Berlin Probe Reveals War-time Proposals.

"DISCRETION" IS PRAISED.

Mr. Whitlock Alleged to Have Been Offered $500,000 to Speak for German Rule.

Berlin, May 26.—Colonel E. M. House was recommended to the German foreign office by Count Bernstorff, then German ambassador in Washington when the former made his second trip to Europe early in 1916, as President Wilson's personal representative, according to letters from Ambassador Gottlieb von Jawor, at that time foreign secretary. These letters have been published here with other documents, presented by the parliamentary investigating committee, which recently inquired into President Wilson's peace proposals during the war.

"The mission of Colonel House appears to me desirable, especially as the United States is so poorly represented in Berlin," Count Bernstorff wrote. "Colonel House is wholly neutral, very discreet and dependable. Confiding in his discretion much to the betterment of mutual relations."

Viscount Grey Treatable. A letter from Dr. Soli, minister of colonies, to Dr. von Jawor reported the former's conversation with Colonel House at the American embassy in Berlin late in January, 1918. Colonel House was credited with statements relative to the political situation in England.

President Wilson's emissary was quoted as describing Viscount Grey, then British foreign secretary, as "the most tractable English statesman."

Colonel House is alleged to have told Dr. Soli there was a strong anti-American feeling in Germany at that time and that "Germany was not aware of the extent to which unimportant notes were being exchanged between Washington and London."

Whitlock Offered Large Sum. Mr. Whitlock was quoted as having told Baron von der Laucken he was "offered $500,000 in the United States to go to Berlin and lecture, post and devote himself to a lecture tour in behalf of German rule in Belgium."

New York, May 26.—"Gerard will like that," Colonel House commented here today when shown Berlin dispatches to the effect that Count von Bernstorff at Washington, November, 1915, had recommended House's presidential mission to Germany as "desirable, especially as the United States is so poorly represented in Berlin."

He referred to former Ambassador James W. Gerard, then at the Kaiser's court.

Shipyard Worker Killed. ABERDEEN, Wash., May 26.—(Special.)—James J. Hays, general foreman at the Grays Harbor Motorship company plant, fell or was thrown into the water at 11 o'clock this morning while carrying a pipe up a gangplank to the deck of the steamer Forest King. He died shortly afterward at the Aberdeen general hospital. Hansen's father witnessed the accident. In his fall Hansen is believed to have struck his head against the vessel. He never regained consciousness.

Pendleton First-Class Office. PENDLETON, Or., May 26.—(Special.)—Pendleton's postoffice will have classification as first class after July 1, according to notification received from the department by Acting Postmaster Lester B. Cronin. The stamp plates for the local office during the next year were over $40,000.

How Is Your Weight?

While it is true that too much weight is not to be desired yet the fact remains that many men and women are thin to the point of danger. This danger lies in the fact that a reserve force of nerve power to combat disease is needed by all to feel well and to look well, and this calls up the question of the proper way to gain weight. Physicians and chemists by experiments have shown that the use of increasing the white and red corpuscles in the blood. The administration of 3-grain white and red corpuscle tablets, and this is usually followed by an increase of weight. Obtain in sealed packages, and take for a period of several months, according to directions with package.

WAGNER PICTURE NEWS

"DISCRETION" IS PRAISED.

Mr. Whitlock Alleged to Have Been Offered $500,000 to Speak for German Rule.

Moment from Nazimova's latest success, "The Heart of a Child," showing at the Liberty until tomorrow midnight.

TODAY'S FILM FEATURES. Columbia—Max Murray, in "On With the Dance." Rivoli—Emerson Hough's "The Stage-Struck." Majestic—Elsie Janis, in "The Imp." Peoples—Bryce Washburn, in "Mrs. Tansel's Claimant." Liberty—Nazimova, "The Heart of a Child." Star and Terry Carey, in "Bullet Proof." Circle—Olive Thomas, in "The Spite Bride." Globe—May Allison, "Fair and Warm."

NAZIMOVA must have put much courage, much thought and much hard, discriminating work in "The Heart of a Child," her latest and best production, which is now showing at the Liberty theater. It has been said that there is nothing new under the sun. "The Heart of a Child" proves it, although at the same time it is a new character with a new, fascinating and strikingly different personality that Nazimova enacts. Possibly with the thought in mind that she was acting alone would prove the strength of her production did Nazimova choose as her starring vehicle that which centered about the familiar time-worn plot of a peevish plot of a titled English nobleman falling in love with and marrying an honest and illiterate London dance hall girl. On the screen, of course, such a plot can work out to the satisfaction of all.

The old and the new hand in hand through the entire production. Its opening scenes are in the London streets, where the aristocratic is more or less sincerely distributing alms. But unusual is the action in this scene, which shows the brave wife of a soldier, who is being though inwardly torn with loyal grief, would laugh and jeer in the presence of death and a great personal tragedy rather than show her need of sympathy to the interested, curious on, so obviously has the heart of a child in this moment.

Such is the trend of the entire play which in century-old general shows in new vein and art the century-old human nature cropping out in rich and poor, illiterate and cultured alike.

Unusually good lighting effects have been used in the prologue taken from the century-old general shows in new vein and art the century-old human nature cropping out in rich and poor, illiterate and cultured alike.

Screen Gossip. The Women's City club of New York at a recent luncheon at Hotel Astor, New York, elected a general committee against state censorship of motion pictures. Four hundred members of the club unanimously adopted a resolution which requested the state of Pennsylvania board of censors and cited personal experiences with that body.

Stanford Professor Elected. WASHINGTON, May 26.—(Special.)—To give George L. Burt, wealthy potato broker, a check of $100,000 for his side of the case in regard to agitation which has started in the north end of Deane county against the employment of Japanese labor on his extensive agricultural holdings, the friend commercial club today voted to take no action in regard to the controversy until Mr. Burt appears before the club early in June. The report of a committee now at work drafting anti-Japanese resolutions will be deferred until that time.

Employment of Orientals on Big Holdings at Terrebonne Is Protested. BEND, Or., May 26.—(Special.)—To give George L. Burt, wealthy potato broker, a check of $100,000 for his side of the case in regard to agitation which has started in the north end of Deane county against the employment of Japanese labor on his extensive agricultural holdings, the friend commercial club today voted to take no action in regard to the controversy until Mr. Burt appears before the club early in June. The report of a committee now at work drafting anti-Japanese resolutions will be deferred until that time.

Deputy Constables Quit. Two Refuse Appointments Offered by Peterson's Successor. Fred Rennie, chief deputy constable, and Ed Glos, deputy constable, have refused to accept the appointment of Charles Honeyman, deputy constable, to succeed Constable Mark W. Peterson, resigned.

Divorce Petition Accuses Mrs. Clara Green of Going to Beg Among Shipyard Employees.

Moment from Nazimova's latest success, "The Heart of a Child," showing at the Liberty until tomorrow midnight.

Dickens' famous character, the redoubtable Fagin, had lessons to learn from Mrs. Clara Green, if one is to judge from the divorce complaint filed against her yesterday by Alex Green. At least Fagin confined his educational work to teaching pickpockets and was not known to have leased homes and sold furniture that did not belong to him.

Furniture Sold, Is Charged. The climax of the situation, the complaint recites, was reached when the wife sold the family furniture while Green was away on a trip, and leased their home. She declared she would live with him no longer.

Frank Mayo relates an incident that occurred when he was playing in "The Squaw Man" in the British provinces. He had one scene in which he pleaded with another character in the play to leave "this desolate waste" and go back to England. In a small town in Yorkshire, where they were shooting a one-night stand, using local scenery, Mayo spoke the line, pointing to the back drop, which was a new, fascinating and strikingly different personality that Nazimova enacts.
