WATER PLUNGE IN BULL RUN RESERVE NOT MAPPED.

Photographs of Newly Discovered Cataract Are Brought to Portland.

Photographs of the newly-discovered Mann falls, located on Falls creek in the Bull Run forest reserve and named for City Commissioner John M. Mann, were brought to the city yesterday by James Brinkley, city photographer. Mr. Brinkley spent almost a week within the reserve, three days of which was occupied in reaching the falls, which were located by members of the water bureau's engineering force about 10 days ago. Maps prepared by the government do not show the falls and as far as can be ascertained no present employee of the water bureau has noticed the falls heretofore.

BETTER ROUTE ADVOCATED

BANKS, BURTON AND MANNING DISCUSS ROADS.

Mass Meeting Forms Organization and Pledges Support for Proposed Highway.

BANKS, Or., June 10.—(Special.)—At Bankton, night of June 10, a meeting of the three commercial clubs of Banks, Buxton and Manning, and the Farmers' Union, met to discuss out full of enthusiasm over the "better roads" question. Unanswerable facts were presented proving the timber route would be a highway or market road over an out-of-the-way road and a long way around. From Forest Grove the road should go straight north, according to sentiment and arguments put forth, through Banks and the town of Vernonia and then to Astoria. This latter route is eight miles shorter, 800 feet lower grade, fewer bridges, better road to travel, and a more direct route than the present route to Astoria. The new Portland, Astoria and Pacific railroad being rapidly built through Banks and Buxton to Vernonia will, in a way, eliminate the travel around by what is known as Timber.

HALF-INCH PRECIPITATION AROUND BIG BEND.

Amount of Moisture Thus Far Said to Make Wheat Yield Sure Beyond Any Doubt.

SEATTLE, Wash., June 10.—(Special.)—"Million-dollar rains" have fallen throughout eastern Washington in the last 48 hours, said Fred W. Graham, assistant agricultural development agent of the Great Northern Railway company, on his return today from a business trip to towns on his road's lines between here and Spokane. In the Big Bend country, around Harrington, he says, more than half an inch of rain fell the first week in June, as compared with .05 of an inch in the entire month of June last year. "Half an inch of rain in the Big Bend country means a good wheat crop," said Mr. Graham. The ground was soaked to a depth of eight or ten inches, and farmers of that dry-farming district all agree that if a good rain falls in June spring wheat cannot fail.

$38,688 REQUIRED TO RAISE BUDGET

State Chamber of Commerce Campaign Nears End.

POPULAR NOTE SOUNDED

Julius L. Meier Urges Workers to Renew Exertion in Canvass on Final Day.

POPULAR NOTE SOUNDED

Julius L. Meier, Portland chairman of the Oregon state chamber of commerce campaign, sounded a popular note at yesterday's luncheon of the teams in the Multnomah hotel, when he urged the workers to "finish the job—and do it right." His appeal followed reports of the teams which showed subscriptions of $5442.59 for the day, bringing the total up to date to $21,312.

The goal in Portland is $60,000 a year, which means that $38,688 remain to be subscribed before the quota is reached. The campaign is scheduled to close today.

"We can put this across if we will all stick by it until tomorrow night," said Mr. Meier. "We want the state chamber to be in a position to do the things that are awaiting it to develop Oregon. Publicity is the only way we can let the world know what we have, and it is up to us to finish this job and do it right."

Mr. Meier's talk, after introduction by Charles Hall of Marshfield, president of the state chamber, came as the culmination of a meeting that had much enthusiasm. At their meeting the directors declared their intention to stand by the campaign in Portland and throughout the state until the budget goal had been subscribed to the last dollar. When this message was carried to the workers by President Hall it was greeted with applause and cheering. The directors attended the luncheon in a body and were introduced to the workers. Not all the directors could reach Portland yesterday, but those introduced were: Emory Olmstead, vice-president; Portland; R. A. Brewster, vice-president; Grants Pass; J. T. Rorick, vice-president; The Dalles; C. Clifford Bates, secretary; W. W. Harrah, Pendleton; H. Hirschberg, Independence; George H. McMorran, Eugene; C. C. Chapman, Astoria; W. J. Johnson, Astoria; and the treasurer, J. L. Etheridge, and George Quayle, general secretary.

Alfred A. Aysc division again carried off honors as having reported the biggest amount subscribed. His captain and workers returned a total of $1785 for the day and were again awarded the pennant for the high division. Canvasser results as follows:
