FIDDLER PUT OFF STREETS

PLAYER BARRED BY RULE PERTAINING TO BEGGARS.

200 Prominent Business Men Sign Petition Asking Council to Make Exception.

A petition signed by 200 prominent business men of Portland urging the council to permit H. M. Jackson, aged fiddler, to continue earning his living by "fiddling" on the streets of this city...

Supplementing the petition was an earnest plea made by Mr. Jackson, the council's refusal to make an exception of his case to the recent rule barring mendicants from the streets.

Mr. Jackson, who is 84 years of age and who is deaf, did not learn of the council's refusal to grant his request until the council session had adjourned.

IRISH REBELLION FEARED

TROUBLE IS EXPECTED SHOULD MAYOR OF CORK DIE.

Republican Leaders Order Volunteers to Use Full Force to Prevent Outbreaks.

BY ARNO DOSCH-FLEUROT. Copyright, 1920, by the New York World. DUBLIN, Sept. 1.—(Special Cable.)—Orders have been given to the Irish volunteers to use the full force of their organization to prevent serious rebellious outbreaks in the event of Lord Mayor MacSwiney's death.

The High Sheriff of Cork told Dublin Castle the same thing. I am informed on excellent authority that the difficulty about the coercion bill, and when the government insisted in placing upon them the duty of enforcing it they insisted upon an agreement from Lloyd George promising not to interfere.
