

PARTY'S EXECUTIVE GOVERNMENT

Seven Out of 21 Members Are Women.

OREGON MAN CHOSEN

Ralph E. Williams Gets Place. Ohio Woman Is Selected for Vice-Chairman.

WASHINGTON, June 22.—Management of the national republican campaign was entrusted today to an executive committee of 21 members, headed by Chairman Hays of the party's national committee. Seven women have places on the executive committee.

Announcement of the executive committee, together with the composition of two committees to arrange for the nomination of Senator Harding, the party's presidential nominee, and of Governor Coolidge, vice-presidential candidate, and a two-day conference in which Mr. Harding, Chairman Hays and a special sub-committee of the national committee participated.

Senator Harding received a group of suffragists in his home today, and requested a statement of his position on the suffrage question, declared that while he could not with propriety attempt to force any state to hasten action on the federal suffrage amendment, he would recommend ratification should any state officially seek his opinion.

The party leaders also disregarded precedent in naming seven women as members of the executive committee and in choosing a woman, Mrs. Harriet Taylor Upton of Ohio, as vice-chairman of the committee. This action was taken, it was said, in recognition of the increasing activity of women in politics.

Committee Is Named.

The full membership of the committee was announced as follows: Will H. Hays, chairman; Mrs. Harriet Taylor Upton, Ohio, vice-chairman; John T. Adams, national committee man from Iowa; Clarence B. Miller of Minnesota, secretary of the national committee; Fred W. Upham of Illinois, treasurer of the national committee; H. C. Porter, Ohio, Mrs. Katherine K. Phillips, California; Mrs. M. L. Posen, Minnesota; Jake L. Hamon, national committee man from Oklahoma; John W. Hart, national committee man from Idaho; A. T. Hert, national committee man from Kentucky; Charles D. Hillis, national committee man from New York; R. B. Howell, national committee man from Nebraska; Mrs. Jeanette A. Hyde, Utah; Mrs. Arthur L. Livermore, New York; Senator Boies Penrose, national committee man from Pennsylvania; Covington Roosevelt Robinson, New York; Mrs. Christine Bradley South, Kentucky; ex-Senator John W. Weeks, national committee man from Massachusetts, and Ralph E. Williams, national committee man from Oregon.

One member of the executive committee, Chairman Hays said, remains to be appointed.

Mrs. South Gets Two Posts.

Mrs. South, who is a daughter of ex-Senator Bradley of Kentucky, also was appointed assistant secretary of the national committee and the sub-committee of the Chicago convention.

Following the announcement of the committee's membership, Senator Harding and Chairman Hays issued statements, the former praising the organization work already accomplished and the latter a complete amalgamation of party groups had been brought about in the appointment of the committee.

In connection with the appointment of the executive committee, Senator Harding made the following statement: "I cordially approve of the executive organization as proposed out by Chairman Hays and the sub-committee of the national committee. As the nominee I want to express appreciation of the organization heretofore made, and my gratitude to the many interested republicans who constitute it, and who have been working for two years to restore the republican party administration. It will be noted that we are calling all republicans to the party colors and the good faith of the programme will be emphasized as the personnel of other highly important committees are announced."

Conferences Called Successful.

"The conferences have been most successful," said Mr. Hays in his statement. "The great party of the union is most certainly a unit. The executive committee and the other committees yet to be appointed are splendidly representative. Mr. Daugherty and the loyal republicans who have worked so enthusiastically for Mr. Harding and those who have loyally worked for others are all together vying with each other in their effort to advance the cause of the republic. This is one great organization, a complete amalgamation, and we are on our way to the great triumph which means so much for the country's welfare."

Johnson Supporters Named.

Of the women members of the executive committee, Mrs. Edison was active in supporting Senator Johnson of California for the presidential nomination, while Mrs. Robinson, national committee man of the Minnesota republican organization of women, Mrs. Robinson, a sister of former President Roosevelt, made the concluding speech for Major-General Wood at the Chicago convention. Mrs. Hyde has been active in organizing republican women in Utah, while Mrs. Livermore was described by officers of the national committee as being in great demand as a speaker.

The meeting between Senator Harding and the suffragists, which took place at his office in the Capitol and lasted more than an hour, the suffragists had gone to the Capitol with prepared statements, and the senator's action in presenting his views first caused them to change their plans and simply state their request for a definition of the nominee's position. In reply, Senator Harding said: "I need not tell you of my interest in the consummation of the woman's suffrage. I voted for it in the senate and a vote records a senator's purpose quite faithfully as anything he may do."

Ratification Is Favored.

"Nothing would please me more than to have ratification made effective to give American womanhood full participation in the elections of next November. This desire, sincerely spoken, does not conflict with my determination that I could not with propriety attempt to force any state executive to hasten action in violation of his own sense of duty. "There is a point at which full executive authority may approach a president on the rights of states, and I should not want to trespass if I bore the commission of authority, and I realize full well that so far, I am only a party nominee. In the latter capacity I would not wish my party to believe me inclined to trespass or to assume to wield a club. If any state executive should ask my opinion about the extraordinary efforts to consummate suffrage, I frankly will commend the thing you desire, but I cannot impose a demand, and I personally hope to see women's suffrage and women's full participation established at an early date."

Harding Is Criticized.

Miss Paul, in her statement tonight, said: "I can hardly believe that a candidate nominated to stand for a specific platform could within two weeks after that platform's adoption declare himself unable to do anything toward carrying it out. We are deeply disappointed with Senator Harding's position. Our delegation to him today was the first step in a campaign to place before the country his responsibility as the head of his party for his party's inaction on suffrage in those states in which it is in power. Until he recognizes and acts effectively on that responsibility we shall not be content."

Before leaving Washington tonight for New York, Mr. Hays announced that to eastern or western campaign managers were contemplated, as he would substitute himself for both of these former officers, dividing his time between Chicago and New York. The chairman said appointment of an assistant treasurer probably would be announced tomorrow in New York.

Velled Threats Are Made.

The suffragists, numbering 26 from 21 states, through their spokesman, Miss Alice Paul, chairman of the national woman's party, in presenting their request made veiled threats of withdrawing their support to a third party unless ratification of the suffrage amendment was completed through action of a republican state legislature. Miss Paul, in a statement tonight, said her delegation was "deeply disappointed with Senator Harding's position."

JAPANESE INCREASE FAST

CALIFORNIA BOARD REPORTS TO GOVERNOR STEPHENS.

Chinese Exclusion Act Found to Work Effectively in Keeping Out Immigrants.

SACRAMENTO, Cal., June 22.—The state board of control today filed with Governor Stephens its report of the oriental problems in California. Population figures from authentic sources brought to the board to the conclusion that during the period between 1910 and the close of 1919, the Japanese increased 111 per cent in California, the Hindu population 33.5 per cent and the whites but 8.2 per cent.

The report states that the Japanese Association of America special census of Japanese population in California, completed in March, 1920, established the Japanese population at 78,628. To this should be added, the report says, the 5000 American-born Japanese now temporarily in Japan, thus making a total of 83,628, as compared with 87,279 as given from the federal immigration reports.

The Chinese population, it was said, had decreased from 72,425 in 1910 to 33,271 in 1919, and the report calls attention to this decrease, saying "it may reflect the effectiveness of the Chinese exclusion act in excluding the Chinese immigrants and indicates the reverse as to the so-called gentilemen's agreement with Japan."

The increase in the white population of orientals is given as 252 per cent over 1910. There were 21,611 Japanese of this class included in the late figures. The white increase in the same period was but 13.5 per cent, it was said.

RADICALS HIRED TO HELP NON-PARTISANS

Outside Socialists Brought to North Dakota.

WORKERS' RECORDS KNOWN

Phenomenal Growth of So-Called Farmers' Organization Due Largely to Work of Paid Men.

This is the second of a series of articles to appear in The Oregonian by George K. Alken, well-known Oregon newspaper man, who has gone to Minnesota and North Dakota to study the workings of the Non-Partisan league as it affects the general public and the general public welfare.

Mr. Alken formerly lived in the country where the Non-partisan league is now strongest and most active and has a wide acquaintance there. In recent years he has been in newspaper work in the north-west, and for several years past has been connected with The Oregonian as a correspondent. He is the owner and publisher of the Ontario (Or.) Argus and is prominently connected with the development of that part of the state.

BY GEORGE K. ALKEN.

GRAND FORKS, N. D., June 22.—(Special.)—While conditions were ripe for the growth of a radical organization in North Dakota after four years of famine and bad crops, these conditions do not explain its phenomenal development. It could not have accomplished one-half of its work without the strange character of leadership and this was supplied, not from North Dakota, but from without the state by paid organizers of the socialist party.

The rank and file of the Non-Partisan league do not deny that these organizations were not, and never have been, citizens of North Dakota by their employment by the league, nor that their presence gives the lie to the oft-repeated statement that it is a farmer's organization.

When Howard Wood, speaker of the 1915 session of the legislature and elected lieutenant governor in 1918, who is again a candidate for that position, was asked by the writer to explain the strange connection between the socialists and the farmers he had this to say:

Promoters Held Necessary.

"We could not get along without them. We wanted to organize and we had to have organizers. So we did just what business men do when they want to increase their business. We went to men whose business it is to promote organization among people, and of course we turned to men of the type employed."

"Some of us do not like all of the men who were hired, but we cannot help that. In every organization some men get in who ought to be left out. However, they are doing the work they were intended to do, as the growth of the organization plainly indicates.

CLOUBURST DOES HARM

Children's Hospital Damaged and Several Villas Demolished.

NAPLES, June 22.—A violent cloudburst did great damage in the neighborhood of this city. Torrents of rain and huge hail stones, accompanied by severe thunder and lightning, caused destruction of property, especially in Posillipo, a suburb.

The children's hospital at Posillipo was damaged. Several villas near Naples were demolished, while damage was done to the south side of Morrison Mount Vesuvius. Crops have been seriously injured.

was connected with the socialist institute at Berkeley, Cal.

People on the Pacific coast will recognize the name of David C. Coates, prominent socialist of the northwest, who at one time was a member of the city commission at Spokane. Previous to that time he was elected lieutenant governor of Colorado on the socialist ticket. He is the business manager of the league now in North Dakota.

Ex-Rev. George A. Totten has succeeded some of the other men in the inner circles. He is an unfrocked preacher and his home is Bowman, N. D. He is the man who invited Katie Richards O'Hare to Bowman, indicated by her testimony in the famous trial for seditious utterances upon which she was convicted and sent to prison. He was one of the first business managers of the league and is now president of the board of regents of the university and the most active one in the movement to socialize the educational institutions of the state.

Former Editor Falters. Walter W. Liggett, now in charge of the North Dakota Immigration office at Washington, D. C., is a socialist of years standing. He was at one time editor of a paper at Sitka, Alaska, later worked on the Tacoma Ledger and for two years was editor of the Pasco Progress, Pasco, Wash. His venture in county journalism, however, was a flop. He was one of his sphere and lost not only what little money he had himself, but also some given him by his wife.

Following his failure at Pasco he went to St. Paul and obtained a position on the St. Paul Dispatch, which he lost over his exultation on the infamous LaFollette speech in that city. He next turned up in North Dakota as one of the paid organizers of the league and was instrumental in forming its publicity society to drive out papers which had the audacity to fight Townley and his crew.

Two Farmers Enlisted. There are, however, at least two farmers prominently connected with the league. One of these is Ray Nichols, now manager of the state of Idaho, and F. E. Wood, father of Howard Wood, lieutenant governor.

This brief summary of the record of the leaders is sufficient proof of the character of its organization, but the conclusion must not be drawn that the league leaders, at least some of them, are not thoroughly convinced of the holiness of their cause. In fact, they seem possessed of a religious fanaticism, while their hatred for "big business" is equal to that of the most rabid soap-box grater.

SEATTLE MAN INDOERSED

TRIPLE ALLIANCE AND NON-PARTISANS FOR BRIDGES. Fight to Defeat Representative Johnson Assured at Conventions Held at Tacoma.

TACOMA, Wash., June 22.—(Special.)—Robert Bridges of Seattle was endorsed as a candidate for governor by the Pierce county Triple alliance and Non-partisan league in separate conventions held in Tacoma yesterday. Final county conventions will be held after the state convention at Yakima. The Triple alliance considered informally possible candidates for state offices.

Homier T. Bone, Tacoma attorney and socialist leader, was a general favorite as a congressional possibility for the third district. Bone, while declaring that Representative Albert Johnson must be defeated and promising all his effort to that end, said he was not prepared to make the personal sacrifice involved in making the race himself. Fred Chamberlain, Puyallup farmer, was named by the Triple alliance as delegate to the Yakima convention, to be assisted by a group of farmers. J. L. Freeman, head of the league in the state, spoke.

Use Coconut Oil for Washing Hair

If you want to keep your hair in good condition be careful what you wash it with.

Most soaps and prepared shampoos contain too much alkali. This dries the scalp, makes the hair brittle, and itchy.

Simply moisten your hair with water and rub it in. One or two teaspoonfuls will make an abundance of rich, creamy lather and cleanses the scalp thoroughly.

The lather rinses out easily and removes every particle of dust, dirt, dandruff and excess oil.

You can get Multifield coconut oil shampoo at most any drug store. It is very cheap, and a few ounces is enough to last everyone in the family for months.—Adv.
