

FRONT PORCH DRIVE SUITS PARTY HEADS

Leaders Approve Senator Harding's Decision.

MANY INVITATIONS COME

Republican Candidate May Deliver Couple of Speeches Outside for Exceptional Events.

MARION, O., Aug. 10.—Unaltered adherence to Senator Harding's front-porch programme was announced to-night after a consultation of the republican nominee with party leaders.

Chairman Will H. Hays said the candidate and his visitors agreed that his addresses should be delivered here, though he might go elsewhere for a "couple of speeches for exceptional events."

Harry M. Daugherty, member of the campaign executive committee, also declared there was perfect agreement on the subject.

"They said they had brought the candidate gratifying reports of the impression made by his stay-at-home method which more than offset the 'great pressure' brought to bear to induce him to speak away from home."

Friends Approve Decision. "It has been a conviction of Senator Harding," said Hays, "that he can speak deliberately at home and heartily and convincingly on the interesting topics and neither he nor his close friends have found reason to change their minds."

The chairman said that although many local leaders had asked that the candidate come into their states, he felt that the invitations were indicative of a disagreement with the general policy.

His talks in party leaders occupied virtually all of Senator Harding's day and he left his office only to vote in the state primaries.

Many details of campaign management were considered at today's conference. The suffrage situation in Tennessee is understood to have been discussed and it was indicated that the republican organization probably would bring increasing pressure to bear for ratification.

The league of nations issue also was considered and Mr. Hays said he considered the issue as being daily becoming more definite.

Accounting is Demanded. "Governor Cox," he added, "has thoroughly embraced the Wilson doctrine. He stands unequivocally for the Wilson administration without any reservations, as well as for the Wilson league of nations."

"The extent of the republican success will be measured in direct proportion with the knowledge on the part of the people of the facts. The people know and they know it in no doubt about republican success."

WELFARE OFFICIALS MEET

WORK OF VARIOUS BODIES TO BE CORRELATED.

10,000 Placards to be Printed and Posted in Public Places for Information.

State-wide co-operation between all public health officials is being effected in physical and mental health was effected yesterday at a meeting of 13 representatives of welfare societies in Washington.

David N. Roberg, state health officer. The meeting was held for the purpose of correlating the work in such a way that duplication will be eliminated.

Ten thousand placards listing the organizations and the nature of their work will be printed and placed in all the towns of the state. The placards will bear the names and addresses of the secretaries of each organization and the federal secretary of the central body.

The University of Oregon extension office has been authorized to aid in the work, and temporary offices will be established in the rooms of the University of Oregon in the courthouse.

KIWANIANS HONOR LADIES

Picnic is Given on Columbia Highway in Appreciation of Work.

Members of the Kiwanis club were hosts at an informal picnic yesterday at Montrose Park, on the Columbia highway, honoring the women of Kiwanis in appreciation of the work they did during the international convention. Most of the women went out about 3 o'clock in the afternoon and enjoyed a few hours of swimming.

An outdoor picnic supper was served at 7 o'clock. The tables were laid for 160. At 8 o'clock dancing began and the picnicers returned about midnight to Portland.

The picnic yesterday took the place of the regular Tuesday luncheon. Members of the committee in charge were: H. C. Jones, No. 99, Thatcher, Meeko, Delmar Eddy, F. K. Elder, Jack Crossley, Hawthorne Doney and K. A. Holloway.

CHILDREN'S PORTRAIT 4 SEASONS DANCE

Pageant Staged Before 4000 in Laurelhurst Park.

ROSARIANS GIVE CONCERT

Oldest of Principals Is 8 Years. Costume and Programme Work of Alta Travis.

The four seasons passed in bewildering array before 4000 Portland residents who crowded the natural amphitheater in Laurelhurst park last night to see 80 children in original and charming dances and to hear the Royal Rosarians give concert.

The children, the majority of whom were not more than 8 years old, interpreted the spirit of each of the seasons in a group of four dances. Their portrayal was so serious and yet so unselfish and so unobtrusive of the vast audience that it won praise at once, and if the wee dancers had responded to their hearty encouragements they would have been dancing for several hours instead of 45 minutes.

Solo Dances Pleasing. Particularly noteworthy was the solo work in each of the season groups, portrayed with delicate technique and the understanding of experienced interpretative dancers. Althea Dwyer as Spring, Carolyn Whitley as Summer, Vera Webber, Carol Ireland and Beesie Walker as moonbeams and Beesie Walker as the sun, and Carolyn Whitley as Rosarians, each presenting a different atmosphere as the year sped on, were all graceful and attractive.

Little fairy dancers, dressed in colorful gauze, flitted about, bringing the first breath of spring. In a sparkling, airy dance, with much circling about, they ushered in this "best of all seasons." The fairies in the "Dolly Dolly Three," Vera Webber, Beesie Walker, Dorothy Wiedemeier, George Leslie, Margaret Nelson, Clotilde Backlund, Edna Payton, Helen Stoner and Elizabeth Stone, who delighted everyone, particularly the children in the audience, by turning cartwheels, walking on their hands and doing all manner of gay little tricks.

Then Came Summer. Then came summer. Eight dainty maids carrying on their shoulders baskets of roses and other flowers gave a graceful and happy performance in their simplicity. Virginia Manning, Althea Dwyer, Carolyn Whitley, Gladys Bateman, Audrey Wiesen, Harriet Backen, Alma Werthly and Edna Payton were the performers.

Carolyn Whitley as the shepherd then ushered in four wood nymphs, Lily Kautsky, Lavonia Carr, Nellie Stoner and Elizabeth Stone, who delighted everyone, particularly the children in the audience, by turning cartwheels, walking on their hands and doing all manner of gay little tricks.

Then Came Autumn. Then came autumn. Eight dainty maids carrying on their shoulders baskets of roses and other flowers gave a graceful and happy performance in their simplicity. Virginia Manning, Althea Dwyer, Carolyn Whitley, Gladys Bateman, Audrey Wiesen, Harriet Backen, Alma Werthly and Edna Payton were the performers.

Then Came Winter. Then came winter. Eight dainty maids carrying on their shoulders baskets of roses and other flowers gave a graceful and happy performance in their simplicity. Virginia Manning, Althea Dwyer, Carolyn Whitley, Gladys Bateman, Audrey Wiesen, Harriet Backen, Alma Werthly and Edna Payton were the performers.

TOYS PLAY BABY LEAVES

Very gently summer changed into autumn and 14 little girls as baby leaves, in costumes of green covered with red leaves, fluttered in the wind. The baby leaves were Barbara McDuffey, Carol Ireland, Elsie Miller, Lavonia Carr, Nellie Stoner, Beatrice Gale, Virginia Hurley, Barbara Ross, Dorothy Wiedemeier, Gladys Oatman, Margaret Nelson, Clotilde Backlund, Edna Payton, Helen Stoner and Elizabeth Stone, who delighted everyone, particularly the children in the audience, by turning cartwheels, walking on their hands and doing all manner of gay little tricks.

OBITUARY

CAMAS, Wash., Aug. 10.—(Special.)—A. J. Selph of Camas, who with two fellow workers, was fatally burned in a flood of hot sulphur water in the Crown Whittette mills, died in St. Joseph's hospital Sunday. Mr. Selph was born in Georgia, April 25, 1866. He was a rancher for several years in the Fern Prairie district on the Graton place and about two years ago moved to Camas where he entered the employ of the Crown Whittette Paper company.

He is survived by his widow and four children who live at Camas and several grown children living elsewhere. Both Mr. and Mrs. Selph were previously married. Mrs. Selph has lost two children and three husbands by violent death and has been confined to her bed for several months by illness. Funeral services will be held at 2 o'clock in the afternoon at St. Joseph's church.

CLUB DANCE IS SUCCESS

400 Couples Enjoy Multnomah Outing on Bluebird.

Multnomah Amateur Athletic club's moonlight excursion and dance on the Bluebird last night proved to be one of the biggest and most-attended affairs ever put on by the winged "M" institution. Approximately 400 couples were on hand for the outing.

Proceeds of the dance went to a fund being created to send the club's water polo team to Victoria, B. C., to compete in the Pacific Northwest association championships on August 14.

Much credit for the success of the affair goes to the entertainment committee, headed by J. W. Rogers, who water polo team. Those taking an active part in the staging of the excursion were Joe Riech, chairman, Taylor White and Floyd Lynch of the entertainment committee, and Bus

Douglas and Myron Wilsey of the team. Milk Question is Discussed. Several sides of the milk question were discussed at yesterday's session of the Housewives' council held at the Central Library. Robert Duncan, one of the speakers, declared the dairymen to be highwaymen, entrenched behind a league that protected them from the public. He charged discrimination against housewives, who must pay more than the butter or cheese manufacturer and the consumer. Mrs. Joseph Hill told of the educational work of the Oregon dairy council, but said her connection with this does not keep her in touch with the price situation.
