

SPECIALISTS HOLD ANNUAL CONVENTION

Ophthalmologists From Pacific Coast Attend Session.

CHICAGO EXPERT VISITOR

Illustrations Showing Treatment of Eye During War Are to Be Exhibited.

With nearly 100 specialists in eye, nose and throat treatment from the Rocky mountain and Pacific coast states present, the eighth annual meeting of the Pacific Coast Ophthalmological society opened in Portland yesterday.

Yesterday's morning session opened with an address of welcome by the president of the society, Dr. Wilson Johnston of Portland, and during the morning two addresses were given, as follows: "Chronic Dacryocystitis and Treatment by the West Operation" by Dr. A. J. Ridges of Salt Lake City, and "The Eye in Intracranial Lesions," by Dr. George M. Swift of Seattle.

Discussions on the two addresses were led by Dr. Copeland Plummer of Seattle and Dr. E. E. Maxey of Boise.

Chicago Specialist Talks. At the afternoon's session the attending ophthalmologists had the opportunity of listening to an address by Dr. J. Gordon Wilson of Chicago on the subject, "Experimental Investigations of the Function of the Labyrinth." Each year it is the custom of the society to invite some prominent member of the profession from a distant point to come to the session and deliver an address, and this year the invitation was extended to Dr. Wilson, who is professor of ology at the University of Chicago.

Officers' Election Saturday. Saturday sessions will be held in the morning and afternoon, with a business meeting and election of officers at the closing of the meeting. Two addresses of unusual interest to the laymen still remaining are, one on Friday afternoon on "Effects of Contaminated Air and of Explosions on the Ear, including Investigations of Shell Contusion Deafness During the War," by Dr. Wilson of Chicago, and one on Saturday morning by Dr. Harry V. Vurdemann of Seattle, accompanied with the showing of over 100 illustrations showing injuries and treatments to the eye during the war.
