient reason for deportation.

Radicals Prefer Deportation.

It is known that three of the leading radicals who have fled from the federal net were extremely desirous of escaping prosecution under the state law, with the five-year sentence of the state law.

"As a matter of fact several have been on the verge of confessing to overt acts against the government to force the federal authorities to invoke deportation proceedings merely to escape prosecution under the criminal syndicalism law of Oregon," said District Attorney Evans last night.

The inability of the police to locate more than one of the seven for whom I issued warrants last week convinces me that they have fled from the state, and that the federal law is too weak to reach them.

Bonds Recently Reduced.

"I intend to insist on a nation-wide search for these reds and to demand that they be extradited to Oregon for trial if captured elsewhere."

While the six radicals were all originally under bonds of $10,000, these were recently, under orders from Washington, reduced to $1000. It is expected that as fast as the government officials reach the individual Oregon cases even these bonds in the sum of $1000 will be cancelled. This is his interpretation of the government's stand in the matter, stated R. T. Bonham, immigration inspector, last night.

It comes about thus that the alleged fugitives, while under $1000 bond to the government, have probably committed no misdemeanor in fleeing the state of Oregon. The bonds, said Mr. Bonham, were only to insure appearance of the radicals in the event they were to be deported. Since they are not to be deported, they probably would not be deported, and would automatically at Washington, regardless of what state the alien leaders are in.
