Crowd Gets Thrill in Sixth, but Boxer Gets Up Without Taking Count and Continues.

BY DICK SHARP. Billy Mascott, veteran Portland bantamweight and claimant of the way that Billy wanted to and for once in his career the clever little Portland boxer met a man at his own weight who gave him a real argu-ment. Referee Day's decision did not meet with the approval of all as was the case in every one of the three other excellent fights on the bill, which was staged by the Vancouver

Elks lodge. Fans Get Thrill in Sixth. Herman gave the crowd a thrill in the sixth canto when he caught Mas-cott with a short right uppercut to the solar plexus that put him down on his haunches. Mascott got up without taking the count and kept fighting, but he had tasted the floor. something that has not been a fre-quent occurrence in Billy's life. The boys started off at a slow pace

Willie round after round.

St. Claire outboxed Casey to the finish and landed some telling punches at times, but the Seattle cave man was there with the lusty milts and came within an ace of stowing the negro mixer away in the final canto. St. Claire proved himself to be a won-derful boxer and if he gets in a little better condition should not have any trouble with the boys at his weight around here. Frankie Crites of Newberg, tipping the beam at around 133 pounds, won a six-round decision over Carl Martin of Portland in the first bout on the card. The fight was a hard one from start to finish and many thought Martin was entitled to a draw. He brooked Critical draw in the second
