

PORTLAND COUNTY HELP IN TRAIN-HUNT

Five to Join Pursuers of Sheriff Taylor's Slayer.

NET IS SPREAD IN CITY

Poses of Armed Citizens and Deputies Take Up Trail at Dawn; Force Well Organized.

Tom Swennes and John McCulloch, inspectors, and C. E. Klingsmith, patrolman of the Portland police bureau, were sent to Pendleton last night by Police Lieutenant Day under direction of Mayor Baker to aid the Umatilla county officials in the hunt for the murderer of Sheriff Taylor and the apprehension of the men who successfully broke jail in Pendleton yesterday.

Sheriff Hurlbert dispatched Chief Criminal Deputy Christofferson and Deputy Schirmer. Police officials have spread a net around the various entrances to the city to apprehend any of the fugitives should they attempt to enter Portland today. Detailed descriptions of the men who broke jail yesterday were received by Captain of Inspectors Circle last night from Deputy Sheriff Marin of Umatilla county and were transmitted to all the men in the department as they reported on their shifts.

Baker Rushes Aid. As quickly as word of the death of Sheriff Taylor was communicated to Mayor Baker he rushed to the police station and ordered that the three officers be sent to Pendleton.

The sheriff was informed by telephone last night the work of hunting down the men was unorganized during the afternoon hours because of the excitement which prevailed when it became known that Sheriff Taylor had been shot.

By daylight, however, the organized forces were gotten together and when the armed citizens and deputies take up the trail at break of day this morning they will be under capable leadership and thoroughly organized.

Mayor Praises Taylor. "Sheriff Taylor was the most courageous, nerve and yet the most gentle and humane officer in the state," said Mayor Baker. "His death is a great loss to the entire Pacific northwest. His death should and will make it tough for all criminals in the future."

"Sheriff Taylor was always ready to co-operate with Portland officials in the apprehension of criminals and whenever it was necessary he would hasten to Portland to give us the benefit of his years of experience in rounding up law-breakers."

"Our police department will do everything within its power to help although I feel that before midnight Monday the men who are wanted will be in the custody of the officials. Those folks up in Umatilla county are the last people in the world that will stand for the sort of thing that happened at noon yesterday. They won't sleep until the guilty men are again in custody."

CAR DITCHED; THREE HURT

FRONT WHEEL OF MACHINE REELS OFF SUDDENLY.

Miss Lenore Coon of Salem Sustains Serious Injuries; Motorists on Way to Portland.

SALEM, Or., July 25.—(Special.)—Miss Lenore Coon, 23, a prominent young woman of this city, is in the hospital suffering serious injuries sustained late this afternoon when an automobile in which she was riding went into the ditch near Aurora.

Other members of the party injured were Ivan Farmer, driver, of the Farmer Hardware company of Salem, slightly bruised, and Edward Pama, traveling salesman of the W. P. Fuller company of Portland, severely cut about the face, hands and body. Mrs. Farmer escaped unhurt.

The party was on its way to Portland, Miss Coon being the guest of Mr. and Mrs. Farmer, when one of the front wheels of the machine came off suddenly and the car careened its rolling way into the ditch at the side of the road. The car was said to have been going about 25 miles an hour at the time.

Passing motorists picked up the victims of the accident and brought them to Salem.

Miss Coon was formerly employed in one of the state departments but recently had been an assistant in the office of Dr. O. L. Scott.

COURT TO HONOR CLERK

Municipal Session This Morning to Be Omitted for Funeral.

No session of the municipal court will be held this morning on account of the funeral services for Nicholas J. F. Beutgen, 29, the son of N. D. Beutgen, clerk of the court. The regular afternoon session will be held and an effort will be made to finish the cases set, according to announcement by Municipal Judge Rossman last night.

Mr. Beutgen died Saturday at the family home, 735 Commercial street. He is survived by his parents and a sister, Miss Gladys Beutgen. Funeral services will be held today at 9 A. M. from St. Mary's church. Interment will be in Mount Calvary cemetery.

DAMASCUS FRENCH GOAL

Troops Resume March as Result of Attack on Detachment.

BEIRUT, Syria, July 25.—The French troops have resumed their march on Damascus as a result of an attack on a French detachment by the troops of Prince Feisal, head of the Syrian state, after he had accepted the ultimatum of General Gouraud. The French are expected to enter Damascus this morning.

Rail Wage Award to Get Vote.

ST. LOUIS, Mo., July 25.—The wage award made by the United States railway board is to be immediately submitted to the membership of the Order of Railway Telegraphers for a vote as to acceptance or rejection. It was announced here tonight. Rejection automatically carries with it a strike, he said.

TIL TAYLOR IS LAUDED BY MANY FRIENDS IN PORTLAND

Warm Admiration Expressed by Those Who Knew Him Well for His Efforts and Success in Running Down Desperadoes.

MEN from every part of Oregon were warm friends of Sheriff Til Taylor and recognized him as a man who knew no fear and who was ever on the job as a peace officer. From these men came tributes to Sheriff Taylor, tributes of admiration gained through the years of service of Sheriff Taylor, when he displayed the fact that he was a man who was ready to face his duty at all times. Some of the interviews gained yesterday in Portland follow:

S. E. Livmore, Pendleton.—Til has been mighty lucky in the past. It's a shame that he had to get it from a bunch of dirty rats. He was a wonderful sheriff and we who live in Pendleton know that we will never have another peace officer who will be like him.

R. S. Schwalbe, Pendleton.—It is hard to believe that Sheriff Taylor is gone. He has come out on top in so many desperate battles that it doesn't seem possible that someone got him. Oregon has lost its greatest peace officer and Umatilla county has suffered a loss that is irreplaceable.

E. B. (Pat) Mahaffey, Bend.—I predict that there will be a hot time in Pendleton tonight. It's a downright shame that old Til, who is a veteran of many battles, a man who did not know the definition of the word fear, should meet his death in the way he did.

I have known Til Taylor for years and know that he was a man full of courage, ready to do all in his power to enforce the laws of our state. He was the greatest peace officer of the state.

Herman von Borstel, Portland.—Sheriff Taylor for each service as a lion and as gentle as a lamb. He didn't have an enemy in the world. Even the crooks liked him for his nerve and they all held him in respect.

Denton Burdick, Redmond.—Sheriff Taylor was one of my warmest friends. His death is lamentable. It is difficult to know what to say under the circumstances. The dirty whelp who is responsible for his death is not only guilty of a terrible crime but has also robbed the state of Oregon of one of its grandest citizens and one of its most efficient servants.

H. Carr, Pendleton.—Sheriff Taylor, or Til as we all knew him, never took a place in the background. He probably met his death because of this fact. There was no criminal or the face of the world who could throw a fear conspicuously in the vacation of Dr. J. J. Staub of the Sunnyside Congregational church. Dr. and Mrs. Staub will motor to Seattle early today, leaving today, to attend the wedding of their son, Dr. Raymond Staub, who graduated in June from the University of Oregon medical school, to Miss Pearl Rosebraugh. Miss Rosebraugh is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Rosebraugh, former members of the Sunnyside Methodist church. Dr. George B. Pratt, a Portland optician and a close friend of Dr. Staub's, will preach next Sunday in the pastor's absence, and the following Sunday Robert E. Millard, one of the Sunnyside laymen, will occupy the pulpit.

Dr. W. B. Hinson, pastor of the East Side Baptist church, has been on his vacation for several weeks and will not return to his desk until after September 1. During June and July his assistant pastor, Rev. Cash, has filled the pulpit, but during this month he, too, will vacation. Dr. J. Reid, state Baptist evangelist, will conduct services at this church during August. Dr. Hinson is now in the city, having returned from denominational conferences held in Buffalo and Chicago. He will preach next Sunday in the First Baptist church of Vancouver, B. C.

Dr. Earl Morse Wilbur will give the morning address next Sunday morning at the Church of our Father. Dr. W. G. Elliot Jr., the pastor, will return during the following week from the "religious Plattsburg" from the training school conducted by his denomination during the summer school sessions at Harvard university, Cambridge.

Dr. Nugent of the Central Presbyterian church is away on his vacation. Dr. Arthur F. Bishop, former pastor, will substitute for him this coming Sunday. During the next few summer months substitute and visiting pastors will occupy the pulpit of the First Presbyterian church but with the coming of Dr. Harold L. Bowman to this pastorate, services will be conducted by him.

Dr. R. H. Sawyer of the East Side Christian church is expected to return to Portland this week after several months spent in England. He was accompanied by his eldest daughter, Miss Sawyer, and will soon start an international conference of denominational officials. The conference was held in London. He is expected to conduct services on Sunday.

Because of daily problems arising from plans for the new church, construction of which will soon start, Rev. H. H. Griffin of the First Christian church has announced he will not take any vacation this year.

Dr. Joshua Stansfield, pastor of the First Methodist church, is another who will conduct his services during the coming months with no change in the usual schedule as far as is now known. He took his rest time during the month of February, using that occasion to attend some national sessions of his denomination in the east.

Dr. Josiah Stansfield, pastor of the First Methodist church, is another who will conduct his services during the coming months with no change in the usual schedule as far as is now known. He took his rest time during the month of February, using that occasion to attend some national sessions of his denomination in the east.

To be held in connection with the centennial celebration conducted by the Congregational denomination in Boston in honor of the landing of the Pilgrims, William T. McElveen of the First Congregational church went east during June. At the centennial he appeared several times during the programme. He is expected to return in time to conduct services on August 5.

Dr. Josiah Stansfield, pastor of the new Forest Grove Congregational church, will occupy the pulpit of the first Congregational church at both services during next Sunday. Before Dr. McElveen returns he will visit New York, Boston and Evansville, Ill., where he previously held pastorates.

Agriculture Alone Exempted From Federal Control.

SPEECH IN HOUSE QUOTED

Stand of Democratic Nominee Is Taken When Representative on March 27, 1912.

OREGONIAN NEWS BUREAU, Washington, D. C., July 25.—Governor James M. Cox, democratic nominee for president, wants government control of every utility except agriculture. This is not a hearsay statement, but a direct quotation from the official stenographic report of his speech as made on the floor of congress. These are his exact words:

"I think that all utilities except that of agriculture should be held by the government."

Governor Cox, then a member of the house of representatives, made this statement during the course of a speech on March 27, 1912. It is reported in full on page 3898 of the Congressional Record of that date.

Mr. Chairman: In all suggested legislation bearing upon the utility industry there are two markedly different opinions—the eastern view, which is very largely held by the persons who hold the modern notions of conservation, and the western view, that is shared by those who believe that the federal land reserves form entirely too large a part of their states. It was perfectly apparent in this house that Wednesday morning that the body at the other end of the capitol, when this bill was under discussion, in large part adopted the view of the easterners.

The persons who have been opposed to liberalizing these laws have been dominated by the fear, more or less widespread, that many of these alleged hoarders go there for the purpose of mineral exploitation, the exploitation of timber lands and other things. We have adopted and I believe that the western members and the members of the committee, in large part, are making a mistake in opposing these amendments, which are now suggested. I think that all utilities except that of agriculture should be held by the government."

Lee D. Drake, Pendleton.—Sheriff Taylor was a wonderful sheriff in every respect. He knew no fear and yet was as gentle as a woman. Until last week, when he caught Owens in the thumb with a bullet, he had never seen a man who was so far from many chances and he never drew his gun until it was absolutely necessary.

He was a member of a horse team that broke a world's record. He was Umatilla's most active man and his death comes not alone as a severe shock to his friends, but as a heavy blow to the community.

Roy W. Rittner, Pendleton.—Umatilla county has lost in the death of Sheriff Til Taylor a man who was as noble as a lion and as gentle as a lamb. The Pendleton Round-up association will lose its most valuable man in the association, and I have no idea who we can find to replace him.

Fair Fined, Then Charged With Destroying Evidence Seized by Officers in Raid.

MONROE, Wis., July 25.—(Special.)—As the party fled the corridor of a county jail early today, Connie Murphy and Charley Kafer were as dry as a gila monster in an Arizona desert. Zigzagging home last night they were taken in for safe keeping and, being the only occupants, were struck by the sun of the jail. Of a sudden Connie halted before a cell door and sniffed the air delightedly. "A small booze," he whispered huskily. "Hootch, sure," said Charley hoarsely, as he inhaled a tempting aroma.

They peered through the locked and barred door. The sunlight, streaming through the cell's narrow window, illumined a row of bottles on the floor. Eagerly the thirsting pair sought, joyously they found a pole. Then they went fishing through the bare. Slowly, dexterously they coaxed a bottle along the wall to the door. Only the bottle never could pass between the bars—but that was enough. Charley split wide his key ring and used one sharp pointed end as a corkscrew.

"Fine," said Connie when the bottle was empty. "Leash him again, Charley." This time they caught a square bottle within which glinted a crystal clear fluid.

They were making their third cast when the policeman who arrested them came to take them to court. "You fellows have an awful hang-over," said he after a glance. Then he saw the two empty bottles and sniffed the air.

"If'n on," he said. "Revenue Officer Thrig has the key to this cell. Meaning come along with me." Charley and Connie were fined $5 each for their proceedings of last night.

IRISH ALARM PLUNKET

SITUATION BELIEVED WORST IN FORTY YEARS. Press in Erin and England Reflect Same View; Carson Says Britain Is Entirely Beaten.

LONDON, July 25.—Sir Horace Plunkett, founder of the Irish dominion league and leader of the moderate Irish nationalist opinion, told a Newcastle audience today that the situation in Ireland is more alarming than within his knowledge of 40 years.

A similar view is reflected by the newspapers of England and Ireland. It is expressed in the speeches Thursday in the house of commons. Even Sir Edward Carson declared he had never known anything like the state of anarchy prevailing and that in three-quarters of Ireland, the British government has been entirely beaten.

The rioting in Belfast subsided today, but there are signs that the lull is only a respite from the storm.

Both from Premier Lloyd George's statement in the labor delegation Thursday and from Sir Horace's speech it is considered apparent that the government regards that a paring of the ways has been decided. One road leads toward negotiation with the Sinn Fein, the basis of a dominion form of government, while the other apparently leads toward the bitter period which Sir Horace foresees, with more soldiers and stricter laws for repression in the north.
