TURNER SITS WITH OREGON DEMOCRATS

Schuyleman Contest Thrown Out by Committee.

APPEAL TO BE MADE

Georgia and Missouri Seats Are to Be Settled Today; Some Delegations Are Short.

AUDITORIUM, San Francisco, June 25.—The democratic national committee today decided to postpone consideration of the Georgia and Missouri contests until tomorrow morning, after clearing away all the preliminaries for the opening of the national convention next Monday. It was the plan of some of the leaders to have the contests heard by subcommittees.

The committee decided to seat R. R. Turner as a delegate-at-large from Oregon, who had been named by the state committee to fill a vacancy caused by death. John L. Schuyleman had protested against the seating of Turner. Turner was selected as delegate-at-large by the Oregon state committee to fill the vacancy caused by the death of G. T. Baldwin. Schuyleman appeared before the committee and argued that he should fill the vacancy on the ground that he received the fifth highest vote in the race for the four places as delegates-at-large. Schuyleman announced he would carry his case to the credentials committee.

Primary Vote Held Disregarded.

Schuyleman in his protest sets forth that he had received 10,429 votes in the state-wide primaries but that, notwithstanding this fact, 13 members of the Oregon democratic state central committee had met and filled the vacancy by naming R. C. Burns, a federal office holder of Roseburg. The animus of the committee's action, he declared, was opposition to president Wilson, of whom he has been a loyal supporter.

An editorial appearing in The Oregonian on June 21 was cited in support of his case. The charge that he has been a socialist was answered with the statement that he had voted the democratic ticket for the last 24 years and that he had never voted the socialist ticket. Mr. Schuyleman said further:

"Permit me to say that no individual group or party has a monopoly on democracy. Democracy is a principle and is as impossible of monopolization as the multiplication table.

Embarrassment Is Foreseen.

"Webster defines democracy as a form of government in which supreme power is vested in the hands of the people collectively, and I contend and maintain that the people of Oregon in their collective capacity have designated me to be their fourth living representative as delegate-at-large."

He also said he had been told by a member of the state central committee that we are afraid you will be too much of a torpedo if you get a place in the delegation.

Some embarrassment for the national committee is foreseen here with reference to the Schuyleman case, but it is believed that this embarrassment will be avoided by declining to go into the merits of the controversy and holding that the state central committee's action in such cases is final.

J. Bruce Kremer, Montana, vice-chairman of the committee, moved that contests be heard by subcommittees of five appointed by the chair. E. H. Moore, Ohio, moved a substitute that the contests be heard by the full committee in executive session.

Sentiment, however, was strong for consideration by the full committee and a roll call was demanded on the question. The vote resulted, 26 to 20, to have the full committee hear the case. The vote by states follows:

Yes—Alabama, Arizona, California, Colorado, Connecticut, Idaho, Illinois, Indiana, Iowa, Kentucky, Maryland, Mississippi, New Hampshire, New Jersey, New York, North Dakota, Ohio, Oklahoma, South Dakota, Vermont, West Virginia, Wisconsin, Alaska, District of Columbia, Hawaii, Porto Rico—26.

No—Delaware, Florida, Kansas, Massachusetts, Michigan, Minnesota, Montana, Nebraska, Nevada, New Mexico, Oregon, Pennsylvania, Rhode Island, South Carolina, Tennessee, Texas, Utah, Virginia, Washington, Wyoming—20.

Reed Contest on Schedule.

The Georgia contest involves 28 votes, while in Missouri the question is whether Senator James A. Reed, opponent of the national administration on the league of nations, shall be seated in the face of his rejection by the Missouri state convention. Reed was re-elected by the fifth Missouri district after his rejection by the state convention, but it is claimed the action was illegal.

Clark Howell, leading the A. Mitchell Palmer group of delegates in Georgia, said he would take only ten minutes to present his side of the case. Senator Hardwick wanted 30 minutes. As some of the committeemen had early evening engagements, it was decided to take up the Georgia case tomorrow.

Equal Vote to Be Granted.

An important action by the committee was the unanimous adoption of a recommendation to the national convention that each state and territory be represented in the national committee by one man or one woman.

The committee also decided to give the Panama canal zone representation in the convention. This will give the canal zone representation in a democratic convention for the first time if the delegates are seated by the credentials committee.

There was a buzz through the committee room when Francis M. Wilson, United States district attorney for the western district of Missouri, presented the certified action of the "democracy of the fifth Missouri district" in electing Senator James A. Reed a delegate to the convention. He asked an opportunity to present the facts to the committee and was informed that he would be heard at the proper time. It is understood the seating of Senator Reed will be considered by a subcommittee.

On the suggestion of National Committeeman I. B. Dockweiler, California, the convention will be asked that when it adjourns on Monday it be until 1 o'clock Tuesday afternoon in order to permit the visiting delegates to take a steamer excursion Tuesday morning.

Some Delegations Short.

The committee adopted without discussion a resolution to be submitted to the national convention providing that hereafter each state and territory be represented in the national committee by one man and one woman to be selected according to state laws or party rules where no state law covers the election of national committeemen. The resolution also provided that the woman committeeman to serve the next four years be selected by the state delegation to the present convention if the resolution is adopted.

When the question of approving the temporary roll came up it was announced that several states were short their full delegation and the question arose how the vacancies shall be filled. After a general discussion a motion was made by Thomas B. Love, Texas, authorizing state delegations to fill vacancies. The motion was tabled after several committeemen said their delegations would fill vacancies to suit themselves. New Hampshire and Deleware were among the states that had delegates absent.

WOMEN WOULD IGNORE WETS

Silence on Prohibition Issue Is to Be Recommended.

SAN FRANCISCO, June 25.—The women members of the executive committee of the democratic national committee today decided to recommend that no reference be made to the prohibition question in the platform to be adopted by the convention.

It was also agreed to recommend that President Wilson's stand on the peace treaty and league of nations be approved.

The following planks submitted by the labor committee of the women's bureau of the democratic national committee, Mrs. Robert Bruce Buere, New York, chairman, were adopted:

"We affirm the right of collective bargaining between employers and employes through representatives of their own choosing. We approve also the national industrial councils established by employers and employes within the various industries, the findings of which shall have the effect of ordinary collective agreements but not of judicial decisions subject to compulsory enforcement.

"We insist on the abolition of the labor of children under 14 years and that children between 14 and 18 shall be permitted to work only after passing examinations by local school and health authorities assuring proper standards of health and education.

"We reaffirm our belief in the principles of the democratic platform of 1916 and again urge the general adoption of the eight-hour day.

"We believe that wages should be put on the basis of service, not that of sex, and that minimum wages should be fixed which will insure to all wage earners a proper standard of health, comfort and efficiency.

"We urge that the Federal Trade commission be given greater powers over the basic food industries of life.

"We advocate the development of a national system of employment offices under joint control of federal and state boards. To meet the problems of seasonal requirements of agriculture we urge the immediate organization of a voluntary labor corps for harvesting with transportation subsidies.

"We advocate the extension and development of the bureau of women in industry, established by the democratic party in the department of labor. We also urge the appointment of women on all government boards and tribunals dealing with industry and labor.

"We recommend the protection of womanhood and infancy according to the best modern experience."

A resolution urging the establishment of a department of education with a cabinet officer at its head, was also adopted.

TENNESSEE ASKED TO RATIFY

Committee Asks for Special Session to Grant Vote.

AUDITORIUM, San Francisco, Cal., June 25.—The democratic national committee today unanimously agreed to send a telegram to Governor Roberts of Tennessee urging a special session of the legislature to ratify the federal suffrage amendment. Following is the telegram:

"The democratic national committee at its meetings held today by unanimous vote directed me as chairman of the committee to send you the following message:

"'We most earnestly emphasize the extreme importance and urgency of an immediate meeting of your state legislature for the purpose of ratifying the proposed 19th amendment to the federal constitution. The eyes of millions of women throughout the country are turned toward Tennessee as the one state that can and will enfranchise them prior to the November election by becoming the 36th state to ratify the suffrage amendment. We trust that for the present all other legislative matters may, if necessary, be held in abeyance and that you will call an extra session of the legislature of your state for such brief duration as may be required to act favorably upon the amendment. Tennessee occupies a position of peculiar and pivotal importance and one that enables her to render a service of incalculable value to the women of America. We confidently expect, therefore, under your leadership and through the action of the legislature of your state, the women of the nation may be given the privilege of voting in the coming presidential election.'

(Signed) "HOMER S. CUMMINGS, "Chairman Dmocratic National Committee."

$1000 IN GOLD IS FOUND

Discovery Is Made by Man Repairing Roof.

NEW YORK, N. Y., June 25.—(Special.)—Charles Smith took a day off to repair the roof of his house on Ocean avenue, East Rockaway, L. I., which was leaking, and while poking about among the rafters in the attic he found a bag of gold coins aggregating $1000.

The bag is believed to have been hidden by Mrs. Jane Abrams, Mrs. Smith's mother, who died in 1906. She distrusted banks and it is thought she either forgot the existence of the bag of coins or died before she could reveal its hiding place.

WINNING MAN AND PLATFORM WANTED

That's All Democrats Require Just Now.

16 CANDIDATES IN FIELD

Each Has His Idea as to Essential Qualifications, but Somehow They Don't Agree.

BY JAMES J. MONTAGUE.

SAN FRANCISCO, June 25.—(Special.)—If you happen to know anybody who can be elected president of the United States send in his name and the democrats here gathered will nominate him.

If you have in mind a platform that will sweep the country send it along and the same gentlemen will adopt it.

That's all they want—a man who can win and a platform he can win on.

But, curiously enough, there isn't anybody around here who seems to be absolutely sure about either.

Charles Francis Murphy, for example, thinks that Governor Cox of Ohio could be elected providing the platform has nothing about glucose in it.

Diplomat Gerard's Idea.

James W. Gerard believes that any man who was ambassador to Germany during the first years of the great war and who repeatedly shook his finger at the kaiser could be elected almost by acclamation.

Bainbridge Colby contends that the way to get republican and progressive votes away from Harding is to nominate a man who has been a republican and a progressive but who for the present at least is a democrat.

William Jennings Bryan hasn't got here yet but he has wired ahead stating his experience as a candidate and pointing out that this is no year to entrust the party standard to a novice.

Altogether there are 16 candidates, if you include the incumbent of the presidential office, which everybody does.

That's What Worries Them.

In fact, it is the incumbent who has got them all worried.

His silence on the matter of his candidacy is embarrassing them painfully. They don't want to nominate him and they don't want to offend him. They don't like to indorse him and they don't want to repudiate him. And the fact that they will have to do one or the other if their platform is going to be anything but a lot of words is making them very, very unhappy.

The convention proper begins Monday. But a democratic convention always starts as soon as delegates arrive and most of the delegates are here.

In their eager, earnest faces you can see the desire to name a good ticket and to write a good platform and to show the G. O. P. that taking the government away from the democrats is far harder than keeping it away from them used to be.

Right Man Hard to Find.

They are all agreed that Harding is a poor candidate and that it will be easy to beat him, if only they can agree on the right man for the job. That's all that's worrying them—the right man. But somehow or other they can't find out who he is or where to find him. So if you know of such a candidate send in his name. Your choice will have just as good a chance of getting the convention behind him as anybody's. But you'll have to be sure that he is on the right side of the league of nations question and the liquor question and the labor question. You'll have to be the judge of which the right side of these questions is. The delegates confess that they haven't found out yet.

WILSON IN FULL CONTROL

clined to divulge his plan of campaign in detail and would not talk about the league of nations at all.

Women's Bureau Active.

The suggestion that the platform remain silent on the prohibition issue was indorsed at a meeting of the executive committee of the national committee's women's bureau, and a further development in the same direction was furnished by the California delegation, which caucused and discussed organization and policies without a single mention of prohibition during the session. In many quarters California had been counted on to support a wine and beer plank.

Many planks dealing with Irish freedom have been called to the attention of the party leaders, and it was predicted that many conflicting counsels on the subject would be laid before the platform committee. At a conference in the offices of the American commission on Irish independence, however, an agreement was reached by representatives of several Irish-American bodies to stand together for a plank espousing American recognition of the Irish republic.

OIL MAGNATE ON COMMITTEE

E. L. Doheny California Member of Resolutions Body.

SAN FRANCISCO, June 25.—E. L. Doheny of Los Angeles, oil operator, was elected as California's member on the resolutions committee of the democratic national convention by the California delegation today.

Gavin McNab of San Francisco was elected chairman of the delegation. No mention was made of the prohibition question, or other issues or of candidates.

Isidore B. Dockweiler was re-elected national committeeman from California.

T. A. Reardon of San Francisco was elected to the committee on rules of the national convention and Hugo K. Asher of San Francisco to the committee on credentials.

Chosen for other committee representatives were: C. A. Storke, Santa Barbara, permanent organization; J. B. Colston, Altadena, committee to notify nominee for president; Judge Emmet Seawell, Santa Rosa, committee to notify the nominee for vice-president.

Mrs. Minnie L. Fitzgerald of Fresno was elected an honorary vice-president of the national convention and Mrs. F. T. Parker, an honorary secretary.

H. H. McPike of Oakland was elected secretary of the California delegation.

Preliminary plans were made for the banquet to be given by the California delegates tomorrow night to delegates and national committeemen of western states and territories. Problems peculiar to the west are to be discussed and an effort will be made to obtain unity of action upon them. Mr. McNab pointed out that the states and territories westward from and including Montana, Wyoming and Colorado would have a representation in the convention double that of the largest state.

DAVIS' FRIENDS AGGRESSIVE

West Virginians Begin Work for Ambassador to Britain.

SAN FRANCISCO, June 25.—The West Virginia delegation arrived here tonight and went aggressively to work for the nomination of its favorite son, John W. Davis, the American ambassador to Great Britain. His strength, they declared, would become apparent after the opening ballots had demonstrated that none of the leaders could be nominated.

Governor John J. Cornwell, who will make the nominating speech, issued this statement:

"Mr. Davis would be an ideal candidate for many reasons. He is one of the most forceful speakers and debaters in America. His great ability is universally admitted. His character could not and would not be questioned. There are no antagonisms, no objections could be urged except that he is a democrat.

"The public is in no mood to vote for or elect any man merely because he is a candidate of any political party. This is not a politicians' period. A man to win this election must face the rising and not the setting sun. He must stand not only for the right but be able to make the people understand him. Mr. Davis would be able to do that."
