ANNUAL LENTEN PRESENTATION IS OBSERVED.

White-Robed Choristers of Episcopal Churches March From St. Helen's Hall Sunday.

Preceded by white-robed children choristers singing a hymn and escorted by clergy and cross-bearers, children from Episcopal Sunday schools in the city marched yesterday afternoon from St. Helen's hall to St. Stephen's Episcopal cathedral, on the annual observance of the presentation of Lenten offerings from the various Sunday schools, for mission purposes.

Episcopal churches and missions represented by the marching children were as follows: Montavilla, St. Michael's; Milwaukie, Trinity; Oregon City, St. Philip's; St. Mark's Hillsboro, Woodmen, St. John's Ascension, St. Stephen's, St. David's, Good Shepherd, St. Mark's, Our Savior, All Saints and St. Paul's.

Bishop Walter Taylor Summer gave an address and told the children of the meaning of the day—the birthday of the church—with stories of the historic occasion on which the holy apostles descended upon the apostles.

The meaning of conscience also was illustrated.

Statistics showed the number of Sunday school pupils reported 1145; total Lenten offering $693, total per capita, $1.77; increase over last year's offering, $84. A number of Sunday school children raised their money by mite boxes, others by sales of flowers, bake sales, selling papers, etc.

The per capita banner held last year by St. David's church is awarded for one year to Milwaukie church, with a per capita of $4.45. The church with the largest single offering was Selby Jenkins of St. David's, who made a gift of $17.76; and the bishop's new banner, awarded for the largest amount, $650.50, of Lenten offering, was awarded to St. David's church.
