

SPEECHES UNMINDINGLY AND VERY SHORT

Democratic Convention in Bedlam at Presentation.

FIST FIGHTS TAKE PLACE

Opponents of ex-Treasurer Contest Carrying of State Banners in Parade of Supporters.

AUDITORIUM, San Francisco, June 30.—William G. McAdoo was placed in nomination for the presidency late this afternoon at the democratic national convention in one of the shortest nominating speeches on record, by Dr. Burrus Jenkins of Kansas City.

Parade Starts at Once.

Jenkins merely said: "I nominate William G. McAdoo," and the pent-up enthusiasm of the McAdoo forces broke loose in a loud and noisy demonstration. A parade around the convention floor started as soon as the short speech was concluded and soon the standards of Oregon, Washington, Delaware, Louisiana, Alabama, Utah, New Mexico, Arkansas, Wyoming, Maine, Arizona, Texas, Idaho, Michigan, Kansas, Nevada, Hawaii, Wisconsin and South Dakota were in the driving, howling line.

Woman Joins in Fight.

There was a good deal of scrimmaging and fighting for possession of other state standards.

McAdoo Men Go Wild.

A woman climbed up on the speaker's table and held the flag aloft while the crowd in the galleries with a renewed roar of enthusiasm.

Edwards' Demonstration Short.

The convention had been in session more than seven hours. The nominating speech for Governor Edwards was the next to the last on the day's programme, and before he finished the galleries were more than two-thirds empty.
