POLICE ESCORT PARTY

Senator Expects to Return Home to Marion, Ohio—Hays to Be Met in Conference.

WASHINGTON, June 14.—Senator Warren G. Harding of Ohio, republican presidential nominee, arrived in Washington at 12:05 this morning from Chicago. The special train, which was nearly two hours behind schedule time, was met by a throng that crowded the Union station.

From the Union station Senator Harding drove up Pennsylvania avenue past the White House. His automobile was flanked on either side by two motorcycle policemen and cars filled with secret service men following immediately behind.

These returning in the special train with him included Senators Lodge of Massachusetts, Smoot of Utah and Poindexter of Washington.

The republican nomination was met at the station by a reception committee and escorted to the president's room of the station. He passed through long lines of people, who vigorously applauded him. As he passed out of the station to his automobile he was greeted with a popular air from the Boy Scout band of Oil City, Pa.

Harding to Confer With Hays

Upon his arrival his home Senator Harding told the Associated Press that while his plans were rather indefinite, he expected to remain in Washington about a week, clearing up pending matters connected with senatorial business. While here he will also confer with Will Hays, chairman of the republican national committee, relative to his campaign.

The date of the conference has not been determined.

From Washington Senator Harding said he would see to his home in Marion, O., where it is planned he will be officially notified of his nomination.

Senator Harding's neighbors gave him a joyful welcome as his automobile drew up to his home. After he and Mrs. Harding had again posed for a flashlight photograph, the senator greeted his neighbors and briefly thanked them for their interest in his reception and the interest they had expressed in him.

Negro Cook Offers Greetings.
Senator Harding's warmest greetings, however, were extended to Whorter, his negro cook, who rushed out of the house to his automobile and before he could descend grasped his hand and shook it vigorously. She also shook hands with Mrs. Harding while her face was wreathed in a broad smile.

The trip from Chicago was uneventful, the senator spending much of the time resting in the train. He had speeches were made by him during the journey. At the station, where he had any statement to make, the senator replied that he had none at this time. He is expected to arrive in his office in the capital tomorrow, where he will give his attention to pending matters.

DAUGHTERS WILL OBSERVE

CHAPTERS TO GIVE FLAG DAY PICNIC AT OAKS.

Mckinley G. A. R., Women's Relief Corps Will Fittingly Observe the Day.

If you are patriotic and would honor Betty Ross and the Stars and Stripes, today is the day to hoist your national banner up in pole and unfurl it to the breeze. Flag day, June 14, is annually observed by the Daughters of the American Revolution, and this year Williams and Multnomah chapters have united in giving picnic at the park of the Children of the American Revolution, at the Oaks. A basket lunch will be served at 1 o'clock, and will be followed with a patriotic program.

Tonight the Elks will hold a patriotic observance of the day at the municipal auditorium.

The day is the anniversary of the adoption of the Stars and Stripes by the continental congress in 1777. At that time the banner differed in that the stars were arranged in a circle on the field of blue.

TEXAS DELEGATES HERE

Travelers Entertained in Los Angeles and San Francisco.

D. W. Micheaux, former president of the Travelers' Protective association, who was instrumental in getting the Texas delegation together, arrived on a special train in Portland yesterday morning at 9 A. M. with more than 125 delegates from that state. The train left Houston June 12 and stopped two days each in Los Angeles and San Francisco, where the Travelers' Protective association and chambers of commerce of the two cities gave them a royal welcome and entertainment. One part of the party assembled at Houston and the other at San Antonio, the two trains later uniting at Houston for their trip to Portland. Howard W. Peake, national president in 1902 of the Travelers' Protective association, is with the Texas delegation. Texas division made the largest percentage of gain in members for the year ending May 1, and now has more than 3700 registered in that state.

Delegates in the Texas delegation are Mr. and Mrs. D. L. Bourland, Mrs. E. R. Davidson, Mr. and Mrs. Eugene Nations and daughter Blanche, Miss Ruby Hale,

DRIVER IS MISSING;
AUTO FLOOR BLOODY

Police Suspect H. Dubinsky Is Murder Victim.

LICENSE TAGS SWITCHED

Brother of Autoist Goes to Police Station to Report Case Just After Car Is Found.

With the tonneau covered with blood, a four-hire automobile owned by Harry Dubinsky, 734 Second street, was found at Eleventh and Burnside streets last night and the police believe that Dubinsky, who has not been in communication with his friends since 12:45 A. M. yesterday, may have been murdered.

Dubinsky's license tags had been taken from the car and a tag stolen from a truck owned by W. W. Marcy, 922 South Ivanhoe street, had been substituted for the rear license number. The front tag was missing from the automobile and that fact first drew attention to the car.

FOUR I. W. W. CONVICTED

SYNDICALISM CHARGED IN ARMISTICE DAY MASSACRE.

Winlock Man Fails to Appear for Trial and Bonds Are Forfeited; Others Released.

CHEHALIS, Wash., June 13.—(Special.)—At 1:30 o'clock this morning the jury that has been hearing the case of the state of Washington against four members of the Industrial Workers of the World on a charge of criminal syndicalism returned a verdict of guilty as charged. The case lasted the entire week.

The accused men are Simon Hill, Charles Brown, Tom Lassiter and Frank Heald. More stands were taken on the morning of the trial, a Winlock young man who was to have been tried with this quartet failed to appear for trial, and Judge W. H. Abel of Grays Harbor, police theory is that assailants struck the driver on the head with the chain, pulled him over the back of his seat, robbed him, and then dumped him into the machine. Evidence supporting this theory was the finding of a pin holder in the tonneau. It was said that Dubinsky wore a diamond stickpin.

W. W. Marcy, whose license tag was found on the car, said the tag was stolen from a truck on which he had rigged a wood saw. Marcy said he had been sick for several days and did not know when the tag had been taken. The police think it likely that the tag was stolen Sunday morning and will institute a search of the St. Johns district for the body today, on the theory that no applications as salarials may have been in that neighborhood when they are believed to have attacked Dubinsky.

Dubinsky Seen by Acquaintance.
Floyd Raze of the North hotel was, as far as the police learned, the last of Dubinsky's acquaintances who saw him. Raze, who also drives a four-hire auto, spoke to Dubinsky at Sixth and Washington streets at 12:45 A. M. yesterday. Raze was then heading for home and Dubinsky was parked at Sixth and Washington. Just previous to that time Dubinsky had taken out two shabby dressed passengers, but had returned after half an hour.

Inspectors Coleman, Collins and Moloney are on the trail of two men answering the description of those two passengers. The two suspects were seen around Eleventh and Burnside streets last night.

The automobile was still warm when the employees of the Manley Auto company noticed it about 5 P. M., and the police think it had just been parked. It was removed to police headquarters about midnight.

Dubinsky is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Dubinsky, who came to Portland from Russia 11 years ago. He drove a jitney for some time, and then worked as a shipping clerk for the Universal Film company here. He purchased his automobile about a month ago, and had paid all of the price except about $400. He is unmarried.

DR. STANSFIELD SPEAKS

"An Adequate Motive for Heroic Things" Is Forefront Topic.

In his first sermon to his congregation following his return from general conference, Dr. Joshua Stansfield last night discussed "An Adequate Motive for Heroic Things," at the First Methodist church. His text was from Matthew xxii-4: "Jesus sent two of his disciples, saying unto them, go into the village over against you, and straightway ye shall find an ass tied, and a colt with the owner, and bring them to me. And if any man say aught to you ye shall say, the Lord hath need of them, and straightway he will send them."

"Not what man do, but why they do it," said Dr. Stansfield, "is the greatest consideration in character and conduct. The motive determines the moral value of an action. Many fall short of the best of life and of living because of inadequate motives. Some because of mixed motives, and some because of unworthy and bad motives. The secret of every truly great character, and of all the greatest movements of life, is found in 'high' motives and purposes."

"In the recent war our government asked for our money-sacrifices, services and our lives, and we gave gladly, and why? Because humanity had need of them and that need was imperious and compelling above all. The high motives of America in entering the war were the secret of the freedom and democracy that we have service ever rendered by any one nation and people to another. The master had need of them."

"Our great centenary movement in the Methodist church. The demands that were made seemed so fabulous and unreasonable—$50,000,000 or more, for advance missionary work at home and abroad. It was at first most foolish and ill-timed, but when we saw what really was the imperative and compelling need in home cities, foreign lands and in war lands, the church heard the words of our Lord, saying, 'If any man ask you of the matter, then, when the master needed, the church gave gladly and with enthusiasm, not $50,000,000, but $115,000,000 for the best gifts and service and philanthropies and for the cause of peace. There must be a large and adequate motive. The master hath need of them.'"

"The master hath need of them," said Dr. Stansfield, "is the greatest consideration in character and conduct. The motive determines the moral value of an action. Many fall short of the best of life and of living because of inadequate motives. Some because of mixed motives, and some because of unworthy and bad motives. The secret of every truly great character, and of all the greatest movements of life, is found in 'high' motives and purposes."

JESTERS WILL INITIATE

Secret Organization of Shriners

Is to Meet.

A secret organization of Shriners inside the Shrine, known as the Jesters, will hold a session Sunday night at the Concordia club. At that time a Jester charter will be granted to Portland and 13 members initiated into the secret fraternity.

Who the 13 will be is taxing Portland Shriners. There is keen competition for the honor, but the Portland members of the committee have not a word to say as to who shall be selected.

W. A. Brown, imperial treasurer, is the high lord-of-all of the Jesters, and W. O. Washburn is second in command.

These men have had scouts in Portland, it was learned yesterday, the past week selecting the lucky or unlucky 13 who are to be initiated. Their names will not be known until just before the dinner Sunday, when they will be summoned somewhat on the line of a fraternity "lap" to the function.

The rules of the Jesters provide for 12 members when the charter is granted, and an additional 13 may be added at every imperial session. But the rule that no applications may be made and every new member must be selected by the Jesters themselves. Hence in Portland, where there are no applications, the desire to be in the organization is keen.

The Jesters are said to be one of the most powerful organizations inside the Shrine.

"I am not a Jester," said W. J. Hofmann, chairman of the Shrine general committee, yesterday. "All I know is that the Jesters have arranged for a dinner at the Concordia club next Sunday night. I do not know how many members it comprises, nor anything about its plans. It is reported to be a secret organization inside the Shrine, but that is as far as my information goes."

SINGLE TAX MEETING SET

Party to Hold National Convention in Chicago July 10.

NEW YORK, June 13.—The single tax party will hold national convention in Chicago beginning July 10, it was announced tonight from national committee headquarters.

The call, which is signed by Robert C. McAuley of Pennsylvania, accuses the democratic and republican parties and the furthering of summary legislation involving communism and paternalism equal in effect to the programme of the socialist party. In favor of the committee of 48, which will hold a conference in Chicago at the same time, will be solicited, it was stated.

SAWYER TRIAL ON TODAY

SEATTLE WOMAN IS CHARGED WITH HUSBAND'S MURDER.

Defendant's Counsel May Offer Plea of Self-Defense as Ground for Acquittal.

SEATTLE, June 13.—(Special.)—Trial of Madge Anna Sawyer, charged with murder in the second degree in connection with the slaying of her husband of one month, Howard L. Sawyer, May 19, begins tomorrow in the superior court.

Sawyer, a young inventor, was shot and killed in front of 2905 Westlake avenue North, after he had left his wife following a violent quarrel on board their power cruiser Hydah, moored in Lake Union. After her arrest Mrs. Sawyer said she shot to frighten him into returning, asserting that he had said he was leaving her for good. Three shots were fired, the third piercing Sawyer's heart.

The police were called to the scene of the shooting, but no one existed, and also a plea of not guilty.

When asking for an order subpoenaing as witnesses for Mrs. Sawyer, Mrs. Bessie Kettle, Sawyer's first wife, her father and former neighbors in Pomeroy, Attorney Hyde last week intimated to Judge Gilliam that he may rely on self-defense for acquittal. It was said yesterday that Mrs. Kettle had not been found yet by Spokane process servers.

Deputy Prosecutor Patterson said today that Mrs. Margaret Thompson, one of his main witnesses, had seen Sawyer throw up his arms and fall and had later seen Mrs. Sawyer returning to the deck of the Hydah.

Major Must Remain Home.
Mayor Baker expects to be "laid up" for several days as a result of the fall which he sustained on the stage 2.

I. H. BUSLER IS ARRESTED

Reed College Engineer Is Charged With Numerous Thefts.

I. H. Busler, 37, for several years an engineer at Reed college, was arrested last night by inspectors Coleman and Collins and charged with larceny. The police say Busler confessed that he had been stealing money and groceries for a year and that he had given most of his loot to a woman friend.

The police were called to the college last night by Professor H. B. Hastings of the college faculty. They searched Busler's locker and say they found some of the stolen goods. Among the things Busler is alleged to have stolen are: $41 cash, a $20 liberty bond and a quantity of groceries from the college kitchen. The police declined to reveal the name of Busler's woman friend, who is not in custody.
