

HALF-VICTORY WON BY MR. SCHUYLEMAN

Equal Vote in Convention Given With Mr. Turner.

VOTE POWER RECOGNIZED

Credentials Body of Democrats Makes Award in View of Returns of Election.

SAN FRANCISCO, June 29.—(Special.)—John L. Schuyleman, contesting the seat of R. R. Turner as delegate-at-large from Oregon, won half-victory. The credentials committee decided early this morning that Mr. Schuyleman, having received such a large vote in the Oregon primaries, was entitled to some recognition.

He was accordingly allowed a half vote in the convention. Mr. Turner, who was selected by the Oregon democratic state central committee, retains a half vote. Whether Mr. Schuyleman will insist on voting for President Wilson for a third term, as he promised in his primary platform, is not known.

This was the only case in which the credentials committee overruled a decision of the national committee.

SCHUYLEMAN WIRES FOR LAW

Oregon Democrat Told Only Hope Is at San Francisco.

SALEM, Or., June 29.—(Special.)—Governor O'Connell last night received a telegram from J. L. Schuyleman under San Francisco date asking the executive to send to him at that city copies of the Oregon laws relating to filling of vacancies in the ranks of delegates elected to attend the national conventions of political parties.

The governor today advised Mr. Schuyleman that he had been unable to find any law covering the question submitted, but that a legal opinion given recently by the attorney-general probably would be acceptable. In his opinion, however, that there was no statute under which a delegate's commission could be issued to Mr. Schuyleman, but that the latter had the option of presenting his case before the lawful representatives of the democratic party.

SMALL GARDENS WANTED

COMMISSIONER BARBUR HAS SLOGAN FOR PORTLAND.

Civic Clubs and Organizations to Be Asked to Launch Campaign for 1921.

Every vacant lot a garden in 1921. This is the slogan which City Commissioner Barbur urges Portland to adopt. Civic clubs and organizations will be asked to launch a campaign next winter to educate residents of Portland to the value of utilizing all vacant property for food production.

"During the war, gardens in vacant lots were to be found everywhere. Necessity of furnishing our armies, our armies and ourselves with food, forced the American people to curtail waste of foodstuffs and enter into the production of vegetables and garden truck," said Commissioner Barbur.

Commissioner Barbur believes that a person living in a ten-room house, which he owns, is a better citizen than one who rents a ten-room house. The small home campaign is now being waged in earnest. Amendments of the housing, building and plumbing code have been drafted to permit modifications for the small home owners. Plans for homes together with specifications have been prepared and retained in a bureau of buildings, fourth floor, city hall for 25 cents a set.

Bride-to-Be Takes Future Mate Where Licenses Are Kept Secret.

VANCOUVER, Wash., June 29.—(Special.)—Because the county auditor was unable to keep their names from the newspapers here today, a couple, accompanied by a minister, wishing to be wed immediately, left his office in a huff and are now seeking some quiet spot in Oregon where friends or enemies will never learn of the marriage.

JUDGE TUCKER REVERSED

Supreme Court Holds Reassessment of Property Illegal.

SALEM, Or., June 29.—(Special.)—Reassessment of property owned by David and Anna Brown, Dirk Van Ruyssen, George H. Cook and Rebecca Hochfeld and others, under a special ordinance passed by the city of Portland, was declared without legal authority in three separate opinions written by Justice Bean and handed down by the Oregon supreme court today. In each of these cases Judge Robert Tucker of the circuit court of Multnomah county was reversed.

Other reassessments declared illegal under the opinions written by Justice Bean and involving the same questions as presented in the Brown action relate to improvements of Karl and Oak streets.

Other opinions handed down today follow: Belle Steele, appellant, vs. D. D. Steele; appeal from Marion county; suit for divorce. Opinion by Justice Bennett; Judge C. C. Bingham reversed.

Y. A. Martin vs. the Gault company, appellant; appeal from Multnomah county; suit for damages for breach of contract. Opinion by Justice Benson. Decree of Judge George W. Stapleton modified by direction to enter judgment of non-suit as to second cause of action.

J. M. Brown et al., appellants, vs. City of Silverton; appeal from Marion county; suit to enjoin city of Silverton from collecting a reassessment made for street improvements. Opinion by Justice Harris. Judge Percy R. Kelly affirmed.

G. H. Russell, appellant, vs. C. Sam Smith; appeal from Crook county; motion to dismiss appeal granted in opinion by Chief Justice McBride.

C. J. McGill, appellant; appeal from Willowa county; petition for rehearing denied in opinion by Justice J. L. Lewis.

Petitions for rehearing denied in Hon. J. L. Lewis and Thomas J. McAdoo vs. Beedles, Hammond Lumber company vs. Pacific steamship and Tillamook county vs. Johnson.

COURT CLOSES TO ALIENS

DISTRICT JUDGES ALONE TO HEAR CITIZEN PETITIONS.

Circuit Tribunal Will Receive Pleas Up to July 31; Order Affects Only Portland.

At the suggestion of the federal bureau of naturalization, Presiding Circuit Judge McCourt, yesterday signed an order directing the clerk of the circuit court to receive no more petitions for naturalization of aliens on or after August 1, the court thus relinquishing all jurisdiction in such matters.

The hearing of all such matters in the United States district court will save labor, reduce expense and facilitate the naturalization work. It is pointed out in the order prepared. At present the hearings are given both in federal and state court, resulting in considerable duplication of records and unnecessary work.

The order applies only to the Multnomah county circuit court, not to other circuit courts throughout the state. To compel all naturalization petitions to be heard in a federal court would cause a great hardship in outlying districts, where state courts are the only courts without duplication. The only reason for the change in Portland is to do away with the circuit court process in two different courts, consolidating the naturalization work in the federal court.

The circuit judge in Portland agreed unanimously, at a recent meeting to the action formally recorded yesterday.

As petitions may be filed in the circuit court up to and including July 31, hearings may continue for six months. The order does not prohibit further petitions to be filed, but after that time all hearings will be in the United States district court.

DOCTOR IN AUTO FINED

Walter Anderson "Hard-Boiled," Traffic Officer Tells Court.

Dr. Walter Anderson was "hard-boiled" when approached by county traffic officers at Multnomah falls, testified Deputy Sheriff Taylor and Weaver in the court of District Judge J. L. Lewis yesterday. He had taken some Shriners out the Columbia highway and refused to move his car when it blocked traffic on the falls to the bridge, they reported.

That he was very overbearing in his manner, and when he did move his car, parked it on the pavement in defiance of the directions of the deputies, for which he was arrested. The officers further declared that Dr. Anderson told them it mattered not how many notices he was served with, he would appear in court Monday. He explained to the court that an important operation prevented his appearance then.

A fine of $10 was levied.

COX KEEPS GOING BEHIND

President Said to Be Standing in McAdoo's Way More Than Aiding Him to Win Nomination.

By MARK SULLIVAN. (Copyright by the New York Evening Post, Inc. Published by Arrangement.)

SAN FRANCISCO, June 29.—(Special.)—Without attempting to enter into the field of prediction at all, and subject to changing conditions from day to day, it is possible to make several detached observations about which there can be little doubt. These observations do not point necessarily toward any one candidate, and do not even necessarily exclude the possibility of any one candidate.

Palmer is not as strong in relation to the convention as a whole as he was some days, or even some weeks ago. Palmer following is composed too strongly of beneficiaries of patronage to be dependable. As someone expressed it, Palmer has more delegates than any other candidate, but too many of them are of the kind who explain by saying, "I am for Palmer, but—"

Delegates Watch Two-thirds Rule. As it has been expressed elsewhere, there is a lot of delegates who will vote for Palmer with one eye on the two-thirds rule, meaning that if Palmer should begin to approach the two-thirds necessary to nominate, these delegates will desert him. The backbone of the Palmer management is the Palmer following among state leaders is composed of men who have been the beneficiaries of his patronage either as attorney-general or as alien property custodian. Palmer's office as alien property custodian two or three years ago created the necessity of appointing lawyers and trustees to take charge of the German-owned property in various sections of the country.

Practically all these appointments were made on a strict basis of choosing a good man with the qualifications to do the work. The nature of the work was such that it was very remunerative, and these appointments of Palmer are, to a degree, expressing their gratitude by their present assistance in his campaign. It is not the kind of support that makes a strong backing or tends to get new adherents from among the independent delegates. The consequence is that in the universal opinion of observers his strength does not grow.

Cox Falling Behind. Cox, also, has measurably fallen behind during the past week. He has permitted himself to become completely identified with the wet advocates. The result has been to solidify the dry elements against him, and it is fairly certain that there will always be more than enough delegates to continue to back the two-thirds rule of prohibition than are necessary to maintain that one-third of the convention which can always prevent a nomination.

The third of the three leaders is McAdoo. By this time, although McAdoo is given complete credit for his good faith in his withdrawal, that withdrawal is entirely ignored by the leaders and delegates who are for him. McAdoo's strength comes largely from those delegates who sincerely believe that he is better known and more favorably known to democratic voters throughout the country than the others, and who believe that as head of the ticket he would be the best man to carry it.

President Not Interfering. This, however, is short of saying that McAdoo has the backing of the president. The widespread headlines which represent Wilson as trying to force McAdoo on the convention are as far as possible from the facts. It is true that some members of the cabinet and others identified with the administration are backing him, but the truth is they are doing it with a good deal of apprehension of incurring the president's displeasure.

If, as is entirely possible, the convention gets into a jam where the president is appealed to for a solution, it is fairly safe to predict that he will favor Wilson.

The exact facts about the relation of Wilson and McAdoo to each other as respects this nomination, and about the relation of each of them to the next four years in the White House, are too complex to be set down here. Possibly they are too personal and intimate to be set down at any time. But the net of that complex set of facts is that Mr. Wilson at this moment is much more nearly standing in the way of McAdoo's nomination than giving any aid to it.

McAdoo Strongest of All. At this moment McAdoo, although his full strength may not be shown in the earlier balloting, is markedly stronger than either of the other two men. Whether he can be named another matter. It must always be remembered that in democratic conventions it takes two-thirds to nominate. Another way of expressing this is that one-third of the conven-

RAIL PANACEA SUGGESTED OPERATION OF LINES AS 'UNIT' DECLARED NECESSARY. Hundreds of Millions of Dollars in Merchandise Said to Be Tied Up on Sidetracks. WASHINGTON, June 29.—Operation of the railroads of the country "as a unit" as a means of relieving the present transportation difficulties was suggested today by William B. Colver of the federal trade commission, in an address before the Washington Ad club. Mr. Colver predicted that a continuation of the present situation would mean "unfathomable suffering and industrial shutdowns next winter." Hundreds of millions of dollars are tied up now in merchandise in sidetracked cars, he said. Only one-tenth of the needed coal for next winter's supply has been moved to the head of the lakes, Mr. Colver said, while the industries in New England are actually closing down now for lack of coal. Farmers also are unable to obtain cars to move the residue of last year's wheat crop at a time when the new crop is coming to harvest. Already, he declared, there are predictions of 25 flour and 25-cent bread. Where operations are being run, Mr. Colver declared, even the largest railroad cannot operate profitably and at reasonable rates.

Community Prosperity Thru Home Industry The Ladd & Tilton Bank believes firmly in loyal support of home industries, because in them is laid the foundation for permanent community prosperity. The more staunchly the residents of a community stand behind local products, making use of them wherever possible, and recommending them to others, the larger will be the payrolls, and the greater the capital invested in manufacturing interests. Often lack of patronage of home industries is due not to indifference, but to ignorance. People are unfamiliar with the names of local firms, and the trade names of their products. With that in mind, the Ladd & Tilton Bank is issuing a new series of advertisements, this being the introductory one, to acquaint Portland people with local goods. Watch for these advertisements, one of which will appear weekly, clip them out, and ask by name for Portland goods. LADD & TILTON BANK Oldest in the Northwest Washington and Third

STATE WINS CONVENTION American Home Economics Association Picks Corvallis for 1922. COLORADO SPRINGS, Colo., June 29.—(Special.)—The Oregon Agricultural college, Corvallis, Or., was selected as the place of meeting for the 15th annual convention of the American Home Economics association in business session here today. This meeting, falls in 1922 and will be the second annual meeting of the association held in the west. It will represent no less than 250 home economics women from every state in the union and Canada. The 1921 meeting will be held in the far eastern United States. No definite place was selected. Miss Mary Sweeney, head of the Home Economics university of Kentucky, was elected president for the coming year, while the outgoing president, Miss Edna Whitehead of Merrill Palmer School for Home-making, Detroit, was made first vice-president. Other elections were as follows: Second vice-president, Isabel Lord of Pratt Institute; secretary, Lenna Cooper of Battle Creek sanitarium, and five counselors at large. A reorganization of the association was agreed upon which provides for five regional districts in the United States and one in Canada, each presided over by a counselor. The Pacific district includes Oregon, Washington, California, Idaho, Montana, Utah and Nevada. The association decided to take steps to affiliate with the American Federation of Women's clubs.
