Ex-Governor of State Will Not Indorse Nominee Until Stand on Prohibition Is Known.

Oswald West said: "Those who know Governor Cox speak highly of him. As governor of his state he has a splendid record and would undoubt-edly make a good president. In these days, however, when party platforms are bunk, we have to put our trust in the candidate. We are interested. therefore, in knowing just what he stands for and what we may expect in the way of a programme in event of his election.

"The next president is going to be confronted with many momentous problems and we today have a pretty good line on what these problems are to be.
