

LOW PASS HIGHWAY ROUTE IS ADOPTED

Old Controversy Cleared Up on Eugene-Florence Road.

INSPECT MT. HOOD LOOP

State Commission Accepts Plan for Crater Lake Road and Orders Umatilla Road Survey.

DOINGS OF STATE HIGHWAY COMMISSION.

Will probably decide Mount Hood loop location today. Access proposals to expedite Crater lake road. Appropriates money for forestry department to complete Tiller trail. Canceled proposal made to Clackamas county for bridge at Oregon City. Adopts "low pass" route over protest of Chairman Benson. Will call for bids within a few weeks on this job. General survey ordered from Umatilla to Waiilatpu Junction.

Today members of the state highway commission will make a personal inspection of routes to connect Multnomah county with the Mount Hood loop. The cheapest and shortest route will be selected. While the commission has no intimation of what they will decide, the impression prevails that they may take the road to Sandy from Gresham, avoiding the so-called "burr road" and thence on to Brightwood. Philip Dater, representing the government, urged the commission to arrange for a mile and a half of construction work on the Hood River side of the loop, next to the reserve, so that slashing can be done this season.

Low Pass Route Adopted. On the second day of the commission session a number of important matters which have been hanging fire were cleared up. One of these was the adoption of the low pass route for the Eugene-Florence highway, which has been in controversy almost ever since the commission was organized. Commissioners Adams, Booth, Thompson and Kiddle have in turn favored the low-pass route, but Chairman Benson has stood out against them for the high pass. Yesterday, when Commissioner Kiddle voted for the low pass, Commissioner Booth moved that the state cooperate with Lane county in the project on a 50-50 basis, the county now having funds in bank for this enterprise. Mr. Kiddle seconded the motion.

Chairman Benson declared that has been the greatest outrage that has been perpetrated on the highway commission. He stigmatized it as a "graft" and declared that he suspected there was a real estate scheme somewhere back of it and that he intends blocking the project if he can. He also charged that the project was illegal. To this Mr. Booth replied that the road was constructed by the legislature. Originally it was named in the law as a postroad, but the decision of Mr. Booth and Mr. Kiddle make it a state and county co-operation.

Tiller Trail Voted $15,000. The commission also agreed to cooperate with Lane county to the extent of $15,000 for stationing out kinks in the McKenzie pass road. The Tiller trail project was voted $15,000. The money will be handled by the forestry service and will connect a couple of dead ends. The projects will be carried on this year. Being short of funds, the commission accepted the proposal of the Jackson county county to build a 16-foot macadam road from Medford to Eagle Point and a 12-foot road from there to Tiller on the north side of the lake. The court offered to advance the state's share with the understanding that it be reimbursed. The project cannot be closed until the government consents, and at present the bureau of public roads wants extra wide hard-surfaced highways. Bonds which Jackson county voted for this work have been invalidated by a sweeping decision in the supreme court. If the government agrees, work on the Crater lake road can start this year.

Bond Decision Has Effect. Because of the bond decision of the supreme court, the commission canceled its proposal to pay a large part of the cost for a new structure across the Willamette river at Oregon City. This bond decision has upset plans in many counties, but will not materially affect many projects, as only a few counties were getting in shape to have the bonds affected by the decision. Walla Walla people who want a short cut from their town to Umatilla, hooking into the Columbia highway at Umatilla, thus avoiding the route into Pendleton, won the commission to the point of having a reconnaissance survey ordered. To carry on the rocking of a new grade between Seaside and the Tillamook county line, the commission appropriated $20,000, which matches the sum which the county is putting into the road. This strip of 15 miles will be a section of the coast "loop."

Wasco county has done nothing toward making a connection from the present county road to the new Deschutes river bridge, and the attorney-general was authorized to obtain a right of way. The bridge will be ready for travel in a month.

Logs May Be Moved. Bottled by the Columbia highway in Columbia county a two fox truck logger, will be granted permission to get his logs across the highway by paying $1 for each 1000 feet hauled across the road. If this sum is not sufficient to repair any damages incurred, Mr. Nordgren must make up the work from Salem south and from Albany to Tangent was referred to the state engineer.

Action on contracts was taken as follows: Sexton mountain surfacing, awarded; Roseburg to Wilbur, awarded; Talent to Reservoir, awarded; Newberg to Dundee, awarded; Bend to the Jefferson county line, awarded; Butler or section road readvertised; Sheridan to Polk county line, referred to engineer; Sherman county section of Columbia highway, rejected; job in Tillamook, awarded to the county court. The low bids on these jobs were published in The Oregonian yesterday.

The late Nelson P. Wheeler of Endeavor, Pa., uncle of J. E. Wheeler and L. R. Wheeler, president and vice-president, respectively, of the Telegram Publishing company, left timber land valued at approximately $2,000,000 in Oregon and more than $800,000 on deposit in local banks out of his $5,500,000 estate, according to petition for probate of the will filed in the circuit court yesterday. The petitioner was Nelson P. Wheeler Jr., who asked that T. H. Ward, a local attorney, be appointed administrator of the will annexed for Oregon.

Beneficiary names in the will include the widow Mrs. Rachel Wheeler, Endeavor, Pa.; Rachel Farley of Rochester, N. Y.; daughter, Nelson P. W. Reginald and A. Royal Wheeler, sons of Endeavor, Pa., and the Home of the Friendless, Randolph, N. C. Five thousand dollars goes to the Home of the Friendless and $500 annually to the Presbyterian church of Endeavor until the estate is closed.

LUMBERMEN MEET FRIDAY

THREE DAYS' SESSION TO OPEN AT MULTNOMAH HOTEL.

Revision of Railroad Rates, Trade Acceptances, Will Come Up for Discussion.

More than 100 lumbermen of the northwest are expected in attendance at the summer session of the West Coast Lumbermen's association to be held at the Multnomah hotel tomorrow afternoon and evening. It had been announced that the session would be held today, but it was postponed. At 10 o'clock in the morning directors of the organization will hold a business session and at 2:30 in the afternoon a general membership will meet. Two important subjects are expected to take up most of the afternoon session, revision of railroad rates and trade acceptances. Representatives of the association who attended the recent rate hearing at Washington—J. N. Teal and George Gerlinger of this city and A. C. Dixon of Eugene—will make reports on the rate matter, and R. W. Schmeer of the United States National bank will lead the discussion on trade acceptances.

The session will close with a dinner at the Multnomah, at which Joseph Fordney of Michigan, chairman of the ways and means committee of the house of representatives, will be the principal speaker.

DR. NUNN BACK FROM WAR

PHYSICIAN IN BRITISH HOSPITALS SINCE 1915.

Pioneer Specialist Says Housing Conditions in London Worst in Country's History.

Dr. Richard Nunn, pioneer eye, ear, nose and throat specialist of Portland, who has been serving in the British army since April, 1915, arrived home Tuesday. Commissioned as a captain, Dr. Nunn saw only about four months active service in France as he was attached to the eye hospital at Salisbury, where there were more than 150,000 patients. He was also stationed at Portsmouth, Plymouth, Oxford and Chatham.

Housing conditions, according to Dr. Nunn, in London are the worst in history. All of the larger hotels are crowded and terminal hotels only permit guests to remain 14 days in order to accommodate the influx of American tourists who are constantly arriving to tour the battlefields. Garbage rooms in London being exorbitantly rented, Dr. Nunn states.

Dr. Nunn, accompanied by his wife, arrived in New York on the Mauritania July 26, but were unable to proceed west on account of lack of Pullman accommodations.

MAN REPORTS $400 THEFT

Money Disappears on Joyride With Two Men and a Woman.

Inspectors are investigating the report of Robert Jensen of the Linden house, Front and Madison streets, that he lost $400 while on a joy ride with two men and a woman.

Jensen told the inspectors that he was intoxicated at the time and that he remembered very little of what happened. He was able to give but a meagre description of the persons he was with and knew but little about where they took him.

George Herron, 267 Broadway, reported that his room was entered and a purse containing $15 taken. The home of E. B. Swallow, 838 Marshall street, was reported to the police yesterday. The loot taken included a couple of stickpins, a breast pin and an azate ring.

Olis Wortman & King reported to the police that two fox fur neck loggers, had been taken from the women's locker room at that establishment.

Miss M. F. Hanjfin, 514 Fourteenth street in Oregon City, told the police that her residence had been entered and $14 in cash, two watches and some other jewelry taken.
