

WEEK-END MOTOR ARRESTS TOTAL 29

Autoist Said to Have Tried Knocking Over Building.

TEN CAUGHT IN ONE RAID

Laborer, Police Charge, Drives to Station in Taxicab and Fees to Pay Bill.

After he is said to have mistaken the municipal landing at the foot of Stark street for the approach to the Morrison bridge and narrowly escaped wrecking his automobile against the concrete waiting room there, Elmer Moe, iron moulder by trade, was arrested at 2 o'clock yesterday morning by Patrolman Arnold on the charge of driving an automobile while intoxicated.

Moe, according to the police, drove down Stark street at a high rate of speed, knocking down one of the railings at the approach to the municipal landing, plowing through the law and front of the waiting room and only stopped his car when he reached the door of the waiting room.

J. J. Caldwell, barber, who was with Moe at the time, was arrested on a charge of drunkenness.

29 Arrests for Drunkenness.

The arrests of Moe and Caldwell yesterday morning made a total of 29 arrests made by the police Saturday night and yesterday morning on various liquor charges, ranging from violating the prohibition law and having liquor in possession to merely "drunk." This was the largest "harvest" of liquor arrests made by the police for many weeks and was believed to indicate that the bootleggers were making a "clean-up" with their waning end sales.

Liquors ranging from moonshine to buy rum were taken by the police in raids. In every instance where liquor was found on a man he was charged with violating the prohibition law or having liquor in his possession. A merchant, a salesman, lumberjacks and bootleggers included in the list of prisoners taken to the station.

In all cases the men arrested will have a hearing in the municipal court today.

Merchant Gives Bail.

George Indianapolis, merchant, was arrested by Patrolman Dragan on a complaint signed by Patrolman Fair and charging him with possessing intoxicating liquor. He put up $100 bail to insure his appearance in court.

F. R. McCarthy, laborer, was apparently preparing for a Sunday celebration and when he was arrested at 108 Jersey street by Patrolmen Belleu and Sperry he was reported to have had two bottles of home-brewed beer in his possession. He was charged with having liquor in his possession.

Carl Fosgraves, laborer, drove to the police station in a taxi and then refused to pay his taxi bill, according to the police. Patrolman Case arrested him for drunkenness.

Ten Taken in One Raid.

A raid on an establishment at Second and Couch streets made by Patrolmen Meacham and Ragan resulted in ten arrests on drunk charges.

Week-end celebrators who were arrested during the night included:

Sam La Branch, logger; Ed E. Lambert, lumber jack; Gilbert Nadeau, logger; William Orr, logger; Fred Johnson, logger; Ben Swanson, logger; Kenneth Mathews, logger; Emory Galt, logger; Fred Johnson, logger; Fred Waters, logger; Leonard O'Brien, logger; Axel Nelson, logger; Emil Englund, laborer; Dew Henderson, laborer; Gust Johnson, laborer; violating the prohibition law; James McDaniels, laborer; George Dresser, carpenter; drunk and liquor in possession; violating the prohibition law; M. Elliott, laborer; Ray Heden, laborer; Charles Bidwell, laborer, drunk and disorderly.

SUFFRAGE IS CELEBRATED

TACOMA WOMEN OBSERVE NATIONAL VICTORY.

Six Gubernatorial Candidates Address Meeting in Public Forum of Church.

TACOMA, Wash., Aug. 29.—Tacoma women celebrated the winning of the franchise, already familiar to them, for all the women of the nation at a meeting held tonight in the public forum of the First Congregational church. The meeting was non-partisan in character.

Besides Mrs. Emma Smith DeVoe and Mrs. George A. Libbey, republican and democratic representatives, respectively, among suffrage leaders in the state, six gubernatorial candidates addressed the gathering.

One woman candidate for governor on the republican ticket, Mrs. Anna McEachern of Seattle, was among the political speakers. The meeting was under the auspices of the council of women voters.

T. B. KAY IS NOT IN RACE

L. E. Bean Expected to Be Unopposed as Speaker of the House.

SALEM, Or., Aug. 29.—(Special.)—T. B. Kay, former state treasurer and nominee of the Marion county republicans for a seat in the lower house of the legislature, will not be a candidate for speakership, as previously predicted by some of his constituents.

Mr. Kay made his position known today. He said L. E. Bean of Eugene was the only member of the house actively in the race for speaker, and that the Lane county man probably would be elected without opposition.

Reports regarding the speakership of Gallagher, representative of Harney and Malheur counties, had his eye on the speakership, but not considered seriously by members of the Marion county delegation.

BONES INDICATE MURDER

Skeleton of Man Is Found in Shallow Grave at Seattle.

SEATTLE, Wash., Aug. 29.—Evidence of what the police declare was undoubtedly a murder, was discovered tonight when the skeleton of a man was found in a shallow grave near the Seattle-North Pacific Shipbuilding company's yard. The body had been dropped into the hole in a cramped position and covered with foliage and earth.

There were no marks of identification.

NEW BILLS AT THE THEATERS

Orpheum.
Once again the doors of the Orpheum are open and the management has been extremely generous in its choice of artists for the first bill of the season. Emma Hag's "Playtime" has been heralded as the headliner, but scarcely could she be more popular than Edward Marshall, the chakologist, Charles Kenna, the monologist, or Bob Nelson and Frank Cronin in "Smiles."

The all-star programme gets a good kickoff from Toots Davis and Bert Chadwick, two colored funsters full of spontaneous jokes, funny songs and something new in buck dancing.

"There are stage artists and stage artists of the small-town variety, but Edward Marshall is both an artist and a comedian. His make up, sketch of a soldier going through a door and followed by his pet dog, he volunteers and uses these just three lines in doing it." And, best of all, he does it. He sketches folks in the audience and concludes with an Indian poster that is decidedly artistic.

The tale of three stenographers is the feature of the evening. The first, a jet of business life, "Help," presented by Jack Tractor and company. Dixie Louie appears as "Y. W. C. A. habits." Patricia Abell is the "Bolshevik" complete with bright red hat and coat, chewing gum, vanity bag and nerve. And Abel Nelson is the amateur stenographer. All three answer an advertisement for a secretary for Charles W. Westmore, wealthy manufacturer. Mr. Tractor fits into this part admirably and proceeds to spend the evening trying to get secretaries. In the end the amateur annexes his son, Wilberforce takes the "Y. W. C. A." and even the "Bolshevik" gets a job.

Nelson and Cronin's principal claim for applause is their wise selection of songs that are "You Going to Do When They Take Away the Jazz?" sets Cronin's feet going. Then he passes into a sentimental about "Sweetheart Blues," which is a parody melody of many of the popular current hits.

Emma Hag, premier danseuse, is assisted in her act by Richard W. Kenna and Mildred Brown. A pair of dainty numbers are "The Bashful Maid" and "A Young Man's Fancy." Keene and Miss Hag step forth in quaint costumes and explain the fluffy damsel's bashfulness, then the dance begins. The finale is "The Hat" where the pair work up to a laugh-provoking episode.

An empty barrel equipped with an acetylene gas attachment, a tin pan, a corn cob, a tin can, a tin lid, a whiskbroom, pancake turner, empty beer bottle and a package of medicine, are the only things that are used in that Charles Kenna carries. He talks on the wonders of the patent medicine, while the audience "The Hat" and giving a realistic imitation of the old familiar street corner entertainer.

Daring feats on the wire are performed by Challen and Keke. Jumping into imitation barrels, riding bicycles in the air and similar antics make up the act.

BOLO CLUB FOR INGLIS

WASHINGTON ASPIRANT FOR SENATE INDORSED.

Other Candidates for Nomination by Republicans Approved by ex-Soldier Organization.

TACOMA, Wash., Aug. 29.—The Washington State Bolo club, composed of 125 delegates from 13 counties of the state, meeting in convention here last night, indorsed the following candidates for office at the republican primary election September 14.

Colonel William M. Inglis for United States senator, William J. Coyle for lieutenant-governor, J. Grant Hinkle for secretary of state, L. L. Thompson for attorney-general and Robert E. Dwyer for state insurance commissioner.

Attempts to secure the formal support of the state organization of the ex-soldiers for each congressional district for other candidates were turned down, the latter part of the session being thrown into turmoil by motions to adjourn and cries of "rollcall." The convention closed at 7 o'clock after five hours of discussion and balloting.

By unanimous vote the convention refrained from expressing any preference in the republican gubernatorial contest.

Robert D. Arkley of Tacoma was elected president after the adoption of a new constitution. One vice-president for each congressional district was elected as follows:

First, Walter M. French, Port Orchard; 2d, Captain Charles A. Turner, Everett; 3d, Fred Smalley, Tacoma; 4th, Major William Lemon, Yakima; 5th, E. F. Hull, Spokane.

Under the new constitution the office of secretary-treasurer is appointive and President Arkley named J. R. Kennedy of Seattle, incumbent. Arkley has been state organizer for the Bolo club.

By unanimous vote the delegates adopted a resolution indorsing referendum No. 2, the veterans' compensation bill.

Counties represented at today's convention were Benton, Clarke, Grays Harbor, King, Kitsap, Lewis, Pierce, Snohomish, Spokane, Thurston, Wall, Walla, Whatcom and Yakima. Under the new by-laws votes in the state meeting were allotted on the basis of one for each 5000 population of each county.

300 VETERANS GREET COX

DEMOCRATIC NOMINEE MAKES POLITICAL ALLIES WAIT.

Visit Paid Polyclinic Hospital, Where Photograph Posed For With Nurses and Soldiers.

NEW YORK, Aug. 28.—More than 300 wounded war veterans shook hands today with Governor Cox, who made political allies wait two hours at his hotel while he visited the polyclinic hospital. Some of Governor Cox's advisers counseled against taking so much time away from political conferences.

"Let them wait," the governor said, announcing his intention of visiting every one of the soldiers. "If it will cheer them to meet me they won't be disappointed."

On the roof the governor posed for photographs surrounded by patients, nurses and physicians.

"On September 2 I start for my western front," he told one group. "What I do there will be in emulation of what you did on the western front in France—that is, clean 'em up."

The candidate, with 30 or more of the boys, had to wait while the camera man adjusted his focus.

"He doesn't shoot as fast as the Germans, does he?" the governor asked.

"I'll say he doesn't," chorused the boys.

Several minutes were granted to a father who had come from upstate New York to permit the transfusion of blood from his veins to those of his son who had been gassed in the Argonne.

On returning to his hotel the candidate found many democratic leaders waiting. He received several of these, including Rabbi Stephen H. Wise of New York, who wished to announce his intention of taking the stump for the democratic ticket.

GIRL HURT IN ACCIDENT

Traffic on Bridge Held Up for 20 Minutes.

Miss Esther Brook was injured last night in an accident on an automobile on the Broadway bridge. A car driven by Wesley Johnson, 522 Broadway, in which Miss Brook was riding, collided with another car driven by an unknown driver. The Johnson car was going east across the bridge and the other car was coming westward.

Miss Brook fainted shortly after the accident, and it was feared she might be internally injured. The Johnson car was badly smashed. Traffic on the bridge was stopped for nearly 20 minutes.

RED ARMY LOSS DENIED

Kamaneff Brands Reports on Polish Situation as Fables.

LONDON, Aug. 29.—A statement was issued today by M. Kamaneff, head of the Russian delegation in London, describing as "fables" reports that the Poles had virtually destroyed the Russian army, and asserting that the Russian army was reorganizing and preparing for a new offensive.

Kamaneff said that the campaign of General Wrangel is nearing an end. Wrangel was reported to be in a serious situation and to be retreating toward the Crimea. Reports that Wrangel had captured Novorossiisk and Ekaterinodar were inventions, said Kamaneff.

YOUTH, 18, ATTEMPTS SUICIDE

C. Dallatore, 18, attempted suicide last night by drinking poison at his home, 310 1/2 Tenth street.

He was sent to St. Vincent's hospital, where it was announced that his condition was serious. The police were unable to determine the reason for his act, or to discover the kind of drug he had swallowed.

POLES TO MAKE PROTEST

PROHIBITION ON USE OF RADIO AROUSES IRE.

Russians Declared to Treat Poles Worse Than Germans Were at Versailles Meeting.

MINSK, Russia, Aug. 29.—(By the Associated Press.)—M. Domski, Polish under-secretary for foreign affairs, has prepared a protest which is to be presented to the peace conference tomorrow threatening that the Poles will withdraw immediately from the deliberations unless the soviet government ceases its interference with the Polish wireless and otherwise obstructing the work of the Polish delegation.

The note will be presented against the soviet government's charge that the Poles are causing the delay for which the soviet delegates are blamed. It will assert that the treatment of the Polish delegation is worse than that accorded the Germans at Versailles. It will especially complain against a new order of the bolshevik sealing the Polish wireless at all hours when it is not in use by the Poles and threatening to shoot anyone approaching within eight feet of the plant if they fail to halt at the first challenge of the sentry.

HARBOR STRIKE FAILS

New York Protest Against Imprisonment of MacSwiney Ends.

NEW YORK, Aug. 29.—The strike of longshoremen in protest against the imprisonment of Terence MacSwiney, lord mayor of Cork, which began Thursday, apparently has collapsed.

Two thousand workers were involved.

It is the man who makes the place. It is not the sty that makes the pig. It is the pig that makes the sty. Character is not a mastery of outer position; it is a matter of inner disposition. Paradise didn't save Adam. Paradise didn't save the boys and girls to school and when they graduate you will have good citizens. But if the boy had never been taught to write he never could have forged the note; and if the girl had never been taught to read her mind could never have been stained by the salacious novel. Education does much but it is impotent to make people really good.

Legislation says: "Put good laws on the statute books and elect good men to office and you will have a moral millennium." By law you can restrain crime within limits and forcibly prevent the indulgence of certain appetites. Just as you muzzle mad dogs and cage panthers; but muzzling dogs does not domesticate the mad dog or imprisonment transform the panther into a lamb."

Wonderful Opportunity Said to Exist for Church People.

"We must get out of our minds the idea that just because of the war the Germans is degenerate," said Rev. John G. Inkster of Victoria, B. C., in his sermon yesterday morning at the First Presbyterian church, where he is filling the pulpit in the absence of the pastor-elect, Rev. Harold Bowman.

ALLEGED SMUGGLER HELD

$4000 IN WATCH CRYSTALS BROUGHT FROM CANADA.

Herring Boxes Contain Consignment; Fisherman Denies He Attempted Duty Evasion.

SEATTLE, Aug. 29.—(Special.)—Held on a charge of attempting to smuggle $4000 worth of watch crystals packed in herring boxes with duties, Robert Lambert Carson, master of a small fishing craft, will be given a hearing before E. E. Carson, United States commissioner, Tuesday morning.

Carson was arrested today when customs officials raided his boat on the Seattle water front and found, they allege, a big consignment of crystals packed in herring boxes without anything to indicate the contents or the identity of the consignor or consignee.

Captain Carson, according to E. R. Tobey, deputy marshal, declares a friend in Vancouver, B. C., asked him to bring the shipment to Seattle, assuring him that the goods were not dutiable. He said a man would meet him in Seattle to receive the goods. Carson said that when the Seattle man did not appear for the crystals he was about to put the shipment back in his boat and return it to Vancouver when arrested.

FUNERAL IS POSTPONED

Sister of Coleman Wheeler Cannot Be Located.

Arrangements for the funeral of Coleman H. Wheeler, prominent Oregon timberman, whose death occurred Saturday evening, await information as to when Mrs. T. P. Horvik, a sister, will arrive. Mrs. Horvik was a passenger on the steamer Multnomah which sailed from Portland for San Francisco last Tuesday, where she was to visit for a short time, and did not leave any address, expecting to communicate with her family after reaching that city.

Telegrams sent Saturday night had not been delivered to her late last evening. She had expected to meet an old friend, Mrs. Andrew Ervast, of San Diego, who accompanied her son to Berkeley, to enter upon work at the University of California, but the telegram sent in care of Mrs. Ervast had not been delivered either.

It is expected that messages will be delivered today and the funeral arrangements will then be completed. The body is at the establishment of J. P. Finley & Son.
