

G. O. P. 'DARK HORSES' TROUBLE IN REVIEW

Chances of Coming Under Wire Carefully Considered.

ALLEN FIRST, TAFT LAST

Selection of Kansas Governor in Place of Wood in Nomination Adds to His Prominence.

CHICAGO, Ill., June 6.—(Special.)—The chances of the republican nomination going to a dark horse are at least sufficiently strong to justify a survey of this field to see what the material is.

"Dark horse" is a vague term, to the generous elasticity of which a good many of the four major candidates are entitled.

Ten in Republican Stable. In the present article the term is restricted to men who have some degree of serious possibility.

Allen Given Boost. Always in the back of the heads of the Wood workers seems to be the thought that if they should fall with Wood they would then preserve their front as a block of their delegates as possible to Governor Allen.

Allen Original Progressive. In the working out of the present convention, assuming that it comes to a case of dark horses, the fact that he is to make the nomination speech for one of the principal candidates, ought to give Governor Allen more momentum in the betting than any of the other dark horses.

Butler Has Strong Points. Considering the dark horses alphabetically, the next is Nicholas Murray Butler of New York.

Present Job is a Handicap. Another of Mr. Butler's handicaps is one of those utterly minor and whimsical analogies which frequently have weight until we examine them closely.

impossibility to one that would regard him as an ideal candidate under present conditions.

The next in alphabetical order is Governor Calvin Coolidge of Massachusetts. In the judgment of your correspondent Governor Coolidge is one of the first three possibilities among the dark horses.

Hays Unusually Popular. Next alphabetically comes Will Hays, the national chairman.

Hoover and Hughes Considered. Next, Hoover. Those who are promoting the Hoover candidacy are now focusing their efforts on making a demonstration before the convention in Chicago.

Knox Classes Among First Three. Knox is also among the first three. It is quite possible for the nomination to go either to Lowell or Wood without the name of Knox ever being heard on the convention floor.

Johnson is commonly supposed to be their candidate; and up to a certain point he is, but the irreconcilable has no illusion about the possibility of his being the nominee.

Senator Lenroot of Wisconsin was frequently mentioned as a dark horse some months ago, but his availability before the country at large was impaired by the fact that the faction of the Wisconsin politics with whom Senator Lenroot is identified will be rather decidedly beaten by the La Follette faction.

Senator Miles Poindexter of Washington has the earnest backing of a group of enthusiastic men. The chief of this group behind Senator Poindexter is ex-Senator Jonathan Bourne of Oregon.

Governor William C. Sproul of Pennsylvania has the distinction of having been picked as the most probable nominee on a state observer as William Jennings Bryan, Governor Sproul decidedly is among the dark horse possibilities.

CHICAGO, June 6.—Dr. Nicholas Murray Butler of New York today joined the republican presidential aspirants who have taken personal charge of their convention headquarters.
