Grand jury investigation of the theft from Williamette valley banks of war savings stamps and the subsequent sale of these stamps both in Portland and San Francisco had almost neared completion at the federal building last night.

ral building last night.
Chief-of-Police Jenkins, Chief-of-Inspectors Clark, Captain-of-Inspectors Circle and other police officials and officers appeared before the grand jury during the day. Robert La Salle, police inspector, is being made the subject of a thorough probe because of evidence which has seen submitted showing that he had sold some of the stamps which were stolen from these valley banks. In addition to the grand jury investi-gation, the matter is also being in-quired into by Chief Jenkins. La Salle told Chief Jenkins about selling the war savings stamps as soon as he learned they had been stolen, and doubt that he was in any plot to dispose of the stolen stamps is expressed in official circles. Morris and Jake Silverman, brothers, are alleged to have been the chief agents in disposing of the stolen stamps. Both are under arrest and at liberty under bonds, pending determination by the grand jury in the present investigation.

The war savings stamps had been removed from their original certification. removed from their original certifi-cates and placed on now certificates before they were sold. Silverman has admitted the sale of the stamps, federal officials say, but denied he altered them or knew they had been

That others probably will be implicated in the wholesale distribu-tion of the stamps was admitted at the federal building yesterday.
