Wheat — December wheat showed a stronger undertone, but March was weak and at one time the difference widened to around six cents. Buying of Becember by seaboard houses offset hedging sales. There was a lack of snap to the export demand today and bids were reported on a lower basis, as indicated by a reduction of one cent in offers to the country for shipment to the guif. Premiums on spot here were fully two cents higher, No. I grades selling at 24 cents over December, but this was not surprising, iasmuch as Chicago has been relatively the lowest market in the west. While there are certain elements of strength in the wheat situation, the movement seems to be limited only by the number of cars available in the southwest and with a tight financial situation we cannot enthuse on the buying side.
