

DEMOCRATIC DRIVE FOR SCADS NOW ON

$10,000 Reported Already in Sight for Campaign.

DR. MORROW GOES EAST

Much Said to Hang on Conference of National Committee—Headquarters to Open Soon.

About $10,000 is already in sight in Portland to finance the democratic campaign. Headquarters will be opened by July 20 and the campaign, from the democratic side, will then be on.

Dr. J. W. Morrow, national committeeman, will be in the home of Governor Cox to attend a conference of the national committee. Selection of a national chairman will be made, with the advice and consent of the presidential nominee, and an executive committee will be selected. Dr. Morrow apparently has no special thought on these matters, but he is still obsessed with the determination to have Portland designated as western headquarters.

At one time it was announced that Spokane had been selected as headquarters for this part of the country, but yesterday Dr. Morrow said J. Bruce Kremer had informed him that Spokane had lost out. Wherever western headquarters may be located, there Mr. Kremer will be. The Oregon national committeeman figures that Portland has a pretty fair chance of winning.

Money Now Being Raised.
Finances of the presidential campaign have been under consideration for practically a year and a pretty good sum is being raised to carry Oregon for Cox and Roosevelt. Last year the state committee adopted a resolution authorizing the national committeeman to look after the financial preliminaries. The committee also directed the national committeeman to hold on to the money and not send it all back to national headquarters, except to forward what might be a fair pro rata.

Under the present programme of raising the wind for the campaign, federal office-holders outside of Portland will not be asked to kick-in to state headquarters, but the federal brigade will not escape. Whatever money is raised in a county will be spent in that county, so that each of the counties will have the task of financing itself. This plan, it is argued, will raise more money than any other, as contributors are likely to be more numerous when they know their subscriptions will be spent at home.

Oregon Republican State.
There isn't a head of respect of much money being sent to Oregon by the national committee, because Oregon is a black republican state and the national committee prefers sending money into states where dependable ground is being laid. It may be what prompted the state committee to decide to hold on to such money as is raised in Oregon and dole out only a portion to the national committee, instead of sending the sack sack and then having to beg to get some of it back.

Dr. C. J. Smith, democratic state chairman, is now rustling around for suitable rooms for headquarters. The state chairman, state secretary and county chairman and secretary will have offices in the same headquarters, so that they can keep in close touch. Rooms will probably be opened by next Tuesday and the campaign will be ready to start. In this campaign there will be a dual organization, for in addition to the county committee-men who are members of the state committee, there will also be a woman committee member and this dual organization is intended to extend into every county organization.

OXYGEN SHORTAGE FATAL

Deaths in Old Mine Shaft Due to Inadequate Preparation.

SEATTLE, July 13.—Insufficient supply of oxygen in their helmets caused the death of the three members of the Pacific Coast Coal company's rescue crew who lost their lives last Saturday while exploring an abandoned shaft, according to a statement today by Deputy Coroner Corson, who conducted an investigation of the case. Mr. Corson said he did not consider an inquest necessary.

The inquiry showed that De Winter and Hughes, two of the victims, filled their masks when the supply tank pressure was running low and did not obtain enough oxygen to last through the experiment. No fault was found with the equipment.

CHILD, GRANDFATHER DIE

Relative Drowns in Attempt to Rescue 12-Year-Old Boy.

LEWISTON, Idaho, July 13.—(Special.)—In attempting to rescue his little grandson from drowning, A. S. Wright, for the last 22 years a resident of the Grangeville section, lost his life Saturday in the Middle Fork of the Clearwater river, near Lower Will. The grandfather, coming to the boy's rescue, was swept out by the current and perished with the child before help could come.

The bodies were recovered shortly after the accident.

Mr. Wright was 59 years old and is survived by his widow, one son and one daughter, Mrs. George Willey.

Exhibition of Stock to Be Made Annual Event by Southern Oregon Ranchers.

MARSHFIELD, Or., July 13.—(Special.)—The stock show held here during the celebration period has given an impulse to the interest in cattle breeding and has resulted in the organization of the Southwestern Oregon Livestock association, a $25,000 corporation which aims to assist the ranchers of this district in improving their dairy herds and the breed of range cattle. It also contemplates an annual livestock exposition in Marshfield and will construct a pavilion for its housing. Rev. J. T. Anderson is president of the association, and Mair Dano is secretary-treasurer. Walter Butler, D. A. Jones, Joe Williams, J. W. Davis, George E. Dix and L. J. Simpson are the directors.

The first show, held early in July, attracted thousands of visitors. Guernseys, Jerseys and Holsteins were exhibited, the general showing being almost entirely dairy stock. More than 60 animals were in the stalls and hogs and poultry were also exhibited. Following the exposition the Holstein breeders held a meeting and arranged for the purchase of two carloads of fullblood Holsteins for breeding purposes. The purchase was placed in the hands of C. C. Farr, county agent, and Jay L. Smith, former agent and now employed by Coos county banks as special agent for bettering the stock business.

AGILITY SAVES DEPUTIES

Alleged Lunatic Had Revolver in Hand When Throttled.

What might have proved a duplication of the tragic death of Bob Phillips, former chief criminal deputy under Sheriff Hariburt, was narrowly averted by Deputy Sheriff Christofferson, who occupies the position formerly held by Phillips, in arresting an insane man yesterday.

Phillips was shot and instantly killed by an insane patient who had escaped from Salem, while in the act of making an arrest, November 21, 1917. But for the quick action of Christofferson and Deputy Schirmer, Philip Kielback, who was taken into custody yesterday on an insane warrant, might have shot one or both of his officers.

When the officers told him they wanted him, the man reached under his pillow. Recollection of the death of Phillips flashed through the minds of Christofferson and Schirmer. As with one impulse they sprang upon Kielback. As they pulled him from the bed he had snatched a loaded .38-caliber revolver.

OREGON ASKED TO LEAD

AMERICANIZATION WORKER APPEALS TO STATE FOR AID.

Mr. Dawson Flays Defamers of U. S. for Distrust Shown in American Government.

"We cannot teach the immigrant and the rising generation to respect a government which is called invisible and irresponsible by our conservative statesmen," said Dr. Edgar Dawson, who has come to Portland to give courses in Americanization for the University of Oregon summer session.

"Nothing will come of the movement for Americanization unless it is realized that our democracy depends on study of the situation being made general, and that this cannot take place unless it is given far greater recognition in our school programmes and courses of study," he said yesterday. "It seems natural to expect that Oregon, where the public mind has been so fully awakened to government by the people, should now lead in recognizing the need of so organizing the means of public administration that efficiency may be assured."

Dr. Dawson has been granted a year's leave of absence from Hunter college, New York, to study methods of teaching democratic government in the secondary schools and colleges and to report to the United States bureau of education. He has come to Portland from Eugene, where he has been lecturing for three weeks in courses at the central library, one at 9 A. M. in the teaching of citizenship and Americanization in the schools, and the other at 10 A. M. a course for teachers of civics, economics and sociology.

Ten Years Younger Than His Years

Doesn't it make you feel good—cause you to straighten up and feel "chesty"—when someone guesses your age at ten years or so younger than you really are? You look into your mirror, smile with satisfaction and say to yourself: "Well, he didn't make such a bad guess, at that."

The point is: You're no older than your vitality.

If a man is strong, vigorous, mentally alert, fine and fit at 50 he has a better chance of living up to 80 than a man of 30 who is weak and run-down has of living up to 60. While none of us can stay the years nor stop time, we should all make an heroic effort to successfully resist the effects of time by ever keeping our vitality at par.

When you sense a feeling of slowing down of your physical forces—when your stomach, liver, kidneys and other organs show signs of weakness—when you notice a lack of your old time "pep" and "punch"—in other words, when you feel your vitality is on the wane, you should commence at once to restore your energy, strength and endurance by taking
