

BRIEF SESSIONS OF NOMINATING TALKS

Davis, Glass, Simmons and Harrison Named;

14 PROSPECTS ARE LISTED

Convention Finds Itself Without Business While Waiting on Platform Committee

SAN FRANCISCO, July 1.—One brief session early today brought the democratic national convention to the end of the tedious business of hearing nominating speeches.

With John W. Davis, ambassador to Great Britain; Senator Glass of Virginia; Senator Simmons of North Carolina and Francis Burton Harrison, governor-general of the Philippines, added to the list of those formally presented, the convention at the end of its midday session found itself out of business.

The resolutions committee framing the platform was not ready to report and sent word it would not be ready before 8 o'clock tonight.

Rules Suspension Attempted.

On motion of Wilbur W. Marsh, a delegate from Iowa and treasurer of the national committee, an attempt was made to suspend the rules which required the platform to be adopted prior to balloting and go ahead with the voting for a nominee.

Such a suspension of the rules required a two-thirds vote of the delegates and it was quickly apparent from the shouts of disapproval coming from all corners of the hall that the prevailing wish was to dispose of the platform before proceeding to balloting.

Mr. Marsh, therefore, withdrew his motion and the convention recessed until 8 o'clock while the platform committee continued to labor.

Fourteen Candidates Listed.

When it disposed of the platform and went on with the business of balloting, the convention will have before it a field of 14 candidates, headed by a big three—McAdoo, Cox and Palmer—a scattering of lesser lights and including a padlock of dark horses nearby.

Unless some of the unexpected platform fights pelted out, there seemed little prospect of a candidate getting to the business of nominating a candidate at the night session unless it proposed to remain at work until daylight.

board because it was hurting his chances for the presidency which he could not afford to accept.

As already hinted, Mr. McAdoo may have before it a field of 14 candidates, headed by a big three—McAdoo, Cox and Palmer—a scattering of lesser lights and including a padlock of dark horses nearby.

Unless some of the unexpected platform fights pelted out, there seemed little prospect of a candidate getting to the business of nominating a candidate at the night session unless it proposed to remain at work until daylight.

Notables Are Listed.

Just look at this array of royalty which is here, and the most illustrious of the 10,000,000 residents of the United States that esteemed friend of the Plumb Plan is doing his best to do. Mr. McAdoo, no space and the high telegraph tolls will not permit the complete listing of the White House machine, but here are a few of the best advertised of the lot:

Hughes, secretary of state; Josephus Daniels, secretary of navy; Edwin T. Meredith, secretary of agriculture; Albert Sidney Burleson, postmaster-general; Thomas D. Glass, senator from Virginia; Joseph T. Robinson, senator from Arkansas; Joseph O. Wheeler, senator from Alabama; Oscar W. Underwood, senator from Alabama; James D. Phelan, senator from California; John Burke, treasurer of the United States; Raymond T. Baker, director of the mint and himself some son-in-law, having married the daughter of the man who makes bromo seltzer, she being the widow of a Vanderbilt; Samuel L. Rogers, director of the census; H. Moyle, assistant secretary of the treasury; Jougott Shouse, assistant secretary of the treasury; Thomas D. Love, assistant secretary of the treasury; Angus W. McLean, secretary of the treasury; Daniel Callahan, director farm loan banks; Franklin D. Roosevelt, assistant secretary of the treasury; W. Woolley, member of the interstate commerce commission; Burleson's presence is taken to mean four years more of Burleson as postmaster-general if McAdoo is elected.

Some say it will be McAdoo to win because there are a lot of delegates in this convention who will not stand for anything so rank as the dictation of a son-in-law's nomination.

That is idle talk. True, there are some bosses to be contended with, but it is understood that the only differences between Mr. McAdoo and Charles F. Murphy, Tammany leader, relate to patronage.

No principle is involved between McAdoo and Murphy. All Mr. McAdoo has to do is to say "Charley, if you nominate me for president and I am elected, I will turn over to you the patronage for New York state which up to this time I have reserved under my royal rights as son-in-law of the royal family," and Mr. Murphy says that, look out. And if he is nominated it means that he did say those exact words or the substance thereof.

Davis Talk Is Idle.

Of course, it is possible that he may lose and that White House favor will fall on another whom it will be easier to reach an agreement with for Tammany and some other bosses. The names of Homer S. Cummings of Connecticut, chairman of the democratic national committee, and John W. Davis of West Virginia, ambassador to England, were projected into the contest for the purpose of providing landing fields for the White House layout now soaring high for McAdoo. It may be either of the latter. They

TENTATIVE PLATFORM STANDS FOR RATIFICATION OF LEAGUE

Draft by Democratic Sub-committee in Many Respects Like That of Virginia Bourbons Publicly Approved by President Wilson.

SAN FRANCISCO, July 1.—(By the Associated Press.)—The democratic platform as drafted by the sub-committee of nine and submitted to the full committee declared for ratification of the peace treaty as a requisite to preserve the honor and integrity of the nation, suggests that the Irish question can be brought legitimately before the league of nations and public opinion is silent on the subject of prohibition.

It advocates collective bargaining for farmers; opposes compulsory arbitration of labor disputes; declares for recognition of the new Mexican government when it has established order, and calls on the legislatures of Tennessee, Florida and North Carolina to ratify the suffrage amendment.

In many respects the platform follows that adopted by the Virginia democrats and publicly approved by President Wilson. The league of nations plank in particular was taken virtually whole from the Virginia platform, though in the details there have been modifications of many of the subjects have been added.

A summary of the sub-committee's draft follows:

Preamble.
Sends greetings to President Wilson commending his achievements in the interest of the peace and of the world. Commends in general terms the republican Congress.

League of Nations.
Repeats the Virginia plank with little variation, commending the action of the democratic republicans in ratifying the league and the separate peace resolution and opposing the ratification of the league and such membership in the league of nations as would impair national integrity or independence.

Conduct of the War.
Praises the administration's conduct of the war, commends the patriotic efforts of American citizens to aid the government and its military and naval forces with mention of General Pershing by name.

Finance.
Again incorporates the language of the Virginia democrats in extolling the federal reserve system and the financing of the war, condemning the republican proposals for extravagance.

Taxation.
Criticizes the republican congress for failing to revise war-time tax schedules and demands a survey of the tax conditions of the country. Opposes any public claims of economy, declaring that the most efficient government borrows money.

High Cost of Living.
Blames high cost production for high prices and declares that the government is responsible in that they delayed peace and failed to provide the president with necessary legislation.

War Investigations.
Commends the republicans for their use of appropriations in investigating the conduct of the war, condemning the republican profiteering.

Profitsharing.
Pledges the party to enactment and enforcement of legislation which would require to bring profiteers before the bar of criminal justice before the war.

Reaffirms democratic tariff doctrine.
Reaffirms democratic tariff doctrine as declared by a research on the subject by a non-partisan commission.

Budget.
Defends President Wilson's veto of the budget bill, declares that the budget was partially under direction of the secretary of the treasury, consolidated auditing.

Postal Service.
Commends democratic administration of the postal service and makes a blanket declaration for higher salaries for postal employees. Advocates greater use of motor vehicles in transportation of mail and extension of the parcel post.

Free Speech.
Declares for free speech and a free press except insofar as it may attack the life of the nation.

Agriculture.
Praises the democratic record in establishing farm loan banks and other farm legislation. Indorses collective bargaining and researches into production costs.

Labor.
Follows the Virginia plank in declaring strikes and lockouts should not jeopardize the permanent public interest, but adds a statement of opposition to compulsory arbitration. Favors re-adjustment of salaries of government employees.

Suffrage.
Congratulates legislatures that have ratified the suffrage amendment and urges democratic governments and legislatures of Tennessee, North Carolina and Florida to complete ratification in time for women to vote this fall.

Declares Women in Industry.
Declares against child labor. Favors legislation for child welfare and maternal care. Advocates increase in teachers' salaries. Favors extension of vocational education, better conditions for working women and declassification of the civil service with a view to equality of the sexes. Indorses separate citizenship for married women.

Soldier Compensation.
Advocates generosity to disabled soldiers, but declares against excessive bond issues to pay compensation which would put patriotism on a cash basis.

DEMOCRATS EXTEND SYMPATHY TO ERIN

Plank Advocating Self-Government Adopted.

DEBATE LASTS LONG

Sub-Committee Proposal That Issue Be Put Up to League of Nations is Rejected.

SAN FRANCISCO, July 1.—Under a plank adopted today by the platform committee, the democratic party would express sympathy with the aspirations of the Irish people for self-government and pledge such action in the matter as would be consistent with international comity and usage.

The action was taken after a long debate, during which the committee rejected the sub-committee plank proposing to leave settlement of the Irish question to the league of nations and voted down the proposal for a plank pledging diplomatic recognition of the Irish republic.

When the committee took a 20-minute recess at 2:15 P. M., the question of prohibition had not been taken up.

One Proposal is Rejected.

After the sub-committee plank proposing to leave settlement of the Irish question to the league of nations had been rejected, a plank merely to express sympathy for the Irish people in their aspirations for self-government then was offered. Before the committee acted on it, Frank P. Walsh, head of the American commission for Irish independence, resumed a hearing behind closed doors.

Mr. Walsh advocated a plank pledging the party to diplomatic recognition of the Irish republic. He declared he had been instructed by a caucus of about 200 Irish sympathizers who are convention delegates to say that anything less would be considered an evasion of the issue.

Argument Not Allowed.

Mr. Walsh was not permitted to argue before the committee, however, a request that he be given that privilege being voted down after he had gone before the committee room. The motion that he be allowed to make an argument was made by Senator Walsh of Massachusetts.

Members of the committee who opposed the motion pointed out that Mr. Walsh already had presented his case in the committee's open hearings and that nothing was to be gained by taking time for its reiteration.

The fight for Irish recognition in the committee was led by Senator Walsh and W. Bourke Cockran of New York who developed a bitter row, with increasing indication that the question probably would have to be settled finally on the floor of the convention.

McADOO FOES DISAGREE

some who say that if Mr. Bryan should be successful in obtaining the plank he has introduced he is the only man who could run on it, and these same old-line leaders charged that the creation of that situation was a part of the Bryan program.

McADOO WINS IN WASHINGTON

Ten Delegates of 14 Cast Vote for Former Secretary in Poll.

SAN FRANCISCO, Cal., July 1.—(Special.)—McAdoo has ten votes in the Washington delegation, Owen I. Cummings 1, Gerard I. and Davis 1, according to a poll taken this morning.

At a conference of the delegation today, E. W. Robertson of Spokane was directed to second the nomination of former Secretary James Hamilton Lawson, chairman of the delegation, and Richard Seely Jones of Seattle, a former service man, was instructed to second the nomination of General Tason.

A telegram from the delegation from former Senator George Turner of Spokane, who left her a fortune and formerly a well-known actress. She was the leading woman for several seasons of the Baker stock company, and is admirably remembered in Oregon. I shall hunt her up and deliver a eulogy for her. (Ten minutes later—I hunted for her, but she had not returned to the West Virginia delegation. I left with Senator Wilson, chairman of the delegation, the compliments of Oregon.)

Resolutions Report Awaited.

A gray-haired woman in black from the Philippines is nominating a resolution. As an alarming rumor has spread through the press section that it is the much-married Francis Burton Harrison, governor-general of the Philippines.

The rumor is correct. Humph. Apparently they do not worry about such domestic affairs in the Philippines. It's 1 o'clock and the long and necessary job is done. The chair-man makes an announcement for two, and then a reading clerk at the galleries made up mostly of California delegates, in uprisings laughter, by reading a recitation from what he called "Valley Ho" (Vallejo). The mayor of Los Angeles makes a few light remarks about the glorious climate of southern California, and then a reading clerk at the galleries made up mostly of California delegates, in uprisings laughter, by reading a recitation from what he called "Valley Ho" (Vallejo).

BERLIN, July 1.—Germany's total debt is 255,000,000,000 marks, Minister of Finance Wirth announced before a stock company playing at a Washington theater. Her theatrical career
