

BOURNAIS PERFECT FINANCIAL ORGANIZATION

Convention Gets Ready for Grind of Business.

NOMINATING IS DUE TODAY

Speeches to Be Heard While Platform Is Being Framed—Republican Planks Assailed.

SAN FRANCISCO, June 29.—The democratic national convention would up its preliminaries today and prepared to get down to business tomorrow.

With administration forces controlling in apparently complete control, it perfected its organization, accepting Senator Joseph T. Robinson of Arkansas, as its permanent chairman; permitted states to upset the unit rule, provided for taking women on the democratic national committee and prepared for the business of having candidates nominated by adopting an order of business which will permit the delivery of nominating speeches before the platform is brought in.

Balloting Must Wait.

With the slate thus cleared of all preliminaries the convention, after a three-hour session, adjourned to resume at 11 o'clock tomorrow morning.

What the second session lacked in the dramatic fire of the opening day, it made up in its smoothly working control which administration supporters exercised. Anti-Wilson contests, such as that of Senator Reed of Missouri for a place on the floor, were swept away with ruthless but good-natured haste. Even the "boos" and hisses which had been directed at Senator Reed's name had a tone of humorous ridicule.

The announcement of "unanimous" votes delivered by the chairman against a feeble chorus of "noes" here and there never failed to bring cheers and laughter from the mass of delegates.

Boomers Are Noisy.

The great auditorium was filled with even a greater crowd today than yesterday. There was no vacant seat in the impressive sweep of the galleries rising above the floor, and on three sides of the floor. Long before the day's session could proceed the hubbub of conversation, and mumbled a steady undertone to the music of the band and pipe organ.

Boomers for Attorney-General Palmer or Governor Cox took part in the entertainment.

Senator Robinson had a little difficulty keeping the machine going at the pace Mr. Cummins had set. There was a little confusion on parliamentary procedure at times, and once Mr. Cummings intervened straight et out a resolution to perfect the convention's plans to give women full and equal representation on the national committee. The committee members already have been elected by many delegations.

Senate is Lamented.

The delegates were still of a mind for more pounding of the republican party and the Chicago platform when Senator Robinson delivered his address as permanent chairman. He woke them to uproarious approval when he shouted that it took a greater time to defeat the treaty than the army and navy took to win the war.

The delegates took a greater time to cheer, it was a minute before he could be heard again, shouting: "And they left the treaty right where it was when the president brought it back from Paris."

Failure of the president to take with him to the peace conference members of the senate had rankled in some senatorial hearts. Senator Robinson continued, but he added that if the president had done so and the senators had shown no "more intelligence at the conference in drafting the treaty than they have shown in its consideration—then God bless Woodrow Wilson for leaving them at home."

Again the delegates clamored their agreement.

Mr. Cummings, in putting through a resolution congratulating Governor Roberts of Tennessee for having called a special legislative session of the legislature to deal with the surface amendment, got cheers when he declared it unanimous in the face of a mutter of negative votes coming mostly from the vicinity of the Georgia and other southern delegations.

American women are for peace and agreement.

against Mr. Senator Robinson told the convention, "and they'll vote that way if you give them the opportunity. If you'll add to the soldier vote the woman vote and the democratic vote, the republicans won't get enough votes to make a factor in the coming election."

Dry Issue Comes Up.

Another great shout of approval went up, to be redoubled in vigor when the chairman closed with his address with the charge that "the republicans have trifled with the hearts and conscience of the American people in their handling of the peace treaty."

The dry issue got into the session from an amusing angle. An announcement that a corps of nurses and "18 doctors" were conducting a hospital in the auditorium drew the fire of a delegate.

"Do they write prescriptions?" he demanded in a voice that carried through the hall. Galleries and floor joined in a burst of laughter from which arose cries of "doctor, doctor," "hospital corps this way," and the like. When he could be heard, the secretary shouted:

"This is a dry hospital," and the convention rumbled again with mirth. Delegates went back tonight to the always-grossing task of gossipping in hotel corridors about candidates for nomination, posing questions by the committee of its difficult task in shaping a chart of principles by which the party shall steer its course in the troubled political seas between now and next November.

HOTEL FALLS; 4 MEN DIE

Undetermined Number Injured by Collapse of Walls in Buffalo.

BUFFALO, N. J., June 29.—Four persons were killed and an undetermined number injured today by the collapse of the walls of the Biltmore hotel, a four-story brick lodging-house.

Ten injured men were removed by firemen and policemen. Rescuers reported hearing cries of others.

The owner of the place and 50 men occupied the rooms last night, but he did not know how many were in the building when it fell.

gates hope to be able to go back home when this convention ends.

Singly men who will vote dry in the platform committee and in the convention if forced to face the issue there, are saying unkind things about this gathering of delegates.

One of the delegates are just as in good prohibitionists as there are in the world, but the other two-thirds make no noise.

Mr. McClellan had calculated, he told the committee, that there would be 100,000,000 in the country at the end of 140 years. The plank was supported by Senator Phelan of California.

A Philippine independence plank was asked by J. P. Melencio, representing the Philippine mission, and by Resident Commissioner Farfante. They contended the Philippines had demonstrated their capacity for immediate independence.

The appeal of Mr. Melencio brought the committee and spectators to their feet in the hall during the hearing.

Mrs. William Kent of California, president of the National Inter-Continental League for Peace and Freedom, urged a programme to forward word to the world.

A plank for inland waterway development was presented by Edward G. Galt, national committee member from St. Louis, president of the Inland Waterway association.

Other delegates dumped into the committee's hopper would express sympathy for Corea; favor home rule for Porto Rico; advocate a monetary commission to stabilize the dollar; pledge the party to keep American merchant ships under the control of American interests; come re-assertion of Liberty bonds to par value, and declare for independence in India.

tee Mr. Bryan said he would defer his own remarks.

"The eighteenth amendment," Mr. Wheeler said, "has come to stay."

"The square-toed issue you men have to face," he said, "is whether a beer and wine modification will nullify it. We think we can prove that it will."

"Not only popular sentiment, but the opinion of the country," Mr. Wheeler said, "upheld the opinion that bone dry laws were necessary for effective enforcement of prohibition."

"To open the way for wine and beer to be manufactured and sold is nullification pure and simple," Mr. Wheeler said. "And, besides, it is bad politics because it would alienate the great prohibition majorities that have been returned in so many states."

"In these days of unrest you cannot go before the people on a platform advocating a nullification or lax enforcement of law," Mr. Wheeler said. "And, besides, it is bad politics because it would alienate the great prohibition majorities that have been returned in so many states."

He assailed the position of Mr. Bryan, reading from various platforms on which the Nebraska republicans had run in 1890, he said, the platform on which Mr. Bryan made a campaign for congress declared for prohibition of "personal rights" against federal encroachment. A similar declaration, he said, was in the national democratic platforms of 1896 and 1900.

"And if the democratic party no longer stands for the right of the citizen to decide what he shall eat or what he shall drink or what he shall wear," he continued, "then it no longer is a democratic party."

Bryan Causes Uproar.

The meeting was then stirred into a state of uproar when Mr. Bryan arose to ask in what capacity Mr. Bell came before the committee and what compensation he received.

"I speak for the grape growers of California," Mr. Bell replied, "and I would like to ask the gentleman for whom he speaks."

"I am speaking for the women and children of this nation," Mr. Bell said, "and I would like to ask the gentleman for whom he speaks."

"And what compensation do you receive, directly or indirectly, from the Anti-Saloon league?" perished Mr. Bell.

"None whatever," Mr. Bell replied.

"Not a nickel?" Mr. Bell asked.

"I ought to say that during four months of last year I received compensation for certain public speeches, but for nine years before I received no compensation without a penny's return."

Chairman Ryan finally obtained order and Harry Ryan of the California Union Liberty League, who had heard briefly in urging modification of the Volstead law.

Representative Sabbath of Illinois asked President Gompers of the American Federation of Labor whether the organization had voted down a resolution already adopted by the Volstead law as alleged by prohibition publications. Mr. Gompers replied that he voted against the resolution.

Mr. Gompers said, "I was asked to vote on the Volstead law as alleged by prohibition publications. Mr. Gompers replied that he voted against the resolution."
