

JACK RATHIE HELD WORST OF OUTLAWS

Real Name Declared to Be John Laffenbean.

IDAHO RECORD DISCLOSED

Alleged Murderer of Sheriff Taylor Said to Be Russian-German, Bad Character.

PENDELTON, Or., Aug. 16.—(Special.)—Jack Rathie, one of the five outlaws indicted by the grand jury for the murder of Sheriff Taylor, was thought to be the only one of the quintet to give his real name, but he also has proved false. His real name is John Laffenbean and he has a criminal record.

Rathie, as is best known since the jail-break here July 25, hails from American Falls, Idaho, according to two young men who identified him. Rathie, or Laffenbean, took part in a bold robbery at American Falls three years ago, according to the story told by the pair who identified him. Following the robbery he was shot in the shoulder while making his escape. This gunshot wound in the shoulder was obtained in the army. Rathie once said, while on his escape, he said it was due to an accident while rabbit hunting.

Rathie Worst of All. For his crime at American Falls Laffenbean was sentenced to serve four years in the reformatory in Idaho, his informants said. He was out on parole and officials here were asked to write to the reformatory in Idaho to obtain his record.

That the two men who disclosed Rathie were well acquainted with him was evident when they appeared and asked to look at the prisoners. Rathie recognized them and called them by their first names. The men asked that their identity be not divulged. According to their story, Laffenbean or Rathie is a Russian-German, and a bad character. The officers who have had charge of the prisoners will bear out the latter statement. They characterize him as the most treacherous and the least honorable of the five now held for the murder of Sheriff Taylor. "He wheedles and seeks sympathy from those who would let their heart-strings be touched but would stab them should they turn their back," one official said today.

Man Has Yellow Streak. "He has a yellow streak as broad as his back," the official declared.

With the disclosures concerning Rathie, four of the five men now are known to have committed past crimes. The man with the best record so far is Elvin Leroy Stoop, alias Louis Anderson, whose passage of bad checks at Umatilla two months ago is believed to have been his first offense of record. Rathie has been the most persistent liar of the bunch, according to District Attorney Keaton, and the hardest man from whom to wring any confession. Rathie was arrested here for store robbery in June.

At the Theaters.

Pantages.

TWO star acts, each with only one person in the cast, are rivals for the headline number of the Pantages bill, which opened yesterday. Agnes Kaysa and Carl McCallough, both of whom are specialists in singing and speaking words of wisdom, present these clever skits.

Agnes talks entertainingly of her five husbands in "In Marriage a Failure," and tells of the lure of the experienced widow. She sends the audience into gales of laughter by her nonchalant, "it made me so mad," which she utters on a number of occasions. Her costumes are clever and she gives several droll recitations and sings a few songs for good measure.

Carl's specialty in "Footlight Impressions" is what he terms a series of travesties on various noted actors and singers of the day. He interprets "Just for a Night" in the way in which he thinks Harry Lauder, David Warfield, John McCormack and some lesser lights would have done it.

A novelty for a stage production is "Submarine F," scheduled for a realistic representation of a real submarine in action. A cross section of a submarine is shown with the blue of the ocean above and necessary for the seaman at the helm, the officers in command and every device necessary for the underwater life. The submarine sinks a German dreadnought, but is injured and the men are saved just in time by divers from a dredge.

"When Caesar Sees Her," presenting Julius Caesar for the wets and Maro Antony for the dries, is a rollicking satire with Anthony wearing a monocle and carrying golf equipment and Caesar for the wets on a golf course on Shakespeare in most unexpected places.

The aeroplane girls, swinging in the air on bars suspended from lighted machines, dangle heedlessly and every one is amazed and interested as they are seen 20 feet from solid footing.

Brown and Jackson in a comedy skit, "At the Training Quarters," keep up a rapid fire of conversation which they seem to enjoy as much as the audience.

SUFFRAGE MEASURE FACING REAL TEST

Tennessee Fight Intense as Measure Nears Ballot.

COX URGES RATIFICATION

Thousands Workers on Scene and Both Sides Are Firm in Claiming Victory.

NASHVILLE, Tenn., Aug. 16.—The committee of the lower house of the Tennessee legislature in charge of the woman suffrage resolution late tonight voted 10 to 3 to report the measure tomorrow with a recommendation that it be adopted as it stands during the day was said by leaders to be certain. The senate ratified Friday.

Action today on suffrage was not regarded probable when the house met this afternoon after a recess of two days, but an attempt by suffrage forces to rush the ratification resolution through was within the range of possibilities. Speaker Walker, opposition leader, circulated a petition among house members pledging the signers to vote in the negative on every proposal favorable to ratification. At noon he said he had 33 signatories.

Speaker Walker of the house, anti-suffrage leader, and a member of the committee, said the first committee ballot stood nine to nine, as he refrained from voting. To relieve the tie, anti changed his vote. This was regarded in opposition circles as an indication of how little importance was attached to the committee action.

Mr. Walker said a minority report unfavorable to ratification would be prepared.

Cox Urges Ratification. Governor Roberts late tonight made public the following message from Governor Cox:

"I earnestly hope you will do everything in your power to aid in the ratification of the suffrage amendment. It is the platform pledge of our party and one which every democratic legislator should be proud to support. Great forces for good represented by the womanhood of the nation will be unopposed with the final adoption of the 19th amendment and I again urge your best efforts to this behalf."

Speaker Walker said the amendment would not be ratified tomorrow. "We have ratification beaten," he declared.

Suffrage leaders were confident they would win. They said if members stood by their pledges, victory was certain.

Both suffrage and opposition workers tonight confirmed reports that seven members of the Nashville delegation, pledged to suffrage, had gone over to the opposition. The anti-suffrage were jubilant.

The suffrage poll has listed from 25 to 30 members, including the Nashville delegation. Fifty votes are necessary for ratification.

Workers Swarm at Session.

The house has 99 members and five workers both men and women for and against suffrage are said to number at least 1000. Campaigners were working in relays.

Attorney-General Thompson has rendered an opinion that passage of the amendment is necessary for the majority of the house members present would be legal.

Speaker Walker tonight sent this message to the speaker of the North Carolina house:

"Have amendment defeated overwhelmingly in the lower house. We are proud of our mother state of North Carolina. God grant she stand true to her glorious tradition and history."

WOMEN FEELING OPTIMISTIC

Tennessee Reports Make Jubilant Talk at National Headquarters.

CHICAGO, Ill., Aug. 16.—(Special.)—A feeling of optimism over the Tennessee situation was manifested today among prominent women at the republican national headquarters. "Ratification is the thing now, and I am bending all my energies to that end," was the message sent last night from Nashville, Tenn., to Miss Adah E. Bush, executive secretary of women's activities at republican national headquarters in Chicago by Mrs. Harriet Taylor Upton, vice-chairman of the republican national convention in Nashville last week, from her home in Warren, O., to give her personal efforts toward ratification of the suffrage amendment by the Tennessee legislature. Miss Bush, in a statement, said she had sent a private Honolulu Found Cooler.

HOOD RIVER, Or., Aug. 16.—(Special.)—It was cooler in Honolulu when we left there than it is here now," declared Alan Macdonald of Kalispell, Mont., who, with his parents, spent several months in the Hawaiian islands. He arrived here from Portland for a week-end visit with the family of his friend, G. A. McMullin. After a dip in the Columbia river, however, Mr. Macdonald declares that the water at Walkiki is much warmer than that of the northwest.

North Carolina Resolution Aims to Reject State Ratification.

RALEIGH, N. C., Aug. 16.—Suffrage opponents took the offensive in the contest over ratification in the North Carolina legislature with the introduction tonight of a resolution to reject the federal woman's suffrage amendment. It was presented in the house by Representative Grier, democrat.

The rejection resolution was offered by Speaker Walker and went to committee.

In the senate, in anticipation of a bitter fight when the suffrage question comes up tomorrow, a resolution "to divide both the floor and the galleries for suffrage supporters to occupy one side and the opponents the other" was offered by Senator Warren. The North Carolina legislature will dispose of this question as it sees fit.

Governor James M. Cox, the democratic presidential nominee, in a telegram to suffrage headquarters today, emphatically denied reports that he had sent a "private emissary" here to work against ratification of the federal suffrage amendment by the North Carolina legislature.

The governor's message, sent in response to queries sent him by suffrage leaders, reads: "There is not a word of truth in the report that I have sent a private
