oasy eye on the White House lest they incur the president's displeasure. Only the direct interposition of a message from the president himself could now make the McAdoo movement important. The president may or may not take that step. If he does not, he will never be able to escape the responsibility of having named his son-in-law. This will be true in spite of the fact that he has never affirmed to his friends that he favored McAdoo's favor. However, this is now a matter for the coming campaign.

So the situation stands at a moment when the beginning of the balloting is presumably a matter of hours. It should be added that both the Palmer forces and the Cox forces, especially the former, continue to assert confidence in their strength.

COMPANY TO STAND TRIAL

COUNSEL CLAIMS NET PROFITS WERE 6.66 PER CENT. Court Refuses to Dismiss Case Against Spokane Corporation Charged With Profiteering.

SPOKANE, Wash., July 2.—(Special.)—The net profit on the 1919 sales of the Culbertson, Grote, Rankin company department store was 6.66 per cent, according to former United States Senator George Turner, defendant's counsel, who made the opening statement for the defendant corporation today in the federal court in the hearing of the government action charging the taking of excessive profits.

Judge Turner declared the gross sales of the corporation for 1919 amounted to $2,777,647; gross earnings $1,085,063, of which $79,470 was paid in income tax and $192,480 in excess profits taxes, leaving a net profit of $185,123, or 6.66 per cent on the two- and three-quarter million dollar sales.

"These are perilous times for the retail merchant," said Judge Turner, addressing the jury. "The merchant has his choice either of stepping inside the yawning gates of a penitentiary or within the wide open portals of the bankruptcy court."

Judge Turner declared that the defense will show that the original markup on reasonable goods such as men's suits, and especially women's suits, must be between 100 and 150 per cent above the cost, in order to face bankruptcy. The merchant must sell reasonable women's suits in season if he expects to make a profit, he declared.

The court denied Judge Turner's motion to dismiss.

BRAKE CHARGES CRUELTY

DUBINSKY SUSPECT SAYS HE IS BECOMING ILL. Food Is Scant, Light Is Denied During Day and Clothing Is Soiled, Is Youth's Plaintiff.

Demand that Russell Brake, suspect in the Harry Dubinsky murder case, be permitted to see persons besides his attorney, he removed from his dark solitary cell in Multnomah county jail, and be allowed a change of underclothes and hair-cut, are the demands of the youth's attorney, Tom Garland, attorney for the boy in the local jail.

The motion is supported by an affidavit in which Brake protests his innocence of the murder charge and when in the week intervening their time and memories were taken up with the Shriner's week, parades and crowds.

"I have been kept constantly in the Multnomah county jail in solitary confinement, and I have received so dark in the day time that I can but dimly see to read or write. The only light is at night when it would be too much trouble to put out the lights elsewhere, so I get some light for a few hours.

My beard and hair have grown long and unkempt. My personal effects, money and clothes have been taken from me, and I have not been allowed no change of underclothes and very scant food.

I am becoming weak and sick through the treatment I have received since the day of my arrest and I am innocent of the crime charged against me.

PLEA FILED AT OREGON CITY

Attorney Asks That Brake Be Allowed to See Visitors.

OREGON CITY, July 2.—(Special.)—Tom Garland, attorney for Russell Brake, who is held in the Multnomah county jail on a charge of murdering Harry Dubinsky, a Portland taxi driver, filed a motion Friday asking that Brake be released from solitary confinement and be placed in a lighter and better cell. The motion also asks that Brake be allowed visitors and changes of clothing, shaves, haircuts, etc.

Mr. Brake asks that he be allowed visitors, thinking that probably someone who saw him on the streets the night of the murder may remember it and help him to prove an alibi. He claims that days are precious to him, as he fears that any who saw him will forget it. From the motion it is indicated that Brake intends to have an alibi for his defense.
