

COX TO COMPARISON RECORD WITH ANNALS

Ohio Democratic Convention Address Is Today.

LEAGUE IS TO BE BACKED

Governor Spends Day Engaged With State Affairs and With Politicians.

COLUMBUS, O., Aug. 16.—Governor Cox indicated today that his address before the Ohio democratic convention tomorrow would parallel his six years' official record in the state with that of Senator Harding, republican candidate.

"The reactionary candidate was on one side and I was on the other," he said.

The league of nations is another issue he will champion, with the support of Secretary of War Baker, who also is to speak.

Encouraging reports of prospects for democratic success in Ohio were received by Governor Cox from leaders arriving for the convention.

Governor Cox spent today engaged with state affairs and politicians. He received no more word officially regarding the state's position in the charges made yesterday at Jackson, O., as he was returning from Wheeling, W. Va.

Long-distance telephone reports today regarding the Tennessee suffrage fight said that a "hard core" was in prospect, the governor said.

Louisville & Nashville railroad interests, Governor Cox said he had been advised, were intervening in opposition to ratification.

COX TRIP PLAN ANNOUNCED

National Democratic Club to Hold Reception at New York.

NEW YORK, Aug. 16.—Plans for the visit of Governor Cox, democratic presidential nominee, to New York August 25, were announced today by the National Democratic club, which will hold a reception at the Waldorf-Astoria hotel. A reception will be held at the National Democratic club after his arrival at a luncheon will follow at which Governor Cox is expected to speak.

Senator Harrison, chairman of the speakers' bureau, tonight announced changes in the western itinerary of Franklin D. Roosevelt, democratic presidential nominee. Mr. Roosevelt will speak in Los Angeles August 24 and this, he said, will make it necessary to eliminate Reno and Cheyenne from the list of stops.

National Chairman White announced that he would be accompanied by K. Pittman of Nevada, who will direct the campaign west of the mountains, that Senator Pittman would serve as vice-chairman under Mr. White in California, Utah, Washington, Nevada, Idaho, New Mexico, Arizona, Colorado, Montana, Oregon and Wyoming.

PITTMAN IS WESTERN CHIEF

Nevada Senator to Direct Democratic Work on Coast.

NEW YORK, Aug. 16.—Senator Key Pittman of Nevada will direct the democratic campaign in states west of the Rocky mountains. It was announced at democratic headquarters today. Senator Pittman, after settling with National Chairman White the amount of territory under his jurisdiction, will leave for San Francisco to establish his headquarters.

Chairman White held a conference with Representative Doremus of Michigan, appointed campaign manager in Chicago, last night, with Senator Pittman, during which plans were laid for carrying an intensive campaign into the western states. Tentative division of the country into campaign districts with headquarters at New York, Chicago and San Francisco was effected.

ROOSEVELT ITINERARY ENLARGED

SAN FRANCISCO, Aug. 16.—Senator Key Pittman of Nevada, western regional director of the democratic campaign, in a telegram from New York announced that the itinerary of Franklin D. Roosevelt, democratic presidential nominee for the vice-presidency, had been enlarged. Mr. Roosevelt, according to announcement, will speak at Fresno, Bakersfield and Los Angeles after his speech in San Francisco August 23.

of war between either the United States and other powers than Germany, or Germany and other powers than the United States. Settlement of disputes between the two countries by arbitration is provided, as is revision of the contract should laws of either country require.

Passenger service between the United States and Germany is to be established within a year, the American corporation agreeing to supply passenger ships, not exceeding 40,000 gross tons, to which the Hamburg-American line cannot add unless it is agreed that the business warrants.

Rates Are to Be Fixed. In that case the German company may add ships until it has 50 per cent of the vessels in the service.

In construction of passenger ships the Hamburg-American line will give the American corporation all of its technical knowledge and experience.

Each party may supply half the tonnage for freight service between the United States and Germany, but if the Hamburg-American line has not the tonnage for its half, the American corporation may supply it.

Rates on eastbound traffic are to be fixed by the American Ship Commerce corporation and on westbound traffic by the Hamburg-American line.

Freight Service Independent. Freight services between Germany and countries other than the United States are to be taken up independently, the Hamburg-American line to propose each service which the American Ship & Commerce corporation may accept or not. If the American line chooses to enter a given service each party may put in one-half of the tonnage. The American Ship & Commerce corporation may suggest that any service be proposed if the proposition is not made by the Hamburg-American line.

Because certain ships totalling about 185,000 tons were ordered under the agreement, the Hamburg-American line reserves the right within one year's time to insert these vessels when ready in the freight service established within its 50 per cent.

Withdrawal of tonnage in the event of over-tonnage is provided for as well as because of operation at a loss or at no profit. Provision also is made for the withdrawal of either party from a service not to its interest, but the party withdrawing may not enter the other party carries the burden of building up the service, if re-established as originally.

Both withdraw the service may be terminated by mutual agreement.

"To begin to carry out the passenger arrangements," the chairman said, "the American Ship & Commerce corporation has purchased from the shipping board the steamer DeKalb and has let a contract for reconditioning her to carry third-class passengers and freight."

"Instructions also have been given for the conversion into third-class passenger ships of the two new 13-knot ships now building."

"All those ships should be ready for service."

Plans are being made to construct other passenger ships by the American Ship & Commerce corporation, the chairman said, and H. H. M. Robinson, vice-president of the company, is to visit Germany in connection with their design.

Construction Plan Watched. "The shipping board will now look forward to seeing one of its constructive plans carried out by an American group having initiative, resource and courage, who plan to make American ships their own."

Expressed their desire, and intention to help the rebuilding of these ships, the chairman said, "the shipping board is in the power of the rebuilding of these ships to be of real assistance to the rebuilding of these ships."

Reviewing negotiations, the chairman said that more than a year ago the shipping board concluded that pre-war facilities, experience and good will of the Hamburg-American line, which before 1914 was the premier steamship company of the world, could be utilized for the general advantage of the American merchant marine.

Contract Draft Prepared. "Arrangements were made," he continued, "for the shipping board to represent the Hamburg-American line in this country, to visit Germany to investigate, and to draft a contract of the shipping board and the Hamburg-American line with the idea of reopening some trade routes formerly operated by the Hamburg interests but in an American way."

Chairman Benson concluded, "the shipping board while still favorable to the general idea, decided that it would be better if the agreement was made between the Hamburg-American line and the shipping board, rather than that the shipping board be a direct party to such a contract."

The chairman said that the shipping board had been prepared to assist the American end."

One caller was Mrs. Alice Scott Baker, political chairman of the women's party, who talked over the Tennessee suffrage situation.

Assuming Mrs. Baker was ready to go to any reasonable length to obtain favorable action, the senator pointed out that unless the Tennessee situation was settled before the election there might be a legal battle over the result of the balloting in some states.

A constitutional question has been raised in Tennessee against ratification and should the legislature act favorably and to the front-porch speech he delivered Thursday on the Tennessee suffrage situation.

At the conference Senator Harding is expected to talk over his agricultural speech particularly with Mr. Wallace. This address, to be delivered September 8 at the Minnesota state fair, is the only one so far arranged away from Marion.

DATES FOR HARDING TO BE FIXED

Campaign Conference to Be Held at Marion.

MANY REQUESTS MADE

General Prediction Is That Few Exceptions Will Be Made to Front Porch Speeches.

MARION, O., Aug. 16.—A campaign program for Senator Harding up to October 1, including a schedule of speaking dates and issues to be covered, will be worked out tomorrow at a conference here.

Many invitations to speak away from Marion, along with requests for front-porch appointments. The general prediction tonight, however, was that the programme would provide for a few appearances in other cities.

Between October 1 and the election the slate will be left blank. The last front-porch date announced was September 25, and was expected that disposition of the nominee's time late in the campaign will be taken up by the end of the month.

Hayes and New to Attend. Will H. Hayes, national chairman, and Senator Harry New, head of the party's speaking bureau, will be prominent figures at tomorrow's meeting. Among others expected are Harry M. Daugherty, member of the executive committee; Senator Modell McCormick of Illinois and Henry Wallace, publisher of western farm magazines.

Water Power Inexhaustible. Add to these arguments the further one that the stream producing power runs on forever, and does not have to be measured on the basis of certain exhaustion, as with a coal mine, and you have the element of surprise. And then further, consider that more than half the population of the world lives in the countries bordering the Pacific and Indian oceans, a grand total of about 550,000,000 persons, whereas the United States has only about 100,000,000. It is more economical to supply these markets from the Pacific seaboard than from the Atlantic or the Gulf, and you have what is conceded to be a combination of conditions that must work for the tremendous benefit of the west under the new water power regime.

At the conferences held here, it was made clear by the government commission that the law intends to protect the ultimate consumer from any excessive charges of costs. The present terribly high rate of money must not be taken as the basis for permanent financing power projects. Also, the government intends, under the law, to prevent abnormal projects.

The door is opened, but the power companies are invited to enter carefully, and to act with due decorum within.

It was also stated that probably six to nine months would be required to get the power fully developed, and for the companies to get their work started. There must be applications for rights, checking of figures, and study of plans and conditions, and then the permit that will warrant expending money to determine what expenditure shall be made in permanent construction. This takes time, but when the machinery is in full swing once, rapid progress is assured.

The next conference, other than the frequent meetings of committees of the power people with officials, is scheduled for October 2.
